He is, however, listed, with his own family, on page 379 of CFA I. Son, Coddington Conger, is also not listed on page 158. A daughter, Ruth, is listed in his will but not listed as a child in CFA I, p. 158.

RECOLLECTIONS:

Enoch Conger, son of Job and Keziah Conger, was named as executor of his father's will, and also inherited one-half of all his father's real estate. The will was dated 29 Jan 1749, but was not proved until 17 Feb 1758, at which time it is thought the youngest son, Moses, became of age. The will provided that Enoch was to have the use of the inheritance of his brother, Moses, for a period of seven years. The will further provided that neither Enoch or Moses could dispose of their inheritance until they had attained the age of thirty years.

It is thought Enoch Conger left Rahway [NJ] about 1765, or later, and removed to Nine Partners, town of Northeast, Dutchess County, New York, a place only a short distance from New Fairfield, Conn, where his cousin, Joseph Conger, was then living. From there he moved to Danby, VT before 1770.

From Williams's "History and Map of Danby, Vt," we gather the following abstract of the settlement and organization of the town. Sixty-eight persons petitioned to the governor of the Province of New Hampshire for a grant of land six miles square. On 27 Aug 1761, the petition was granted. Enoch Conger was not one of the petitioners.

Each one of the petitioners was to have an equal share and their share, or lot, was to be numbered. The company had their headquarters at Nine Partner's, Dutchess County, New York, where the drawing took place on 5 Sep 1763. Among the first settlers who came in 1765 was Joseph Earl. The annual meeting of the proprietors was held in 1766, 1767 and 1768 at Nine Partners, and after that at Danby, [VT].

The organization of the town of Danby, VT, dated from 1769, and in that year the first highways were laid out, and the second division of land was made. The first road laid out was on the land of Joseph Earl. Quite a number of the original proprietors were selling their rights to new settlers. The trouble over the "New Hampshire grants" was on, and was causing a great deal of disturbance. New Hampshire, the Province that made the grants, was exercising authority over them and this authority was disputed by the Province of New York. Hence the reading of the body of the deed, next to be mentioned.

These deed records are taken from the Danby Town Records. As Williams makes no mention of Enoch Conger. A deed dated 23 Mar 1771 and recorded 29 Apr 1775, Joseph Earl to Enoch Conger, "all undivided lands after the third division, belonging to the first division right of lot number 35". This was originally owned by William Barton, and lot number 47 by William Shaw, both of whom sold to Joseph Earl.

On 20 May 1772 Enoch Conger recorded his ear mark, which is a slit in the top of each ear of livestock. The next reference to Enoch Conger is dated 6 June 1776: "then surveyed and laid out for Enoch Conger, one fifty acre lot of land, laying on the west side of Micha Vail's third division lot. The above fifty acres belong to the right number 35, in the first division of land in said township.
(Furnished by Harold Murton Hyde, also in CFA I, p. 158-159)

PROBATE: Will of Enoch Conger
Danby, [NY], February the 19th, 1777: In the name of God Amen.

Whereas I Enoch Conger of Danby, in the county of Charlotee, and state of New York, being low and weak in body, but in my right mind, and perfect memory, than[k] God, do make this, and ordain the same to be my last will and testament as follows:

First of all, I will and bequeath to my dear and well beloved wife Berzillah, all that 50 acres of land wherein she now lives, as long as she remains my widow, to have the whole of the profits therefrom, arising and further, that my said widow keep her family together, as much as in her power, and convert the profits of said farm to the use of bringing up my poor orphan children until the youngest shall become to the years of maturity, or to the age of twenty and one.

Further, I do hereby constitute and appoint my two sons, Job and Enoch, after my decease, to pay all of my funeral charges, cost of doctors and nurses, and all other necessary charges accrued in this my sickness, out of such part of my estate as can be spared, out of my family so left, and further, if my said widow shall think most convenient for herself to marry after my decease, in any time before my youngest son shall be of age, that I hereby order my two sons here made executors to take all my estate both real and personal, and forthwith have the same inventoried, and appraised according to law, and give to their mother her third. And then divide all the rest, and remainder of my estate equally with all their brothers, and making their sister Ruth equal with any of her brothers, always reserving to themselves, over and above any of the rest, sufficient to pay all my just debts. And this I make and ordain to be my last will and testament, according to the true intent and meaning, herein set forth.

In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and seal, the day and year written above.

4. Moses Conger (Job-1) was born between 1732 and 1735 in Rahway, Union Co., NJ. He died in 1809 at the age of 77 in Harrison, , OH. Moses Conger

PARENTS: Job Conger and Mary Keziah Thorp

BIRTH: Abt. 1732, per Harold Murton Hyde

EMIGRATION: In 1759 Job and Lydia Conger moved to Nine Partners (Now Millbrook, NY) where a syndicate in which he had an interest had purchased land. His younger brother, Moses Conger, went with them. After several years Moses moved to Danby, Vermont and Job moved to Albany Co., NY. (From Franklin Barker Conger's notes.) Job Conger and Mary Keziah Thorp

25 November 2016

EMIGRATION: Moses Conger remained in Woodbridge until 1771 when he offered his land for sale. CFA I, p. 275.

PROBATE: Moses Conger inherited, through the will of his father, one half of the estate, and his brother, Enoch, inherited the other half, but was to have the use of one half of the Salt Marsh willed to Moses, for a term of seven years after the death of his father, Job, which might indicate that Moses Conger was but 14 years of age at the dating of his father's will in 1749, and that it would be seven years before he would attain his full right at the age of 21, which would be in 1765 -- thereby indicating the year of his birth to be about 1735.

Both were forbidden to dispose of their inheritance until they had reached the age of 30 years, which in the case of Moses would be about 1765. He was known to have been living upon his estate in Rahway, NJ as late as 1771.

RESIDENCES: The two older brothers of Moses Conger, Job Jr., and Enoch, removed to Dutchess county, New York and later Job removed to Albany county, New York and Enoch to Danby, Vermont, about 1770. Moses apparently remained in Middlesex county, New Jersey. (Source: The Conger Family of America, Vol. I, p. 377 - Maxine Crowell Leonard)

LAND:

On 18 Feb 1771, the following notice appeared in the "Weekly Post Boy," #1498: "Notice is hereby given that the plantation of Moses Conger is to be sold by a public sale to the highest bidder at vendue, on the 25th day of March in the afternoon, if not sold at a private sale before.

"It is well situated for a gentleman, a tradesman or farmer, allowed good land lying in Woodbridge, Rahway Neck, adjoining that pleasant river which afford[s] fish in plenty in season, and is navigable for boats, sloops, etc.. There is a tolerable good house and barn. It is exceedingly well watered, some wood and fine orchard, and another one which is considerably older. It contains by estimation between 70 and 80 acres of upland, nearly 15 acres of Salt Marsh, as handy and as good as any in that part. Any person wanting such may apply to the subscriber before the day of the sale, who will give good title, and reasonable terms N.B., said place likes convenient for a ferry to be erected across the Rahway River to Elizabethtown. (signed) Moses Conger."

It is not known if this was his own land he was selling, or the land of his nephew, Jonathan Coddington, of whose will he was an executor. However, the Salt Marsh is mentioned, so this may have been his land.

LEGAL_MATTER:

The next, and last, mention we have concerning Moses Conger is that in the April term of court in 1771, John Watson sued Moses Conger, and at the July term of the same year Abraham Shotwell sued Moses Conger. No particulars are given in the Middlesex county Court Records.

EMIGRATION:

It has been noted that until 1771 the name of Moses Conger was mentioned quite frequently in the Middlesex county, [NJ] county court records. After that date, there is no further mention of him in any source in New Jersey. Judging from the number of lawsuits in which he was involved, it is surmised that he removed from New Jersey to Kentucky [no source citation], and later on went to what is now Cincinnati, Ohio. He may have removed, with his family, to Kentucky between 1785 and 1790.

(Source: The Conger Family of America, Vol. I, p. 378 - Maxine Crowell Leonard)

TAX_LIST: Moses Conger was listed in the 1800 tax of Shelby county, Kentucky.
(CFA I, p. 378)

RECOLLECTIONS: According to a letter from Dr. Mount Johnson of Venango, Crawford county, Penn., dated 2 Feb 1911:

"As the tradition went, Moses Conger and a relative unknown, left New Jersey and started west. Moses Conger had his leg broken somewhere in the mountains, between New Jersey and Wheeling, West Virginia [sic, Virginia]. Whether the relative deserted him or was killed by the Indians, Moses never knew.

"He was taken in by a Quaker family, where he remained about a year, and then floated down the Ohio River to some place in Kentucky. Of his subsequent career, nothing is known until he went with other volunteers called for by Governor Isaac Sheel, to go to Fort Washington (now Cincinnati) and from there with 'Mad' Anthony Wayne, to the battle of Fallen Timbers in August 1794.

"On his return he was favorably impressed with the lands in Mill Creek Valley in Hamilton County, Ohio, and tried to buy a quarter section of land, but did not have money enough. However, in the spring of 1795 he removed from Kentucky to Ohio, and squatted on some land there, and worked for the Ludlow family, at or near Cincinnati.

"In 1798, his wife died and was buried where not stands the First Presbyterian Church, near the corner of 4th and Main Streets. About 1841, the bodies were removed from this burial ground, and in the removal of bodies, the charts and files were lost.

"In 1804, Moses Conger removed to the Bray place near Westwood, as it is now called.

"In 1809, he died west of the great Miami River, near the present town of Harrison, Ohio, practically on the Indiana line (of milk sickness)."

Dr. Johnson referred to his great uncle, Daniel, so his grandmother must have been Ara Conger, who married John Banos. His mother died of Asiatic Cholera on 12 Jul 1850 and was buried in Banos Graveyard. She was born in 1813 and married in 1834.

[Note: Mrs. Leonard is confused about the relationship of Dr. Mount Johnson. His mother, Ara Conger, married Henry Johnson. His grandparents were: John Hendricks Conger and Nancy Grady and his great grandparents were Moses Conger and Miss Hendricks. This conclusion reached based on where Ara Conger's brother, Daniel McFarlane Conger, fits in the family tree. REH]

He mentioned visting the widow of his mother's [note listed in CFA I, p. 378, as g/mother's] brother, Daniel McFarlane Conger, living at Peoria, Illinois and his mother's only sister, Caroline Conger Wallace, who was buried in Lincoln, Ill. When the above letter was weitten from Nashville, Tenn. Dr. Johnson was 76 years of age. (Source: The Conger Family of America, Vol. I, p. 378 - Maxine Crowell Leonard)

CHURCH_AFFILIATION-CHILDREN:

He was known as, Deacon Uzziah Conger, due to being a Deacon in the Presbyterian Church.

A Presbyterian Church founded in 1836 at Meridan, NY was a branch of the Ira Hill Church founded in 1807.

In 1836, Nancy Ann Conger Bradt, Sabrina Conger Cogswell, Mary Conger Elwell and Lydia Conger Van Wie brought their certificates to the Meridan Church. They were daughters of Uzziah and Mary (Hungerford) [Conger].

Nancy was dismissed 17 Mar 1845; Mary dismissed 9 Jul 1837; Sabrina d. 1 Apr 1848. [What does the "d." abbreviation mean? REH] They are buried in the Meridan Cemetery.

The Ira Church ceased to function sometime about 1876. No records of that church have been found, but that Ira Church must have been the Presbyterian Church where the two Job Congers were deacons. There were two Job Congers living there in 1820, along with Uzziah, John, Benjamin, Hugh and William Conger. They all had families in the 1820 census.

RECOLLECTIONS:

Job Conger was named as one of the executors of his father's will, dated 19 Feb 1777. In 1778 a roll of the Freemen of Danby was placed on the Town Records and in this list we find the name of Job Conger and his brother Enoch Conger.

Williams' "History and Map of Danby", page 129, states that Job Conger, whose name appears on the roll of 1778, settled on a farm in Danby, and that he was a brother of Enoch and Gershom Conger, but the latter is not listed as a son of Job.

An old land lease, now in the possession of William Pierce Conger of Burlington VT, is a rather interesting document. This lease was from Len Allen to Asa Weyman of Georgia, Vt., for lot 50 in the town of St. Albans, Chittenden County, VT, dated 15 Nov 1788 at "One Barleycorn for each acre the first four years; then three pence per acre per year, increasing one penny per acre per year until the amount was 9 pence per acre; then 9 pence per acre in perpetuity. All taxes to be paid by lessee."

This lease was transferred to Joseph Kellogg, no date. And transferred by him to John Kellogg, 20 Apr 1791, who in turn transferred it to Job Conger and Samuel Niles, no date. On 8 Feb 1796 Samuel Niles sold his interest in the lease to Job Conger for 60 pounds lawful money. This sale and transfer was witnessed by Potter and Noel Conger sons of Job Conger.

On 13 Dec 1821 Job Conger transferred this lease to his son Reuben Conger for one dollar love and affection, reserving the right of firewood and pasture, to himself and wife.

Abel and Oliver Conger signed quit claim deeds for 1/2 of property inheritance after Job's death. Abel's was dated 14 Feb 1829 at St. Albans, Vt, stating his residence as Bangor, Franklin County, NY Oliver's was dated 24 Dec 1828 in St. Albans, residence Bangor, also.

Achsah Conger and husband, Jacob Beeman are buried at Hinsdillville Cemetery in Bennington, VT. Jacob died 15 Feb 1868, age 88.

Col Seth Warner's Regiment in an expedition sent by the Colonies against Canada in 1775.

The following story was compiled by Marion Conger Barton:

All three brothers, Job (1751-1827), Gershom (1767-1837) and Asher (1761-1813) Conger took part in the Revolutionary War. They served in Captain Stephen Calkin's Co. in Col Ira Allen's Regiment in Oct 1780, with Gershom and Asher serving in Captain Ebenezer White's Co in Col Ira Allen's Regiment of Militia at Castleton in Oct 1771. Most of the service seen by Vermonters in the Revolutionary War was for short periods of time - when there was a definite task to be performed or when danger threatened. Then they were discharged so they could go home and look after their families and work their farms. By law the militia could be called into service at any time.

In September 1778 the New York Congress had ordered the purchase of coarse green cloth in order to provide a coat for each member of the regiment of Green Mountain Boys with red cloth for facings, and to procure two hundred twenty-five coats of a large size. (From Crockett's History of Vermont Vol 1).

Their rate of pay was 2 pounds per month with travel rate at four pence per mile. In 1785 or 1786 American money was based on the decimal system but everyone was so accustomed to thinking in terms of pounds, shillings, and pence it couldn't be changed over-night. Vermont coined her own money from 1785 to 1788.

Job and Robah moved to St. Albans in 1800 via Plattsburg, NY. They and their children were in the St. Albans census in 1800. Job was on the Grand List for $248.75 - improved land being assessed at $1.75 an acre and polls at $20. Militia and calvary horses were exempt. A military troop of horses came into being soon after 1800 and was kept up until 1828, the year after Job died.

Only the officers wore uniforms. They cut dashing figures in a yellow cap with gold band and red feather, red flannel jacket, and yellow breeches. Captain Jason Kellog Conger, Potter's son, was one of these officers. Later on he served on the Northern Frontier in Jan and Feb of 1838. By 1828 with a population of 2400, three companies were maintained. Every man 18 years of age had to obey the warning by being present and armed in some way - guns, poles, whip stocks or ax-halves. Many brought codfish bound to their knapsacks for lunch. They engaged in sham fights to be prepared in case of the real thing.

(From "A Centennial History of St. Albans," by H.K. Adams)

When Job died 3 Nov 1827 age 73, he was probably taken to the cemetery in a lumber wagon since there were no hearses until 1840. I wonder if the early custom of the 'tolling bell' was followed: three times three for a man, two times three for a woman and two times two for a child. The bell afterwards would toll the age, with the belfry window opened toward that part of the town from which the death came. (H.K. Adams)

Soon after Job's death, Robah went to live with her daughter, Sophia Webb, in Montana, where she died 2 Dec 1834.

Northern Vermont and above the border in Canada didn't extend to or exist between the two governments. Great Britain was jealous of the rapid growth of strength and power in the US and committed many offensive acts-among which was searching American vessels and under the guise of claiming the personnel on board to be subjects of the King, forced them into service of Great Britain, even against well established proof of their identity. This resulted in an Embargo Act March 12, 1808, prohibiting commercial intercourse with Great Britain and her dependencies. This worked a particular hardship on Northern Vermonters who depended largely on this trade. As a result there was extensive smuggling carried on. Georgia became known as "Hell's Gate" among the smugglers. On one occasion intelligence reached customs officers in Georgia that a gang of smugglers would attempt to pass through during the night, A group including Potter and Reuben Conger, had assembled at a Mr. Blodgett's house about one half mile south of the town line on the main road from St. Albans to Georgia to intercept and overhaul them.

A large party of "diversionists" gathered at the tavern about one mile south of St. Albans to distract government officers so the smugglers could get by on the other route. The government party, seeing themselves badly outnumbered, kept quiet but that didn't satisfy the raiders. They beat Blodgett up badly, bound the Congers hand and foot, piled them into a wagon and started on their way. After a few anxious hours when they were taken across the river at Hyde's Ferry they were finally rescued by the Post party.

The Conger family was destined to become inter-related to the Post family by marriage at a little later date.

(From "History of Franklin & Grand Isle Counties," by Aldrich and Hemenway's "Gazetteer")

Some time around 1811, Job Conger became the Methodist class leader in the St. Albans area, an appointment held for many years, holding the meetings in the home in the winter and the barn in summer. This was about a mile west of the town.

Two of his sons-in-law were prominent Methodist preachers in Vermont - John B. Stratton, Lorinda's husband, traveled the St. Albans circuit in 1812. He served many areas since, at that time, rules governing Methodist itinerancy required, "That the minister be appointed but one year at a time and in no case to exceed two years in succession at the same place." He was presiding elder of the Burlington district, and appointment on the St. Albans circuit in 1818, and became presiding elder of what was then called the Champlain district embracing all western Vermont and much more in 1823. The residence of the presiding elder of the Champlain District became Charlotte in 1819 and Rev. Stratton resided there at some time between 1819 and when the parsonage burned in 1830.

A note from Mt. Holly in 1824 states "the church has been favored with the labor of many able and talented preachers, among whom may be named such men as John B. Stratton". Rev. Jacob Beeman, Achsah's husband, is mentioned frequently and favorably in the reports of circuit preachers. A class in Bristol united with a class in Monkton and in 1813 a class was formed at the village of Bristol with Jacob Beeman holding the first quarterly meeting when in charge of the Charlotte Circuit in 1816. A temperance meeting in Feb 21, 1842, addressed by Rev. Beeman resulted in 20 names obtained, pledging abstinence.

No doubt it was through visiting her sisters' families when they lived in the parsonage at Charlotte that Sophia met her future husband, Daniel Webb.

In the cold year of 1816 (frost every month) a number of inhabitants of St. Albans clubbed together and sent Pierpont Brigham to Chambly in Canada to purchase a sloop load of wheat. This was delivered to St. Albans Bay at a cost of $2.50 per bushel. In 1817 seed corn sold in St. Albans at $4.00 a bushel; flour imported from Troy and Montreal sold at $15.00 to $17.00 a barrel.

The cold season gave a great impetus to the spirit of emigration to the milder climate of the west, and a number removed to the "new" state of Ohio. Emigration progressed to such an extent that during the decade ending in 1820 the population increased by 27.

Pierpont Brigham, Louisa Conger's husband, and Richard Sackett, Keziah Conger's husband, both privates, saw action at the battle of Plattsburgh Sep 11, 1814. The battle could be seen from Aldis Hill in St. Albans.

The other two are for one twelfth of the remainder of the estate at $33.00 and the relinquishment of any share in Robah's third. PROBATE: Enoch Conger was named as one of the executors of his father's will, dated 19 Feb 1777. He sold his interest in his father and mother's estate to his brother, Coddington Conger, on 5 Jul 1794. (CFA I, p. 160)

BIOGRAPHY: William's "History and Map of Danby," mentions Enoch Conger as follows (page 129):

"Enoch Conger settled on the farm now occupied by Isaac Kelley. He built the present dwelling house in 1812. He was twice married, first to Ruth, daughter of David Irish, and second to Hannah Kelley. Although obliged to overcome the hardships and privation incident to all new settlements, by great industry and personal endurance he succeeded in establishing a pleasant home here, and became a man of considerable influence. He joined the Quaker Church, then quite numerous, and in 1820 removed to the north part of the state.

His children were: David, Noah, Hiram, and Lydia. David married Rachel, daughter of

Job Conger and Mary Keziah Thorp

Isaac Wilbur and removed to Collins, New York.

The Quaker Church was organized by the first settlers, at an early date. And for some time, the meetings were held in a log house 'which stood on a hill.' In 1785, the first Quaker Church was erected. And among the list of early members of the society is the name of Enoch Conger.

CHILDREN: It is thought that Enoch Conger had other children, as a Freeloze Conger witnessed a deed. (CFA I, p. 160)

MARRIAGE: His second wife was Hannah Kelley of Danby, of whom we have no record, and apparently there was no issue from this marriage. (CFA I, p. 160)

EMIGRATION: About 1820, Enoch removed to Hinesburg, Chittenden, Vermont, where he died 5 Dec 1826. It is thought that he went there to live with his daughter, Lydia, wife of Caleb Randall. (CFA I, p. 160)

PROBATE: The will of Enoch Conger disposed of land at Hinesburg, [VT] as well as the home farm at Danby, VT. The will dated 2 Nov 1825 reads as follows:

PARENTS: Enoch Conger and Berzillah Coddington

COMMENT: There are two places named Hinesburg, VT. Based on the fact that this Asher Conger is buried at Ferrisburg, Addison Co., VT it is likely that he lived in Hinesburg, Chittenden Co., VT which is adjacent to Addison county. For this Asher Conger, CFA I, did not specify which Hinesburg was involved and spelled the name with an "h" on the end. Records of other Congers in CFA I do indicate that the family lived in Chittenden county, VT.

RESIDENCES: As of Jul 1794, Hinesburg, VT

MILITARY: The first mention of Asher Conger at Danby, VT is in October 1780, when he served in Captain Stephen Calkin's Company of Col. Ira Allen's Regiment of Militia. And he also served in Capt. Ebenezer Wilson's Company. (Goodrich: Vermont Revolutionary Rolls, p. 372). (CFA I, p. 31)

LAND: On 27 Oct 1787, Asher Conger of Hinesburg, Addison, VT, deeded to Henry Wilbur of Danby, VT, 24 acres in Danby, being the Southwest corner of 50 acres of land laid out to Enoch Conger as fourth division in the right of William Barton (Right No. 35). On the same date, 27 Oct 1787, Asher Conger deeded to Abel Irish, his brother-in-law, of Danby, 11 acres of land in Danby, being part of the same lots as the preceding item. These deeds indicate that between 1782 and 1787 Asher Conger had moved to Hinesburg, VT.

One of the descendants writes that at the time of moving to Hinesburg the country was a wilderness, and he had to make his own road as he went. There were but three families in that vicinity when this removal was made.

BIOGRAPHY: Leonard S. Conger was the first man to carry the United States mail from Salt Lake City to San Bernardino, over the Old Spanish Trail. During the years 1851-52 he rode the difficult and dangerous route, often entirely alone. The writer has often listened with rapt attention while this man related the thrilling experiences which he passed through while riding over the desolate stretches which the road crossed. He knew the water holes and scattering patches of grass, and would often stay over, during the day, in some open space, where he could watch for Indians, while his animals grazed and rested, and when darkness came, press on through the more lonely and dangerous places.

Upon one occasion, after leaving Las Vegas, he was followed by Indians, frequently exchanging shots with them, and did not remove the packs from his animals until he reached Gunlock, in Utah, a distance of 150 miles. He related that upon one occasion he met a company of emigrants at the Vegas who had engaged in a fight with Indians, in which a white woman had been killed. She was buried and the train moved on. On his return trip Conger found the remains of the woman, which had been disinterred by the Indians, propped up against a cottonwood tree. He re-buried the body, but as he passed the point again, found it in the same position as on his previous trip. Three times he buried the remains of the unfortunate woman, before they were permitted to rest in peace.

It was on this Old Trail, on the Mojave River, south of the Vegas, that Franklin B. Woolley was killed in March, 1869, by Mojave Indians; and over the lonesome and dangerous road his younger brother brought the remains to St. George, for interment, an example of devotion and courage rarely equalled.

NAME-CONFLICT: Listed as: Job C. Conger in CFA I, p. 280; others may have listed his name as, Job Clifton Conger

NAME: According to his granddaughter, Gertrude M. Conger of Phoenix, NY, "Job Conger assumed the initial "C." to distinguish himself from his cousin, Job, son of Reuben Conger, as both lived in the same town and were deacons in the same church. It is said to mean "Canada," he being called "Canada Job," from the fact that he was at one time a miller in Canada, residing near Queenstown, at the time of the battle in which his younger brother, Enoch, was captured.

CHURCH_AFFILIATION:

On June 10th, 1825, a number of persons met at the schoolhouse in District No. 3, Hannibal (Oswego Co., [NY]) for the purpose of forming a religious society -- by the name of CONGREGATIONAL SOCIETY OF HANNIBAL -- of the six trustees in the second class was JOB C. CONGER. He was also one of the two presiding officers at the meeting. This organization was required by law before they could proceed with building a meeting house.

They evidently had been meeting as a group for several years previous to this for the records show that Job C. Conger was elected Deacon on Feb. 20, 1822. He was a trustee from 1825 to 1830.

When the seats of their new church were put up for bids Nov. 26, 1826, Job C. Conger bid in seat No. 2 for $70.00. On April 8th, 1828 Seat No. 30 was sold to Davis Lyon, SILAS CONGER, Abner Hollister and Augustus Ferris. Ferris was a resident of Cato and Hollister a resident of Meridaian. It seems as if the church solicited funds from prominent business men of the neighboring towns.

On a church list dated, June 12, 1826, Job C. Conger, was recorded as one of the members but after his name was the notation that he left the Society in 1831. Silas Conger was the brother of Job C. Conger.

CHURCH_AFFILIATION: Job Conger returned to America and became a deacon in the same Presbyterian Church where his cousin Job, b. 1785, son of Reuben, b. 1756, was a deacon. It is said that the confusion arising caused the two deacons to toss a penny to decide which should change his name. The lot fell on Job, b. 1780, who was called "Canada Job," so he added the initial "C." and called himself "Job C." thenceforth. RESIDENCES: Albany Co., NY; Richland Co., OH; Carmi, IL

OCCUPATION: Minister

BIOGRAPHY: Enoch Conger (1792 - 1872) and his Family

Enoch Conger was descended from Job Conger (1694 - 1758), the 5th born son of John Belconger (1633 - 1712), the Conger progenitor in North America. Enoch was born 15 Feb 1792 in Albany County, NY and his parents were Uzziah Conger (1758 - 1834) and Mary Hungerford. He was described as a self-made man, working on his father's farm until he served in the War of 1812 where he was taken prisoner by the British at the Battle of Queenstown, Ontario, Canada on 15 Oct 1812. He served as a Private in Capt. Henry R. Brinkerhoff's company of New York Militia.

After the war, he went back to school and studied under two prominent ministers. A Congregational Association licensed him to preach in 1819 and he moved west from New York state to Ohio in 1824. His family at the time of his move consisted of his wife, Ester West, whom he had married after his return from the war, and four children: Flavia Alsina (b. 1815), Omar Dwight (b. 1815), Wealthy Theresa (b. 1818), and Williston Kingsburg (b. 1821).

He served as minister in several localities in the so-called, "Firelands" area of north-central Ohio, encompassing the six-county area of Erie, Sandusky, Seneca, Huron, Crawford and Richland. He was listed as a M.G. (Minister of the Gospel) in Crawford County in 1827 but spent most of his Ohio church service at the Lyme Church in the village of Lyme in Erie County.

His six other children: Seymour Beach (b. 1825), Enoch Greenwood (b. 1827), Mary Ester (b. 1830), Everton Judson (b. 1834), Mary Frances (b. 1836) and Chauncey Stewart (b. 1838), were all born in Ohio.

Enoch retired to Carmi, White County, Illinois in the 1860s.

MILITARY: Enoch Conger served in the War of 1812-1814, participating in the Battle of Queenstown, where he was captured by the British, but made his escape the same night and recrossed the Niagara River. A curious circumstance of this battle was the pressing into service of the country people by the British. Among others, Enoch's older brother, Job, who had a mill on the battle field, was pressed. As the sympathies of most of them were with the Americans, they resolved to "fire high." As it happened, they did not fire at all, but heroically broke and fled at the first attack. The two brothers, thus opposed, did not meet until after Enoch's capture, and as the pressed men were set to guard the prisoners, it may explain why Enoch made his escape.

BIOGRAPHY:

Enoch Conger was a Presbyterian Missionary and had charge of several churches in the Western Reserve, so he had no fixed abiding place. His first child, Flavia Alsina was born in Auburn, Cayuga, New York. From there he went to Hartwick, Ostego, NY, a few miles south of Cooperstown.

His [Enoch Conger's] fourth child [assumed to be Williston Kingsbury Conger] was born in Montrose, Susquehanna, PA and constituted the family of Enoch Conger when, in 1824, they moved by the way of Buffalo, N-Yr across Lake Erie, through Sandusky, Erie, Ohio to Strong Ridge, located in the extreme north-west corner of Huron county, Ohio, about a dozen miles south of Sandusky.

Here lived the Strong and Cook families. Elutheros Cook was born at Granville, Washington county, NY in 1787 -- the same town that Esther (West) Conger [wife of Enoch Conger] was born in. Jay Cook, the well known financier and his brother, Henry D. Cook, once governor of the District of Columbia, during the administration of President U.S. Grant, were both descendants of Elutheros Cook.

Enos Wood and Noel Conger had assisted Joseph Beeman of Georgia, VT in surveying the township for Richard Harrison in 1801. It was said that Noel took 200 acres of land facing Main and Fort Covington Streets in the western part of the village, in payment for his surveying services. He was also said to have been the first man to cross Salmon River at the chasm where the stone bridge now is (Main Street Bridge), making the crossing on a hemlock log which he felled for the purpose. He remained at Malone for about 20 years, then removed to St. Lawrence county.

BIOGRAPHY:

From "The History of St. Lawrence and Franklin Counties" [New York] by Franklin B. Hough, Page 507 it states for Malone: "Settlements were begun in 1802, by Enos, Nathan and John Wood, from St. Albans, the town having been visited one or two years previous by the former. Noel Conger and many others came in 1803, or before. Since Noel married in 1805 he probably returned to Milton, VT for that occasion but I doubt if their children were born there since Colvin 1807 is recorded as being born at Malone it follows that all the rest were also with the possible exception of Lorinda who may have been born at Morristown.

CHURCH_AFFILIATION:

Two of Job Conger's sons-in-law were prominent Methodist preachers in Vermont - John B. Stratton, Lorinda's husband, traveled the St. Albans circuit in 1812. He served many areas since, at that time, rules governing Methodist itinerancy required, "That the minister be appointed but one year at a time and in no case to exceed two years in succession at the same place." He was presiding elder of the Burlington district, and appointment on the St. Albans circuit in 1818, and became presiding elder of what was then called the Champlain district embracing all western Vermont and much more in 1823. The residence of the presiding elder of the Champlain District became Charlotte in 1819 and Rev. Stratton resided there at some time between 1819 and when the parsonage burned in 1830.

A note from Mt. Holly in 1824 states "the church has been favored with the labor of many able and talented preachers, among whom may be named such men as John B. Stratton-

Among the items gleaned from the complaint are that Benjamin Conger Sr. died about 1822, and that Benjamin Every became of age 8 Apr 1837.

Richard Connelly, farmer (son-in-law of Benjamin Conger, aged 65) having married his daughter, and had always lived near his farm, testified that Every was brought up by Benjamin E. Wildey and wife, they had no children of their own.

Zillah Wildey of Milan, Dutchess county, New York, testified that she had brought up Every, her sister's son, and that he lived with her ever since; also that her husband died in February 1831.

In a letter from one L.S. Wildey on 29 Sep, he states, "I know very little about the Conger family, except that Zillah Conger married Benjamin Wildey, and that they had no children."

Clinton Conger of Milan testified, that he was a farmer, aged 24 years, and that he was the son of Enoch Conger, one of the executors. His testimony also mentions his brother, Asher Conger.

An H.B. Sherwood, writing from Standfordvill, Dutchess, New York on 10 Oct 1907, said that a Clinton Conger lived at Milan for some time, and believed he died on a farm near the Pine Plains line, unmarried.

BIOGRAPHY:

Omar Dwight Conger was, born 1 Apr 1818 in Cooperstown, Otsego County, NY. He graduated from Western Reserve College near Cleveland, OH in 1842. Then he studied law for three years. In 1845, he joined Douglas Houghton's geologic survey of the Lake Superior copper and iron ore deposits. Omar spent the next three years at Copper Harbor, MI assisting in the exploration of the copper reserves of the Keweenaw Peninsula.

In 1848, he moved to the Port Huron area, St. Clair County, MI, adjacent to Sarnia, Ontario, Canada.

He resumed law studies and became a county judge in 1850 and was admitted to the Michigan Bar in 1852. He also married Emily Jane Barker in 1850 and they had a son: Franklin Barker Conger, born in 1851.

Omar joined the law firm of Judge Edward W. Harris in Port Huron in 1855. The firm was renamed Harris & Conger, and Omar stayed there until 1868 when he was elected to the U.S. House of Representatives. He served six terms in the House until elected to the U.S. Senate in 1880. Omar was an early champion of human rights of Indians and Blacks. He was defeated for re-election in 1886 and faded from the national scene. By the time of his death at age 80 in 1898, he was Michigan's "forgotten man."

BIOGRAPHY: Omar D. Conger - Michigan's Forgotten Favorite Son by Bruce A. Rubenstein.

Omar Dwight Conger, born 1 April 1818 in Cooperstown, New York, was the second of the ten children of the Reverend and Mrs. Enoch Conger. In 1824 the family moved to Huron County, Ohio. Young Conger attended the common schools, continued his education at the Huron Institute in Milan, Ohio, and in 1842 graduated from Western Reserve College, then considered one of the finest institutions of higher learning in the West.(1)

For the three years following his graduation, Conger studied law. In 1845 he joined Douglass Houghton's geological survey of the Lake Superior copper and iron country. During his three years in the Keweenaw, he was in charge of the supply depot at Copper

Harbor. His duties included distributing necessities to exploration parties and recording barometric and temperature readings five times a day. His most noteworthy contribution occurred in July 1846, when Henry Rowe Schoolcraft's brother was slain and Conger "exercised his engineering skill by making a diagram of the scene of the murder."(2)

Leaving the Upper Peninsula in 1848, Conger moved to Lakeport, near Port Huron, where he worked in a sawmill. During this period, he renewed his legal studies. He was admitted to the Michigan Bar in March 1852, two years after he had been elected St. Clair County judge. In 1855 he became a law partner of Judge Edward Harris. He remained a member of the firm of Harris & Conger until 1869, when he went to Washington, DC to take his seat in Congress.(3)

In 1850, Conger married Emily Barker. The couple had five children, three of whom -- Franklin, Chilion and Florence -- lived to maturity. Emily died in 1866, and Conger remained a widower until 1874, when he remarried amid what newspaper reporters called a "storybook romance."

While attending college, Conger had fallen in love with Stella Humphrey, whose father was a prominent justice of the Ohio State Supreme Court. They became engaged, but when Conger reproached her for being a flirt, she broke off the relationship. She later married Jeremiah W. Sibley, a land speculator who became one of the wealthiest men in St. Paul, Minnesota. Following Sibley's death, his widow traveled for several years and, in 1874, visited Washington, DC. According to one version of the story, while viewing a session of Congress she recognized her old beau and sent him her card. After a brief meeting, their romance bloomed anew and within months they were married. While the Congers appeared physically mismatched, with the groom a wiry skeleton and the bride a robust, formidable two hundred pound figure, it was said that there was not a "happier and more loving couple in Washington, DC."(4)

Conger's physical appearance always attracted attention. He was small boned, of medium height and blue eyed. His head and face were small. His sharp, hawk-like nose fell to meet a protuding chin and dwarfed his mouth. His complexion was jaundiced, giving him a perpetual dirty color, and his voice was harsh and shrill. During his years in Washington, DC, his jet black hair and beard turned to bristling iron grey. He always wore a swallowtail coat, and at meetings he sat impassively with a grave, melancholy countenance that led observers to remark that he could pass for an old school Presbyterian deacon. To look at Conger, no one would have guessed that he possessed, as the Washington correspondent of the "New York Herald" wrote in 1872, "a poet's soul, and artist's eye, and a lover's heart." He was called a "precious little bundle of a man" and was a charming, delightful addition to the capital's social scene because of his wit and stories.(5)

Conger's political career began in 1855 when he entered the Michigan Senate. He was reelected and served as president pro tempore during his final year in office. A colleague recalled that during his terms in the legislature, Conger ranked "among the most active and able of the Republican Senators."(6) In 1862, Conger was appointed to the State Military Board, which was in charge of furnishing Michigan's quota of soldiers and supplies to the Union war effort. Two years later, he was a Lincoln delegate to the Republican National Convention. He also made unsuccessful attempts to gain the Fifth District Republican congressional nomination in 1860, 1864 and 1866.

Conger's political star began to rise in 1867 when, as a member of the convention elected to revise the state constitution, he emerged as the leading radical champion of human rights. When opponents of American Indian suffrage claimed that drunken, ignorant "savages" should no longer be allowed to retain the right to cast ballots, a right granted them in the 1850 State Constitution, Conger rose in defense of the Indians. He related that during his years in the Upper Peninsula he had "never found the majority of them were drunken and ignorant." He acknowledged that politicians used whiskey to influence Indians to vote for their party, but added:

"They love whiskey and drink it. But shall we condemn them because politicians bribe them. ... Let us be manly and honorable to this class. They are not all barbarians and murderers of the plains; they are as harmless as any in the State of Michigan. You do not find their names on the records of our courts, they are not prosecuted therefore with a few exceptions they are not drunken, as I know to be a fact. They are an industrious, labourious set of people, dying out from the land. Let us give them this last boon of civilization."(7)

Conger saved his most telling efforts for black suffrage. In an impassioned speech, he told his colleagues that it was his earnest desire to "extend the right of suffrage to the African race, ... boldly and manfully, without a slur and without a reproach." If that could not be done, he preferred to "withhold the right from them altogether." He added that if, as alleged, there were Republicans who opposed black voting, they should withdraw themselves quietly and unobtrusively from the party. ... they have no place in the ranks of that large army of Republicans who have marched along to the tune of progress for so many years; and they had better go where they belong. ... I say it is a slur upon any Republican, standing by the great national party which enforces impartial suffrage, to say nothing of granting it, when you say that he will oppose Negro suffrage in the Constitution of Michigan."(8)

Conger proved to be the best debater at the convention, and his positions triumphed. In 1868, using his newly acquired reputation as a champion of radicalism, he defeated incumbent Republican Rowland E. Trowbridge for his party's congressional nomination. The campaign was based almost entirely upon racial prejudice, with Conger's opponent, Byron G. Stout of Pontiac, warning voters of the dire consequences of black suffrage. The Democratic "Detroit Free Press" characterized Conger as the African's "friend and protector," while the "Mt. Clemens Press" labeled him "The Negro Suffrage Candidate." The "Free Press" went so far as to state, "Every opponent of negro equality and suffrage in the Fifth District can only maintain his honor and self-respect by casting his vote against the election of O.D. Conger to the Congress of the United States."(9) Despite such appeals, Conger easily triumphed, defeating Stout by nearly 2,000 votes.

In Washington, Conger quickly earned a reputation as a skilled debater, an eloquent spokesman for the lumber and shipping industries, an ardent foe of southern Democrats, and a brilliant parliamentarian. It was his ability to block legislation through adroit use of the rules that gained him the title of "The Great Objector" among Democrats. Among Republicans, however, he was affectionately referred to as "The Great Commoner" because of his close ties to the people.

Conger was reelected to Congress six times, becoming the most influential and popular member of the Michigan congressional delegation, "recognized all over the country as one of the leaders of the House." (10) His base of strength was St. Clair County and Port Huron, where many Democrats voted for him in appreciation of his tireless labors on behalf of the city that Conger proudly called one of "the most beautiful places, ... on God's footstool." (11) During the twelve years in the House of Representatives, he obtained for Port Huron a post office, a customs house, the land for Lakeside Cemetery and Pine Grove Park, and all but fifteen acres of the Fort Gratiot Military Reserve. He was also responsible for the erection of a harbor of refuge at Sand Beach and for the dredging of the St. Clair River Flats to facilitate shipping.

Jealous Michigan politicians, especially from Detroit, derided Conger for having such a limited vision that it "was never known to extend beyond the city limits of Port Huron and the lake shore towns." (12) On the national level members of Congress bemoaned that Conger's role in the Committee on Commerce was so great that "every saw-log stream over Michigan" received large sums in the River and Harbor Appropriation Bill, while waterways in the interior of the country received little, if any, support from the Michigan representative. (13)

Such criticism notwithstanding Conger's constant efforts to improve the state's rivers and harbors won him the respect of Great Lakes shippers. In May 1882, the Port Huron Ferry Company christened its newest excursion ship the "Omar D. Conger" to pay "a just compliment to the most intelligent and truest friend of our American commerce we have in our Senate." (14) William Bancroft, a prominent local Democrat and Conger's brother-in-law, spoke for most Port Huron Democrats when he praised the congressman for leaving "the imprint of his clear, sound, and liberal views upon the commercial interests of the whole country" and assured him that local Democrats would willingly continue to "swallow their friend and townsman Judge Conger." (15)

The Congressman's fidelity to the state's lumber interests was best demonstrated following the Great Chicago Fire of 1871. When an amended bill was introduced to aid fire victims, Conger strongly urged that it be recommitted to the Ways and Means Committee unless a provision that would allow Canadian lumber to enter the United States duty free was deleted. He claimed that as written, the bill would be "injurious to the lumbermen of Michigan and the laboring people of Michigan," and that the fire damaged pine from Michigan, which would be worthless if not used within a year, should be used to rebuild Chicago. The offensive section was removed and the measure passed. (16) Acts such as this earned Conger the political support of lumbermen's associations across the state.

Conger rapidly advanced in party leadership and became House Republican whip. His duty was to maintain party discipline, and one associate recalled, "No man ever cracked it [the whip] louder than Mr. Conger did." Conger was a fighter and a resourceful leader who always kept his wits. His audacity and courage when dealing with matters within his expertise were limitless. His knowledge of parliamentary procedures enabled him to obstruct efforts by Democrats to pass legislation aimed at reconstructing the war-torn South. (17) For his efforts, Conger became recognized as the "watchdog of the Treasury," and Speaker of the House James G. Blaine admiringly said that Conger "illustrated the virtue of persistence in its highest degree, and had the art of annoying his opponent in discussion to the point of torture." When the Republicans regained control of the House in 1880, Conger was a leading candidate for Speaker and possibly would have obtained the coveted position had he not been elected to the U.S. Senate.(18)

Much of Conger's national prominence was a result of his famed ability to ridicule Democrats. He was a fierce partisan and attacked the opposition party on every issue. Yet, his jibes were always confined to politics, and outside the halls of Congress, he numbered many of his political enemies as personal friends. His methods were legendary. The Washington correspondent of the "Cincinnati Commercial" wrote:

"Other Republicans shirk, sleep, grow listless at times; Conger never. He watches a Democrat, out of his deep set eyes, as long as he can see him. With his head on his breast, his beak-like nose reaching nearly to his chin, his shoulders elevated, he has reminded me of a stork dozing by the waterside, motionless as if painted on the glassy wavelets. A fish -- a Democrat -- one dart, and he has himself one gulp, and he is gone."

In like fashion, the Washington correspondent of the "Detroit Evening News" noted Conger had been assigned, by unanimous consent, the duty of "stirring the Democratic animal up with a long pole" and that "as a stirrer up with a long pole Conger is a success. He can cause a Democrat to get mad and make a fool of himself quicker than any other man in the business."(19)

Democrats admitted that Conger was a thorn in their sides, and they responded by making personal slanders against him. Typical of this tactic was a diatribe in the "Philadelphia Times" in which Conger was described as having an acrid voice, atrabilious face, harlequin form and dirty brown fingers. He was said to be a "testy truculent inveterate mischief-maker" who was a beady-eyed "backwood Cato." To the "Times" Conger "was born sour, achieved sourness, and then thrust it, as a snake does venom, upon all who were unfortunate to come within reach of its spittle."(20)

Conger's political career, however, would have never reached such a pinnacle had it not been for the efforts of John P. Sanborn, collector of customs at Port Huron since 1867. As holder of the major federal appointment in the district, "King John," as he was known by friend and foe alike, doled out patronage with a deft touch and created a coterie of loyal followers who gained renown as the "Port Huron Custom House Ring." Sanborn's machine was reputed to be as strong as that of Senator Zachariah Chandler in Detroit, and in every election he used his influence to support his protege, Omar D. Conger. Potential opponents were silenced, either by bribery or threats, in order to maintain Conger and his growing influence in office. Sanborn was Conger's political father -- he sired, nurtured and demanded absolute loyalty from his creation. Conger, who neither liked or understood the intricacies of political dealings, was entirely willingly to allow Sanborn to run his campaigns. As long as Conger toed "King John's" line his success was assured.(21)

In late 1880 the Sanborn machine put in motion a scheme to elevate Conger to the United States Senate. Sanborn's strategy was to cause a deadlock between the two main contenders, incumbent Henry P. Baldwin and former Governor John J. Bagley, and then to have the legislative caucus turn to Conger as a compromise candidate. Sanborn and the Baldwin managers allegedly struck a deal by which the candidate who trailed after the first ballot would withdraw and support the other in order to stop Bagley.(22) Baldwin lost, and the overwhelming majority of his followers joined Conger's forces.

Democrats rejoiced to see their nemesis leave the House and go to the Senate, where his raucous style would not be tolerated. The "Washington Post" predicted that Conger's "House manners and his raspy roar will be as much out of place as a clown in a graveyard. He will be refrigerated." The "Genesee Democrat" expressed pleasure in getting "a bull-dog out of the House and a rat-terrier in the Senate."(23)

Republicans greeted Conger's promotion with mixed feelings. Statewide, most party leaders believed Conger to be a worthy successor to Zachariah Chandler, but worried that his loss to the House might more than offset his potential value in the Senate. Local Republicans feared that without Conger as the nominee, Democrats would capture his seat in Congress. Even Conger seemed to be uncertain about his new position. Addressing a gathering at his home in Port Huron, he told his listeners:

"There is no post held out to the ambition of men greater than that of a senator of the United States, and it is only the sense of its great responsibility and of the possibility that I might fail that has almost made me shrink and withdraw from the contest. ... should I fail, ... what a sad ending to the hopes and confidence which you have placed in me. But I shall go with your assurances, trusting to a heartfelt desire to perform to the best of my ability the duties and trust imposed upon me."(24)

Conger's fears were well founded: his senatorial career was a personal and political disaster. His style was not suited to the Senate, and he was ostracized by his colleagues whenever he broke the decorum of the "American House of Lords." A "Chicago Times" reporter wrote that Conger sat "as subdued and silent as the grave." Another correspondent said, "Conger, dear old Conger, is here, cooled down to the polite frigidity which constantly pervades the Senate.(25)

During his first year in office, the sole contribution of the new senator was to speak in favor of the American Red Cross. Clara Barton, founder of that organization, was a personal friend of Mrs. Conger's, but the senator initially seemed cold and aloof to the Red Cross. However, when Barton informed him that she had nursed his wounded brother after the Battle of Spottsylvania, he became, in her words, the "first official advocate and tireless friend" of the organization. In early May 1881, an organizational meeting for the Red Cross was held in Conger's Washington home.(26)

When fire ravaged Michigan's Thumb that summer, Conger urged Barton to prove the worth of her organization by aiding the victims of the tragedy. The success of the Red Cross in distributing more than $80,000 in food, clothing, and medicine made it a fixture among American charities. Its first annual report noted, "Our cases [in Michigan] were all marked with the Red Cross and consigned to Senator Omar D. Conger, of Port Huron, who led the call of the Michigan committee and to whom, as well as to his kindhearted and practical wife, we are indebted for many timely suggestions and words of grateful appreciation.(27)

Conger's senatorial career might ultimately have blossomed had he not tried, for the first time in his life, to assert his political power. In 1883, under pressure from the civil service reformers urging "rotation of office," Conger rejected John Sanborn's application for a fourth term as collector and named his own protege, Port Huron

Postmaster William Hartsuff, as Sanborn's successor. This infuriated Sanborn and split the local Republican party. Sanborn's supporters called the senator a liar, while the collector pledged to destroy both Conger and Hartsuff and "follow them to their political graves."(28)

By mid-1884 the Conger-Sanborn feud was at its height. Conger was "swearing mad" at his one time benefactor and Sanborn was systematically outwitting the senator at every turn. Finally, at the Republican National Convention, Conger met his old friend, extended his hand in a gesture of reconciliation, and said, "How are you, Sanborn?" The ex-collector paled, kept his hands in his pockets, and loudly proclaimed, "Don't want to have anything to do with you sir!"(29) This snub became common gossip and obviously embarrassed Conger.

Conger's chagrin was no doubt heightened in 1886 when, in response to pleas by Michigan Republicans for party unity, he and Hartsuff agreed to campaign for Sanborn in his bid for Congress.(30)

Sanborn lost, but he gained the satisfaction of publicity triumphing over his intraparty foes.

The feud was all the more humiliating to Conger because in 1883 he had been mentioned as a possible presidential contender. In March, Judge Jeremiah Black, a prominent Pennsylvania Democrat boosted Conger for the presidency saying, "he has the elements of a leader. He is not an elegant or brilliant man, but, ... Conger has no enemies."(31) Conger's chances for the presidency or vice-presidency were enhanced because Michigan, a doubtful state, might be carried by the Republicans if he were their candidate. In July 1883 Conger's name was among those listed in a "New York Times" presidential poll, but he lagged far behind the favorites.(32)

The "Conger boom" was soon over as the race narrowed to the incumbent, Chester Alan Arthur, and Secretary of State James G. Blaine. In the late summer 1883 a weak attempt was made to boost Conger as Arthur's running mate, but neither the senator nor his friends supported the effort.(33)

By late 1886 it was obvious that Conger's chances of re-election were dim. With the election of Thomas W. Palmer of Detroit in 1883, both of Michigan senators were from the eastern half of the state. Western members of the state legislature rallied behind Francis B. Stockbridge, a millionaire lumber baron from Kalamazoo. Stockbridge's biggest advocate was another millionaire, James McMillan of Detroit, who wanted a westerner in the Senate so that he could succeed Palmer. Accusations of buying the Senate seat arose. A writer to the "Detroit Free Press" summed up the question well by saying that Conger was not "immensely rich" and that in choosing a senator, "Ability is nothing. Geography is everything. Conger -- rude as he is -- is the ablest Senator in debate since the days of Jacob M. Howard, but he must go."(34) Stockbridge, according to the "Port Huron Tribune," spent more than $30,000 to assure the election of legislators favorable to his candidacy. Because Conger could, and would, not compete with the "boodle" used against him, he was defeated, even though he was still immensely popular among the citizens of the state.(35)

Though deeply disappointed Conger took his first political defeat in twenty years

philosophically, opening a Washington law office with two former Michiganians, Rufus Thayer and Fred Coldren. Friends urged him to return to Port Huron and reclaim his congressional seat, but he refused, primarily because his wife disliked the city.(36)

Although Conger's apolitical wife loved him, she seriously hurt his career. She refused to allow his lifelong Port Huron friends to stay in her house in Washington because they talked politics, smoked cigars and drank whiskey, which offended her sense of social amenities. This, coupled with her refusal to visit Port Huron, removed Conger from his once solid political base. The former senator was mentioned as a possible member of the Interstate Commerce Commission of the cabinet when his old friend Benjamin Harrison became president, but no offers were made.(37)

When Conger's wife died in 1889, she left her entire fortune to her brother, and provided only a $100 per month allowance to her husband. Friends of the couple said that this was done because she disliked her step-children and did not wish them to ever receive her estate. Unfortunately, her brother often refused to give Conger his money, and the former senator was forced to spend many painful hours in court trying to collect his meager income.

Conger became extremely lonely, as few of his old friends visited him. Members of the Michigan delegation ignored him and did not seek his advice. On his eightieth birthday, when the Michigan delegation called upon him, he broke down and "cried like a child" at finally being remembered by his political friends of the past.(38)

On 11 July 1898, Conger died. Perhaps "Port Huron Times" editor Loren Sherman best characterized the tragedy of the senator:

"Fifteen years ago the death of Omar D. Conger would have brought public mourning to Port Huron. Today it arouses only indifferent interest. ... If his ability as a politician had been greater he would have avoided many mistakes which weakened him with his party and prevented his re-election to the Senate in 1887. Thereafter his personal supporters made no further efforts in his behalf, and as he did not return to his former home he soon fell into obscurity at Washington. The latter years of his life were saddened and embittered by neglect and financial troubles, and his old friends in Port Huron were given no opportunity to show him sympathy or favor."(39)

Omar D. Conger, once Michigan's most noted politician, had become a forgotten man.

Just by chance, Ivan A. Conger of Owosso, MI learned about a meeting to be held in Port Huron, MI on 12 Apr 1980 by the Lake Huron Lore Marine Society. Although a two hour drive, he and wife, Dorothy, went to the meeting held at the Museum of Arts and History.

The speaker was Dr. Bruce A. Rubenstein, a former resident of Port Huron and a student of the life of the late senator, Omar D. Conger. The program focused on the accomplishments of senator Conger for whom a steamship was named.

A scale model of the St. Clair River excursion steamer and ferry, Omar D. Conger, built by Harvey Nissley of Grosse Isle, was presented to the museum. Four crewmen died aboard the steamship when it blew up at it's Black River berth 58 years ago. Frank Crevier, Algonac, who helped organize the program was pictured with the model in the "Times Hearld." Over 200 people were present.

COMMENT:

In a letter dated, 1 January 1981, Dr. Rubenstein gave his permission to use the text of his speech in "The Conger Family of America, Volume II."

He also wrote:

"My interest in Omar began when I realized that he was the only United States Senator ever to come from Port Huron. So, while working on my doctorate at Michigan State University, I 'relaxed' by indulging in my hobby of collecting information on my hometown hero.

As my interest became known, several of my professors kindly began to jot down bits on Conger which they happened to find during their research on other topics. Soon by files were bursting on Omar (40 to 45,000 different items) and I realized that my hobby had become an obsession.

I do intend to write a book on Omar, using his career as an example of Republican politics and politicians during the so-called 'Gilded-Age.'

You might be interested to know that after six years of struggle, I, along with others in Port Huron, have convinced the city to erect a monument to Omar, which will be placed in his beloved Pine Grove Park. I will keep you posted on the details.

Also, it may please you to know that Omar, his first wife, Emily, sons Franklin and Chillion, and daughter Florence and daughter-in-law Susan are all buried in Port Huron, and for the past ten years I have planted flowers on their graves -- Port Huron's 'most favorite son' is therefore never completely forgotten.

BIOGRAPHY: More about Omar Dwight Conger.

Omar Dwight Conger obtained his earliest schooling at Strong's Ridge, Huron county, Ohio. Among his schoolmates was the father of a Strong, who was at one time mayor of New York City; also two Cook boys, Jay and Henry D.

Omar commenced his real schooling at Huron Institute, at Milan, Erie, Ohio, from which he graduated. Later he entered the Western Reserve College then located at Hudson, Summit, Ohio, from which he graduated in 1842. He studied law in the office of Daniel R. Tilden of Ravenna, Portage, Ohio.

After spending some time with the family in Plymouth, Richland, Ohio he joined the Michigan State Geological Survey Party, under the direction of the state geologist, Dr. Douglas Houghton, and was engaged in the mineral research in the Keweenaw Point region of Lake Superior.

It was while engaged in this work that he learned from the Indians the location of the great mass of pure copper, which had long been sought by white men. This knowledge later enabled him and his uncle, Jonas H. Titus, to incorporate the Minnesota Mining Co., of which he was eventually relieved of ownership by crafty New England capitalists.

Late in 1848 he settled at Port Huron, St. Clair, Michigan and commenced the practice of law, being also interested in lumbering operations near that town.

In 1850 he was elected judge of the St. Clair County Court, and re-elected in 1852. In July 1854, he assisted in founding the National Republican Party, at a convention held "under the Oaks." At Jackson, Michigan his name was on the first ticket of that party at the election the following fall, when he was chosen a member of the Michigan State Senate. He was re-elected to a second and third term, of which during the latter he was made president pro tempore of that body.

At the commencement of the Civil War he, with six other prominent citizens of Michigan, was made a member of the State Military Board, with the rank of Colonel. This body had control of all military operations of the state of Michigan during the war.

In 1867, he was a member of the State Constitutional Convention, which revised that instrument. In 1868, he was elected a member of Congress and re-elected six additional times. In 1881, the Legislature of Michigan honored him by electing him to the United States Senate, for a term of six years.

From the birth of the National Republican Party in 1854, he was most active in its support, and was always one of its leaders in the state of Michigan. He was a delegate to the Baltimore Maryland National Republican Convention in 1864, which nominated Lincoln and Johnson. He was a presidential elector for Michigan that year. In 1872, he was an Alternate Delegate to the National Republican Convention at Philadelphia, which nominated Grant and Wilson.

In 1880, at the National Republican Convention, held at Chicago, Illinois, he was Delegate at Large for the state of Michigan and was chosen chairman of the committee on credentials.

At the expiration of his eighteen years service in the United States Congress, he commenced the practice of law in Washington, D.C., where he continued to live possessed of good health, and a remarkable mentality, until his sudden death at the age of 81 years.

The remains were interred with full military and civic honors, in the beautiful Lakeside Cemetery, on the shore of his beloved Lake Huron, near the city of Port Huron.

For many years a ferry on Lake Huron was named the "Omar D. Conger."

BIOGRAPHY: Seymour Beach Conger was a watchmaker in his younger days. The California gold fever got him. It is thought that he went to California with his brother, Williston, but did not remain long, bringing home a few small gold nuggets.

Soon after his return he and his family moved from the village of Plymouth, Ohio to a large farm located about ten miles south of Mansfield, Richland county, Ohio. At the commencement of the Civil War he recruited a Cavalry Company, of which he was made an officer. The quota of Ohio being exceeded, a large number of Ohio volunteers were assigned to West Virginia. He made a brilliant record as Commanding Officer, until his sudden death while leading a charge against the enemy near Moorfield, West Virginia, in August 1864 when he was killed. His remains were interred in Arlington National Cemetery. He was 2nd Lieutenant in the 7th Ohio Cavalry; a 1st Lieutenant in Co., A; a Captain in Co. C; and Major in the 3rd West Virginia Cavalry.

PARENTS: The parents of Mary Abigail Barker were of Plymouth, OH.

Seymour Beach Conger and Mary Abigail Barker had the following children:

- 608 i. Clinton Barker Conger, born 24 Jul 1847, Plymouth, Richland Co., OH; married Cornelia Elvira Smith, 11 Feb 1874; died 29 Oct 1912.

PARENTS: Seymour Beach Conger and Mary Abigail Barker

RESEARCHER: Charles Greenwood Barker Conger was one of the early Conger researchers. Little is known about him, other than he was a bachelor and he published the records of his line in 1903. He probably obtained most of his data from the efforts of Samuel Hayes Conger. Apparently he worked for the government, as there are copies of several letters in the Conger files seen by Maxine Leonard that give his address as, "Room 553, War Department, Washington, DC, dated 1899, before his book was published.

Job Conger and Mary Keziah Thorp

In one of these letters he mentions the "Conger Union" which he must have formed. He said his only interest was the tribe of Job, but that he kept names and addresses pertaining to other lines.

NEVER_MARRIED: Never married.

RESEARCHER-RELATIONSHIP: According to Robert Guilinger, Franklin Barker Conger (1889 - 1936) was living in Washington, DC and doing Conger research in the 1930's. He was the 1st cousin, 1 generation removed, of another researcher, Charles Greenwood Barker Conger. Their common ancestor was Rev. Enoch Conger.

RESEARCHER-RELATIONSHIP: Charles Greenwood Barker Conger and Shea Smith, the man who printed the 1903 Conger book, were 3rd cousins. Their common ancestor being, Job Conger.

REFERENCE: Charles Greenwood Barker Conger was the compiler of "A Record of the Births, Marriages and Deaths of the Descendants of John Conger of Woodbridge, N.J. Through his Grandson, Job Conger of Woodbridge, N.J. and Albany Co., N.Y." This 165 page book was published in 1903. The page after the cover page lists: "Compiled by Charles G.B. Conger, Descendant, Washington, D.C.; Printed by Shea Smith, Descendant, Chicago, Ill., U.S.A. 1903." A copy of the book was found, by Richard E. Henthorn on 17 Aug 1999 at the DAR Library in Washington, DC. Much of the information in this book is not available in either volume of CFA. Mr. Henthorn believes he entered most of the data from the book into his own genealogy file.

Unfortunately the book does not list place names and has few source citations. There is very little textual information in the book, with the exception of occasional lists of the units in which men served in the military.

There were approximately 1,820 people listed in Charles G.B. Conger's book that weren't listed in either volume of "The Conger Family of America."

Page 3 of the book, a brief introduction reads, as follows: "The following record, while not as complete as could be wished, is, it is believed, as accurate as patience and painstaking can make it, so far as it goes.

The collector of these "statistics" desires to acknowledge the kindness and courtesy of the various members of the family which have enabled him to collate this record. To some he is deeply indebted for a more active interest, without which the record would not have been possible. To mention all of these would make too long a list; to speak of a few would be unjust to the others.

It is a tradition of the Conger family, which for good reasons seems worthy of belief, that the family came from Alsace (then a French province) to Holland about the date of the massacre of St. Bartholomew, the name being Koniger, and the family of German origin. From Holland the Konigers went to England, and the name was anglicized into Conger. It is said the Congers are numerous in Lincolnshire and in the neighborhood of Bristol.

John Conger, "primus," was probably one of the soldiers of the Commonwealth Army, and came to Woodbridge, N.J. in 1667, with his wife, Mary and one son, Enos. He was not one of the original proprietors who founded Woodbridge, but was one of the first settlers and participated in the first distribution of lands, his patent to 170 acres bearing date March 18, 1669. He held various offices of trust in the township, became a member of the first (Presbyterian) church and died about September, 1712."

BIOGRAPHY:

Everton Judson Conger was a practicing dentist in Fremont, Sandusky County, Ohio at the beginning of the Civil War. He enlisted, raised a company and was commissioned as a Captain and attached to the West Virginia Cavalry. He saw extensive fighting around Petersburg, VA in the Richmond Campaign and was wounded several times, almost losing an arm from a sword blow.

He was honorably mustered out of the First Regt., of the District of Columbia Cavalry on 8 Feb 1865, due mainly to complications from a gunshot wound in his hip, received on 28 Jun 1864.

He was residing at the farm of his deceased brother, Seymour Beach Conger, near Lexington, in Troy Twp., Richland Co., OH when President Abraham Lincoln was shot and died on 15 Apr 1865. Col. Lafayette C. Baker, his old commanding officer, called him back to Washington, DC, via telegraph, to assist in the apprehension of John Wilkes Booth. Col. Baker offered Everton Conger a Colonel's rank in the Secret Service and a share in the posted reward. Conger accepted Baker's offer and was tasked to track down Booth and his associates. He was successful in tracking and finding Booth and a companion near Port Royal, VA, but Booth was killed in the attempted capture on 26 April 1865. Conger later received a reward of $15,000 for his role in the assassin's capture.

He moved to Carmi, White County, IL in 1869, at age 34, with his wife Emma Kate Boren and son, Charles West Conger (b. 1862).

Everton studied law at the law office of his brother, Chauncy Stewart Conger, and was admitted to the Illinois Bar in 1871.

He also built a home in Carmi with part of his reward money and practiced law there until 1880 when he was appointed a federal judge in the Montana Territory by President Rutherford B. Hayes.

Judge Conger became a legal advisor to Queen Liliokalani in the 1890s. She had ascended the throne in the Hawaiian Islands to become the last independent ruler. He remained in the islands until his death on 12 Jul 1918 at age 84, in Honolulu. After World War I, his body was returned for burial in Dillon, Beaverhead County, Montana in RELATIONSHIP: A descendant of Job Conger, Col. Everton J. Conger, was a Detective and Aide to Lafayette C. Baker. Lafayette C. Baker was the Chief of the National Detective Police (NDP, i.e., Secret Service) at the time of the assassination of President Abraham Lincoln, in April 1865.

RECOLLECTIONS: Everton Judson Conger (1834-1918) and the Capture of John Wilkes Booth
John Wilkes Booth (1838 - 1865)

When the fall of Richmond aborted his plan to kidnap Abraham Lincoln and take him to the Confederate capital for a prisoner exchange, noted actor John Wilkes Booth changed his plot to murder.

Born into a Maryland stage family that included his father, Junius Brutus Booth, and his brother, Edwin Booth, he did not achieve the acting success that he thought he deserved.

Although his family tended to support the Union, his sympathies were entirely with the South and, while he didn't enter the military service, he wanted to strike a blow for his "country." He apparently planned to kidnap the president-elect before the 1861 inauguration but failed when the travel plans were altered secretly. Late in the war he plotted with several others to capture Lincoln and spirit him off to Richmond. Several times the band went into action but for one reason or another never succeeded. With the collapse of the Confederacy, Booth realized that the kidnapping would serve no purpose. His new scheme called for simultaneous attacks on Lincoln, Andrew Johnson, cabinet members, and General Grant.

On the night of April 14, 1865, Booth, having made arrangements earlier, entered the President's box at Ford's Theater and shot Lincoln in the back of the head. Major Henry Rathbone, who was a guest of the president, was wounded with a knife by the actor/assassin. Booth then jumped from the box but caught his leg in the decorative flags draped around the ledge and broke his leg landing on the stage. Despite attempts to stop him, notably that of Joseph B. Stewart, he managed to escape the theater.

He crossed the Navy yard Bridge after informing Sergeant Silas Cobb, the guard, who he was and that he had been unavoidably detained in the city. He met up with fellow conspirator, David E. Herold, who escorted him through his flight. He stopped at the farm of Dr. Samuel A. Mudd to have his leg set and then with the help of numerous people along the way, he made it to Virginia and across the Rappahannock River. But here his luck ran out and he was cornered at the farm of Richard H. Garrett near Port Royal. Trapped in a tobacco shed by a cavalry detachment under the direction of detectives Everton J. Conger and Luther B. Baker, he refused to surrender. The troopers were under the direct command of Lieutenant Edward P. Doherty. Herold surrendered but Booth remained stubborn. After the shed had been torched, a shot rang out and Booth fell mortally wounded. Whether it was suicide or a shot from Sergeant

Boston Corbett has never been determined. The only other part of the conspiracy that was carried out was the attack on Secretary of State William H. Seward by Lewis T. Powell.

Lafayette Curry Baker (1826 - 1868)

A thoroughly unsavory character before the Civil War, Lafayette C. Baker remained that way for the duration and after.

Born in New York, he appears to have lived in Michigan, New York, Philadelphia and San Francisco during his prewar years. Some of his occupations included claim jumping and vigilantism.

During the first months of the Civil War he served as a special agent for Commander-in-Chief Winfield Scott. Through connections with the secretaries of state and war, William H. Seward and Edwin M. Stanton, Baker became special agent of the Provost's branch in the War Department. Charged with rooting out corruption in the war effort, he was not of strong enough character to refrain from engaging in it himself.

In order to give him the appropriate authority, he was granted military rank and his assignments included: Colonel, 1st District of Columbia Cavalry (May 5, 1863); and Brigadier General, USV (April 26, 1865).

He rarely, if ever, actually commanded the regiment that had been raised for special service in and around Washington, although it did see some action under others against Mosby and near Richmond and Petersburg.

Following the assassination of Lincoln his detectives fanned out across the countryside after the culprits. Two agents, his cousin Luther B. Baker and Everton J. Conger, brought back David Herold and the body of John Wilkes Booth with a cavalry detachment. For this Colonel Baker received $3,750 of the reward money. He was promoted to Brigadier General from the date of capture, and was mustered out on January 15, 1866.

His working methods had been questionable to say the least. Arbitrary arrests were commonplace and charges were made without evidence, as happened when he was a witness in the impeachment proceedings against Andrew Johnson. His "History of the United States Secret Service" is of interest mainly for insights into his personality; otherwise it is highly unreliable.

Over the years, alleged coded messages from Baker have surfaced indicating that the assassination was masterminded by Stanton and others. Even if they actually are Baker's work, one must still question the message's veracity.

Baker died (some say he was murdered to keep him quiet) in Philadelphia in 1868. (Mogelever, Jacob, "Death to Traitors: The Story of General Lafayette C. Baker, Lincoln's Forgotten Secret Service Chief")

Luther B. Baker

Luther B. Baker was the junior detective supervising the cavalry detachment under Lieutenant Edward P. Doherty in the search for John Wilkes Booth and David Herold. He was a Lieutenant in the War Department's Secret Service, headed by his cousin, Lafayette C. Baker.

Under the direction of Colonel Everton J. Conger, he helped follow the trail of the assassins across the Rappahannock River at Port Conway. They finally caught up with their quarry at Richard H. Garrett's farm and captured Herold, but Booth either committed suicide or was killed by a soldier named Boston Corbett.

Baker recrossed the river and headed off for Washington without waiting for the rest. He took Booth's body and two prisoners but managed to lose one, Willie Jett.

All sorts of stories entwine the younger Baker with the activities of his cousin in some kind of coverup, but nothing has ever been conclusively proven.

Everton Judson Conger (1834 - 1918)

Having served through much of the Civil War in the area of northern Virginia through which John Wilkes Booth and David Herold fled from their crimes, Everton J. Conger was a good choice to lead one of the most promising pursuit efforts.

His earlier assignments had included: [2nd Lt., 8th Regt., Ohio Vol. Inf, Apr 1861]; Captain, 3rd (West) Virginia Cavalry (ca. December 1861); Major, 1st District of Columbia Cavalry (1863); and Lieutenant Colonel, 1st District of Columbia Cavalry (1864).

Under John C. Fremont, he had commanded a cavalry squadron at Cross Keys and elsewhere in the Shenandoah Valley. Made a field officer in a regiment raised for special service in and around Washington, he frequently operated against John S. Mosby. He commanded the regiment in Butler's operations along the James River and the subsequent seige operations against Richmond and Petersburg.

Called back to Washington, [after his discharge in Feb. 1865,] he became a Colonel in the Secret Service of the War Department, in which position he was given this assignment. Along with a detective Lieutenant, Luther B. Baker, he supervised one of the many detachments of cavalry scouring the countryside for the Lincoln assassin. The actual cavalry detachment comprised 26 men from the 16th New York Cavalry and was under the immediate command of Lieutenant Edward P. Doherty. Picking up the trail, the 29-member detachment crossed the Rappahannock at Port Conway and caught up with a Confederate Captain, Willie Jett, who had briefly accompanied Booth and Herold, in Bowling Green. Jett revealed to Conger that Booth was at the Richard H. Garrett farm. Returning the way they had come, the party caught Herold, but Booth was either shot by Boston Corbett or committed suicide, [on 26 Apr 1865]. Conger's share of the reward money came to $15,000.

RECOLLECTIONS:

This letter was written by Casper Karliniski Conger, dated April 5, 1896, Norden, Keya Paha Co., NE. State names that were spelled out in the letter have been abbreviated.

"My Dear Daughter Mary S. Sutherland:

I should have written before this but we have been very much afflicted with sickness as June had pneumonia... In regard to your ancestors, I will tell you what I can.

About the year 1700 Benjamin Conger came from England to America and settled in NJ. He is the father of all the Congers in this country. He had one daughter, her name was Thea and he had three sons, one of them was named, Job, and from this Job Conger our family comes. This Job Conger settled in Albany County, NY where my father was born in the town of Bethlehem in 1800.

[Note: Readers of this letter should keep in mind that the information is based on the recollection and understanding of the writer. It does not necessarily accurately describe the family structure as genealogy researchers have come to understand it. The ancestral line for Casper, with birth dates, was: Caspar Karliniski Conger, 9 May 1827; Silas Conger, 7 Jan 1800; Uzziah Conger, 14 Jan 1758; Job Conger, Abt. 1725/1728; Job Conger, 9 Jun 1694; John Belconger, 8 Sep 1833. REH]

In the year 1700 Jonathan Hungerford came from Scotland to America, he also settled in Albany County, NY. He was the father of all the Hungerfords in this country.

In the year 1780, January 19th, Uzziah Conger and Mary Hungerford were married. They were my grandparents. So my father was Scotch-English and my mother was Hanna Titus, who I think was of English blood.

Your mother, Marietta Conklin, was English-Irish. Her father was born in CT of English blood. Her mother was of Irish blood and her maiden name was Kirkpatrick. You have no French blood in your veins, no hunuenot [sic] blood, as far as I know. That is about the way it is. You are Scotch-English on your father's side and on your mother's side Irish-English and still there is a small percent of Holland Dutch and a "very very" small part of gypsy blood in our family.

I hope you will understand just about how the matter is and if you want any further information about our family, the only one that can tell you anything more, so far as I know is Omar D. Conger of Washington, DC...he said his father, Silas Conger was born in Bethlehem, NY in 1800 and your mother's father, Charles K. Conklin, was born in Owasco County, NY, July 14, 1807. Died January 28, 1892 at Plymouth, OH."

OBITUARY: Aged Pioneer Passes Away

C.K. Conger Prominent When Tekamah Was Young Dies at 96

Casper K. Conger, who was an early pioneer in Tekamah, died at his home near Valentine, Nebraska, September 14, 1923, aged 96 years, 4 months and 5 days.

Mr. Conger's ancestors were among the Pilgrim fathers, a record of which he had in his family Bible dating back to 1700. He was of Scotch-English parents, born in Hannibal, Oswego County, New York, May 9, 1827.

In his school days he began to prepare himself for the ministry, but had to abandon his chosen profession owing to the death of his mother and engaged in farming. His uncle, Rev. Enoch Conger and brother, Rev. Delmar Conger, became prominent as Presbyterian ministers. The Conger family moved to Plymouth, Ohio, where on May 2, 1850 he was united in marriage to Marietta Conklin of English-Irish decent, as her forefathers came over on the Mayflower. Mr. Conger in the early fifties moved to Salem, Indiana and later to South Bend, Ind., where he engaged in business, also in farming.

Four daughters and two sons were born to Mr. and Mrs. Conger: Mrs. Mary Sutherland, Tekamah, Nebr.; Mrs. Carolyn Hawks, Chloride, Ariz.; Mrs. Evelyn Ludwick, and Mrs. Florence Caister in Los Angeles, Calif.; Chas. M. Conger, Cody, Wyo. and Chester W. Conger, Riverside, Calif., all of whom are left to mourn the passing of a loving and devoted father.

Mr. Conger came to Nebraska with his family from South Bend, Ind. locating in Tekamah, May 6, 1869, and engaged in the hotel business in the old block house, where for a time it was the stage station on the Omaha - Sioux City route, and he was the express agent and postmaster. Later he sold the hotel and bought a farm northwest of Tekamah where Mrs. Conger passed away September 17, 1879, which caused Mr. Conger to sell his farm and return to Tekamah. In the spring of 1883 he was married to Miss Maria Norris of Flint, Michigan and later in that year he moved to a farm near Valentine, Nebraska. Two daughters were born to this second union, Mrs. Jane Weich and Mrs. Margaret McCormick, both whom survive their father and were with him during his last illness their mother having passed away November 9, 1913.

The burial of Mr. Conger was made at Valentine much to the disappointment of his many old time friends in Tekamah, where his activity and wholesome influence for the uplift of humanity left monuments to his memory. He was the founder of the Presbyterian church in this city in 1869 and contributed a good share of the funds to erect the first church building in Tekamah.

Mr. Conger was also an active factor in organizing the Masonic lodge in Tekamah in November 1869 and was its first worshipful master. He was a Knights Templar Mason before he left South Bend, Ind., and became a charter member in organizing Mount Calvary commandry in Omaha, the first in Nebraska.

Mr. Conger was the first chairman of the town board of trustees in its re-organization after the Civil War, which had caused the little hamlet to become almost de-populated and had let its municipal charter lapse which was granted in 1855 by the territorial legislature.

He was also an active factor in organizing Tekamah's Cemetery in 1874 which has since become such a beauty spot. He had frequently expressed his desire to be laid to rest there beside his two wives and many friends.

The Masonic lodge in Tekamah had expected to confer special honor at the burial of its first master, but since interment occurred in Valentine, Monday, floral offerings were sent to that city for the funeral as silent tributes of respects for the worthy old pioneer.

RECOLLECTIONS: Albina Leslie Conger

The family of Silas Conger, 1800, moved to Steuben county, Indiana and settled on a farm near Salem Center, Steuben Co., IN.

Albina Leslie Conger, a daughter of Silas, was born on 27 Mar 1837 at Groton, Erie Co., OH. She married Seymour Stevens Butler on 25 Nov 1858. He was the son of Jesse and Fannie Stevens Butler, who came to Steuben county, Indiana from North Hero, VT in 1849.

Albina and Seymour Butler lived on the Butler homestead with Seymour's parents until 1867 when they bought their own place close to Salem Center. Seymour was drafted and served as a Private in Co. K, of the 29th Indiana Regiment of the Union Army in 1864. He served 8 months until a substitute was found to take his place. He returned to his farm and his growing family.

The couple had eight children, 4 of whom survived childhood: Roelif (Ruly), b. 7 Jun 1860; Loren, b. 2 Mar 1869; Silas Ora, b. 9 Sep 1871 and Fred H. Butler, b. 15 Sep 1873.

Seymour Stevens Butler died on 19 April 1882 at the age of 50.

Albina continued the farm with the aid of her sons.

Ruly married, Dora Spears, and their eight children were born in Albina's home before they purchased another place nearby. Loren, never married and Ora married Lou Stoddard after Albina's death. Fred H. became a telegrapher with the railroad and married (1) Blanche Woodford. They were the parents of Mildred and Don Butler (the father of my husband, Fred A. Butler). When Blanche died, 28 May 1907, Grandmother Albina opened her home and Mildred and Don lived on the farm until Fred H. married (2) Mae McClellan on 4 Oct 1910. There was no issue.

In 1891, Albina (Conger) Butler began her 25 years of daily diary entries to record the comings and goings of her family and her neighbors. The diaries sketch a picture of a small town in northeast Indiana at the turn of the century. Albina (Bina) recorded births, marriages and social activities of a farm community, "the Burg," as she called Salem Center, Indiana. Someone wrote in the diary everyday even if "Grandma" was ill. The diary continued until 4 days before her death on 3 Aug 1916 at the age of 79 years.

A copy of the earliest diary, 1891, is at the Fort Wayne, IN library. The rest of them, 1892-1916 were loaned to her grandson, Don Butler, in Riverside, CA while copies were typed and indexed. They were returned to her namesake granddaughter, Emily Albina (Bina) Butler Cool, born on 31 Jan 1891, who lived in Salem Center, Indiana. The diaries were later given to Emily's son, Kay Cool, and then to his daughter, Janet (Mrs. James Persey). Her last known address in 1979 was: 1620 Crescent Ave., Fort Wayne, IN 46805.

Another descendant is: Kathleen Conger Petty: P.O. Box 56, Toledo, WA 98591. She is a descendant of Albina's brother, Pembroke Conger.

Don Woodford Butler, born 3 Mar 1902, lived at: 3477 Sunnyside Drive; Riverside, CA. He had many happy memories of Grandma Butler and the farm. He was 89 years old at the time this was written.

RECOLLECTIONS: Some Diary Entries

The following excerpts from the diary of Albina (Conger) Butler pertain to her brothers, Casper Karlinski, 1827; Pembroke Sommerset, 1839; Selwyn LeRoy, 1841 and (Silas) Delmar, 1855. Mentioned often were her sisters: Nancy Bodley and Marissa Markle.

20 Apr 1891, It has been a nice warm day. Vina and I have done a large washing. Vina and I went over to see Lige tonight after supper. He says he feels the best that he has since he has been sick. Cal Myers came today, to help build slat and wire fence. Loren got done plowing, down on the Marsh tonight. Ruly has gone to Turkey Creek to Regulators meeting. It is nine years today since Seymour (husband) died. Oh how long the time seems since he went away. I don't think, or when I do think of that day -- I can't think of it as I do of the other days of my life that are passed but "that" day seems like a horrid nightmare. I can't describe it.

13 Jul 1891, Toledo, OH, Here at Delmar's. Nancy and I came over here this morning. It has been a splendid day, just warm enough to be comfortable in the house but the sun was hot. I am getting my share of strawberries, I think, for we have them every meal. We had the "best" potatoes for supper. Delmar went calling this afternoon, had a business meeting this evening but we put in a good long evening of visiting when he got home. He showed us some relics that he got in different places when he went to Europe.

13 Aug 1891, Today it looked some like rain. It is getting so dry they can hardly plow. Vina and I picked 22 quarts of blackberries today. When we got back to the Burg I got a letter from Selwyn and he has got his pension. Gets $12 a month, drew pay from June 4, 1890, and he just got a letter from Pembroke and he has got his pension too. I am so glad. Selwyn needs it so bad I expect he needs it worse than Pembroke.

13 Nov 1891, Ruly packed a barrel to send to Neb to Selwyn - we put in a large candy pail of Apple Butter and a small candy pail of Sweet Apple Jell, a bushel of walnuts and about three pecks of Hickory nuts - a few dried apples - a few dried peaches - and then all the green apples he could get in. I am going to send some Apple Butter to Delmar and Nancy (Bodley) tomorrow.

12 Jul 1904, (Was the first time Bina mentioned her brother, Casper (C.K.). It seems he never wrote, but later his two younger daughters did. Bina wrote, "Pembroke is going to start for CK's tonight. Selwyn is going to take him to Inman, (Neb).

17 Jul 1904, Selwyn went to Inman this morning and got Pembroke, he found CK quite well and he does considerable work too, does all his chores with his wives [sic] help. His two girls (Jane and Margaret) was away to school.

AKA: Called Delmar in obituary of his brother, Casper.

CHURCH_AFFILIATION-OCCUPATION: Presbyterian minister. Son, Ledlie wrote, "Father's first church, Presbyterian, Holdredge, Neb. -- two churches in Toledo, Ohio, where I was born, then Columbus Grove, Ohio and last, except for several mission churches, Portsmouth, Ohio. Am enclosing the program of the "One Hundredth Anniversary" of his church there.

"My father 'built' two churches in Toledo after the one he had in Columbus Grove. Wound up living in Mother's old family home at Clyde, Ohio, preaching in several mission churches nearby. He died in his study with pen in hand, writing a sermon." (Source: The Conger Family of America, Vol. I, p. 468 - Maxine Crowell Leonard)

DEATH: Silas Delmar Conger died in his study with pen in hand, writing a sermon. (Source: The Conger Family of America, Vol. I, p. 42a - Maxine Crowell Leonard)

RECOLLECTIONS: Ledlie William Conger sent a letter written by his father, Silas Delmar Conger, to his wife, Mary, dated 5 Aug 1916, in which he recounts the events that took place at the time of the funeral of his sister, Albina (Bina) at Salem Center, Steuben

Job Conger and Mary Keziah Thorp

25 November 2016

Co., IN. Apparently he conducted the funeral services. Excerpts of the letter:

"Helmer, Ind. (Steuben county) -- Just think -- Ora drove to Angola and back this forenoon, to Ruby's and back this afternoon, and now he starts for Angola the second time -- over 80 miles in just a few hours. I tell you, an auto is a wonder. Ora is a slow driver, too -- safe. (Ora Butler, his sister's son?)

"This forenoon I walked over an old familiar road on which I had not been since I was a boy here, 53 years ago. Mary, every foot of it brought up something or other in connection with my youth.

"I saw the place where we stripped sugar cane. Where I laid down flat on my stomach to get a drink of water at a spring and Greenwood (?) jumped into the sand close to the spring and splattered me from head to foot, and I jumped up and said, 'I'll kill you with my fist!'

"I stood at the gate where Ma bade goodbye to three of my brothers as they started for war. Stepped inside of the old school house which I attended 55 or 56 years ago. Saw the place in the school house where I was made to sit with a girl for mis-conduct, and it almost killed me. Saw the corner, where, on a last day, I made a boat (?) of green limbs. Saw the square hole in the ceiling when one time the girl teacher and we little children imagined we saw a war.

"Went to the old swimming hole. Went to the little lake in which brother Casper lost a son -- an adopted son. Went to the hill where we used to slide down hill more than half a hundred years ago and where the farmers forbade us telling us that we were making the hill too slippery. Etc., etc., etc. I have lived fifty years today. The above places are where I have never been since I was here.

"I went into the house (now abandoned) where Ma died. Went up the old cave. Looked over into the field where Pa buried a bit stove (stone?). Last night at dusk I strolled over the fields. Before I knew it I had gotten over to Conk (Conklin) Bodley's old house.

"In the house - Bina's - are Bina (Ruby's girl), and Mary, a neighbor girl. They had just finished washing the dishes. I am sitting out here in front writing. Mary, Loren is as good a pure gold. I never saw a more faithful man. I don't see one mean thing in him."

"Monday morning, August 7. [1916] The funeral is over. Bina is gone. It is lonesome here, O, so lonesome! Saw many people at the funeral yesterday whom I used to know. Came from everywhere. I wrote and read the obituary. Jessie Mansfield Emerson was there and inquired about you. One of her daughters did all the singing at the funeral, it was beautiful. She is a great singer. Kate and Florence did not get here until just before the funeral.

"I never saw such a funeral as yesterday -- everyone had an automobile. I had been thinking that we would start about 12 noon so we could get to the church in good time for the funeral at 2:30, but we did not start until about 2:15. You know we are several miles from the church but we got there in ample time. I wish that you, Ledlie and Ruth could have been here. Many invited you.

"Mary, I once used to dispise Salem Center. I tell you, all in all, it is one of the finest counties in this world. It is "wonderful" here. "Everybody" is "rich". The soil is exceedingly productive. I wish I owned Pa's old farm her. I'd be rich. There isn't a farm in Northern Indiana finer."

(Source: The Conger Family of America, Vol. I, p. 468 - Maxine Crowell Leonard)

RECOLLECTIONS:

On 1 Jun 1971, Ledlie Conger wrote to your compiler [Maxine Leonard], addressing her as follows:

"Dear Coputorized Cousin, Half-fifth three times removed: Indeed you may use my father's letter to my mother of which you write, or parts of it that you feel would be proper to print or publish.

"My father, by the way, had 13 years of college and seminary training and read in the original text Greek, Latin and Hebrew. He spoke Latin fluently and taught me the trick, as well as to read Cesar, Cicero and Virgil scanning like we all read an English newspaper. I had the fun of utterly confunding my various instructors. At 81 I have completely forgotten 'the trick' as well as Frence, but remember a bit of German so that I could, on need, get along, just a bit. Dad should have been a Roman Catholic but it was Presbyterianism he chose as a medium to expound.

"As for my health, only yesterday my heart specialist, Dr. Hooten, after a thorough annual examination, cardiograph, x-rays, gives me complete assurance that I'm equal to a 20 year old youngster and can go to Mexico City, altitude 7500, and right now, or soon, to Yugoslavia and the Greek Isles."

Ledlie Conger at this time was illustrating Ante-Bellum Georgia mansions for a publication.

RESIDENCES: John Conger, 1803, built a brick home in 1844 at Peninsula, OH. It was restored in 1969 by his great-granddaughter, Elizabeth Laura (Conger) Bender and her husband, who subsequently lived there.

BIOGRAPHY: John Conger, father of John C. [Conger], was born in September 1805 at St. Albans, VT and learned to work on the farm and the trade of making brick. He married Hannah Beals, who was a daughter of Enoch and Hannah (Hulburt) Beals, and was born in Massachusetts in 1805 on a farm, but was reared one and a half miles from St. Albans whither her parents had removed and there lived [and] died.

John Conger and wife lived in St. Albans five years, where he was employed on the farm and brickmaking. In 1833, he came to Ohio and clerked in Cleveland for Ira Jewell, where he was joined by his family, which then consisted of his wife and two children, Sidney P. and George S. the latter an infant who died at three years of age.

In 1834 he moved to Boston, Ohio and went into partnership with Silas Eaton and established a yard for the manufacturing of brick. In 1844, and for several years thereafter, he was also in company with Erastus Jackson in the manufacture of brick in the same town.

Mr. and Mrs. Conger were the parents of: Sidney P.; Sandford L.; George S.; John C.; Arthur; and Lucy.

Mr. Conger was postmaster of Boston under Polk and Pierce; also was constable and trustee. He was frequently administrator of estates, and called upon to arbitrate differences between disagreeing neighbors. He had been a captain of artillery in Vermont, was much interested in the military service in Ohio, and was one time captain of a company in this state. Politically he was a man of marked influence, was a well known pioneer, and much respected for his sterling integrity.

He died, aged forty-eight years, in 1853.

RECOLLECTIONS: From the Akron, Ohio "Beacon Journal," 22 Aug 1969 - "125 Years Old but Restored ... Historic Conger Home Even Better Than New"

Brickmaker John Conger's 125-year-old red brick house overlooking the Cuyahoga Valley is getting an elegant new lease on life.

For a year and a half restoration of Conger's house atop a hill at 6376 Riverview Road has been a labor of love for his great-granddaughter, Elizabeth (Conger) Bender. Renovation of the 1844 landmark house has also brought together a lot of modern day craftsmen.

Results of the project, as meticulously executed as a Williamsburg, VA, restoration, will be shown Sunday evening at a party given by Mrs. Bender and her husband, Henry G.

There is much to see, both old and new, in the neat red brick house with white painted wooden trim. The floors are eye-catchers. Original oak and ash wood are in the front rooms. An upstairs bedroom has a refurbished poplar floor with various shades of green. New walnut flooring and wainscoting decorate a ground level family room where a second John Conger once hung wild animal pelts. The wood came from trees on the Bender's property next door.

Workmen reglazed every window in the house. Three old fireplaces were unbricked and a fourth new one built.

"We didn't change a single wall in the house," recalls Mrs. Bender. "New walls were put in, but none taken out."

A kitchen-garage annex was built on the north side, nestled behind a gnarled arborvitae and looking as if old John Conger had made it with his own bricks. Ceilings were lowered to conceal the pipes for new plumbing and heating. On the second floor, a minitub was installed by changing a doorway, and a big clothes closet became a bathroom with shower.

Outside, near a giant catalpa tree is a stone water trough that once sat on the McDevitt property at Ohio 303 and Riverview Road in downtown, Peninsula. Inside shutters in the family room came from a Center Street house once owned by Peninsula's storekeeping family, the Woods.

Mrs. Bender is quick to credit many persons for helping with the restoration project. Planning started with Robert Hunker, North Summitt environmental design consultant and Charles Willits, Hudson architect who specializes in heritage projects. Richfieldite Buel Davidson's carpenters handled the woodwork while Elmer Luther, also of Richfield, did some brickwork.

It was a brickmaking business that John Conger started when he came from St. Albans, Vermont. He was postmaster, constable and trustee before his death at age 48 in 1853.

The next year his widow, Hannah, married his brickmaker partner, Erastus Jackson.

The last Conger to live in the house was Nellie, widow of the namesake son of the original John Conger (grandson, John Croghan Conger, 1883). The house and adjoining land were purchased by a lawyer, neighbor, Ernest Genovese, from her heirs. The Benders bought the house and grounds from Genovese two years ago after he boarded it up to protect a landmark in his hometown.

there. Nine Conger children were born there between 1868 and 1923.

Stone was used from the local quarry. Irregular fitted stones are in the foundation and there are brick pillar supports ... blue glass in trefoil of Gothic window; all glass original but one pane (where a courting cat jumped through).

Description of the front hallway: Greek Pediments, Tuscan arches over colored glass front doorway ... woodwork handcarved (not plaster cast). Doors taper as do all in house (as Greek Parthenon columns do) ... corner piece ornaments like on the Parthenon.

Exterior American Gothic; not railroad Gothic or Gingerbread. A picture of the house was in the Summit County Atlas of 1874, listed as the home of Erastus Jackson -- 2nd husband of Hannah Beals Conger.

BIOGRAPHY: A Hammond Abolitionist [Hammond, NY]

Another of Hammond's links with the past was broken on Feb. 6, 1902, when Colvin Conger died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. D.L. Sigourney, at the age of 95.

The old gentleman had been born near Malone on Aug. 20, 1807, and was brought to the Hammond area in 1819 by his parents who were pioneer settlers of the village. Soon after his marriage, about 1830, Conger moved to the vicinity of Canandaigua, NY, and he very shortly became well-known as a sort of "fire-eating Abolitionist."

At the time many leaders in both church and state were willing to go to almost any length to avoid a confrontation on the subject of human slavery. After all, even many of the so-called "Tories" who had fled to Canada during the American Revolution to form the "United Empire Loyalists" took their slaves along and handed down whole families of them to their descendants like so much real estate; and many persons feared that this question would occasion the wrenching apart of the nation into warring factions as eventually did occur in the Civil War.

Colvin Conger is remembered as one of the organizers of the abolitionist movement in the Canandaigua area and he was one of the first to introduce the question into national poliokings, Brookings, SD

"Abel Potter Conger moved to Dickinson when twelve years old and lived there the remainder of his life. He was baptized by Rev. Benjamin Bundy and united with the Freewill Baptist Church at Dickinson in 1854. About three years later he married Trephe W Winslow, who died in 1859. He later married Claria Wilson. He was the father of two sons and two daughters.

"He was noted as a home man, endeavoring to make his family happy and their surroundings pleasant. He was seldom absent from the home circle. He was a faithful attendant at religious worship until compelled by a painful disease to deprive himself of these means of grace. As far as his means would allow he dispensed with a cheerful hand for the relief of the poor and suffering. He, with his companion, was a great lover of company, which they entertained liberally. His last sickness was protracted and exceedingly painful, yet he enduring all with Christian meekness and fortitude. Just before he expired he requested his companion to read to him once more the word of God. After the reading a short prayer was offered, in which he joined and he soon after passed to the spirit land. Rev. R. Parks officiated at the funeral, assisted by Rev. Nelson Ramsdell." According to his booklet, the first three children of Job and Harriet Conger were born in Franklin county, New York. In 1847, they moved to a little settlement in Michigan's forest, known as Davison Station, locating on Section 14. "Here this courageous young couple, enduring the hardships and privations of those early pioneers, carved a home for themselves and all their children in this sparsely settled community.

"Many are the stories that have been told of their early experiences. For instance, there was the twice a year trip with ox-team to Pontiac to have wheat ground into flour. This long, tedious journey of approximately 35 miles one way took four or five days to complete.

"While on one of these trips Job Conger was thrown from his wagon and his right arm was broken, leaving him a cripple the rest of his life. Returning home from this trip, he found a pair of twin babies had been born to them.

"Hard work was no stranger in this household. Flax was grown and then followed the processing of it into linen thread from which cloth was woven. Specimens of flax and cloth are now in existence. From the cloth, Harriet Conger made clothing for her family, doing all of the sewing by hand. Sheep were also raised and their fleece of wool were cleaned, carded, etc., and finally spun into yarn from which socks and mittens were knitted for the entire family. It was from his own forge and anvil that Job shod his horses and did other blacksmithing jobs around the farm.

"Small groups of Indians often paid a friendly visit to this pioneer home, trading baskets in exchange for something the Conger household had to offer. Stories are told of the Indian women comparing their little papooses with Harriet's white papooses.

"As the years passed by, prosperity crowned the efforts of this worthy couple. The log buildings gave place to frame structures. About 1873, a beautiful new house was built and "The Old Conger Homestead" stood as a landmark until destroyed by fire in November 1928.

"Job and Harriet Conger celebrated their Golden Wedding Anniversary May 29, 1892, at which time all of their seven children and their families were present.

"Job and his wife were leaders of the community in which they lived. They were charter members of the Freewill Baptist Church, helping to build the first Baptist Church in Davison [, WI], where they were very active members as long as health permitted. He was one of a group of men who organized the first school district in that community." (Source: The Conger Family of America, Vol. I, p. 279 - Maxine Crowell Leonard)

PUBLIC_SERVICE: Captain George Parker Conger lead the posse in capturing the raiders of St. Albans, Vermont in 1864. (CFA I, p. 40a)

RECOLLECTIONS:

Capt. George P. Conger, 1st Vermont Cavalry, of St. Albans, [VT] received no little notoriety at the time of the famous St. Albans raid of Oct. 19, 1864. Capt. Conger was home on furlough at the time and when news spread around the town that the St. Albans Bank and First National Bank had been raided and the town terrorized by a group of Confederate agents, [he] dashed into the melee and attempted to shoot the leader. Failing in his efforts, he organized a group of citizens and hastily set out in pursuit. Arriving at the Canadian border, only two of his companions would follow him on to foreign soil, but with these two, he crossed the line and continued his search all night, finally capturing the leader, Lt. Young, the next morning, and turned him over to Canadian authorities.

RECOLLECTIONS: Marion (Conger) Barton wrote the following: "Family recollections and a few remaining visual evidences help give us a thumbnail sketch of Captain George Parker Conger. [Marion Grace (Conger) Barton was the great-granddaughter of George Parker Conger. REH]

George Parker Conger "had a deep and genuine concern for his country, his family, and for future generations. He gave generously of his time to church and patriotic duties, having the courage of his convictions. Feeling very strongly about the quality of man, he brought his negro horse-boy home and raised and educated him as a member of the family.

"A very religious man, he was outspoken in his beliefs, at one time standing up in church and taking exception to a statement made by the minister. A fearless man, while in the Civil War, he was ready to do battle with a much larger force but was -- perhaps fortunately -- circumvented when nephew, Warren Conger, hit his horse, forcing it over a bank into the river with everyone following -- and from which there was no return.

"The inscription on the sword given him by his men in Co. B bespeak of the esteem in which he was held, by those who worked and fought with him.

"Captain Conger left many good books dealing with the 1800's to his descendants, as well as having bought for his son's family many books he felt would be of help to them in they way of life. His will gave his son a life-lease on the home farm which was then to be divided among his grandchildren. He did his best to provide for the security of this family's future."

BIOGRAPHY: The Day Morgan's Raiders Came to Vermont

A publication entitled, "Yankee," Oct. 1966, featured a story entitled, "The Day Morgan's Raiders Came to Vermont." On 17 Oct 1864, a handsome well-dressed young man mounted the steps of the American House in St. Albans, VT. Drawing a big Navy Colt revolver from beneath his coat, he shouted: "This city is now in the possession of the Confederate States of America!"

Lt. Bennett H. Young was the man on the steps. Fourteen others participated in the raid. They had raided in Kentucky and Ohio, and their objective was to give the North a taste of what Sherman and Sheridan were giving the South. The town was thrown into panic, and two people were killed.

The real hero of the St. Albans Raid was 49 year old Capt. George Conger of the First Vermont Cavalry. As soon as he sensed trouble, he mounted his horse and galloped through the village shouting, "We have a lot of rebel raiders here! Let's catch them. Get your guns!"

His courage was contagious. In twos and threes the villagers joined him, sniping away at the raiders from windows, trees and corners of buildings. As their numbers increased, so did their bravery. They formed lines across Main Street. Morgan's Raiders knew what to do under such circumstances. Knee to knee, revolvers blazing, roaring rebel yells, they charged the lines and broke them. But, under Conger's cool leadership they reformed. Young realized the time had come to go.

Outside Sheldon, the raiders broke up into small bands and reached the border. Conger and his men crossed but captured none of them. The next day at Montreal, Young heard a rumor that seven of his men had been captured. Taking two Navy Colts, he rode back toward the border to rescue them. That evening he was captured by Captain Conger at a Canadian farm house near the border.

He served in the Civil War, enlisting at Dubuque, Iowa on 14 May 1864, Co. A, 47th Iowa Inf.

Patrick Henry Conger's great grand-daughter, Eva J. (Conger) Nichols of Rapid City, SD, claims that he was a Colonel in the Civil War.

Besides his position with Yellowstone Park, he was sent as an Indian Agent to the Yankton Sioux Tribe, now at Wagner, SD.

She wrote, "At the time of the Minnesota uprising, runners were sent to Chief War Eagle who was then living where Sioux City is today. He was told to kill all white settlers in that area, but he refused this request because his own grandchildren were part white. His daughter Dawn (Anpao) had married Theophile Brugier, a French trapper and trader, [the] parents of my grandmother, Julia Brugier.

"When Cassius M. Conger met my grandmother and became interested in her, his father quit the service to return to Dubuque, but my grandfather ran away from him at Sioux City and returned to the Yankton Indian Agency and married Julia.

"He did have a brother who died quite young and only had a sister, Mrs. Reicker of Dubuque who was a very wealthy woman. She also had tremendous holdings in Waterloo, Iowa where I believe she is buried in a Conger vault. I also seem to remember that there was some part in Waterloo named the "Conger Park" she had given it to the city." (Source: The Conger Family of America, Vol. I, p. 417 - Maxine Crowell Leonard)

OBITUARY: MRS. C.R. MORSE

The long illness from which Mrs. Charles R. Morse suffered ended in death on Wednesday evening [21 Nov 1895] at 6:30 o'clock, five months, to a day, from the beginning of her attack. During this period she frequently rallied and seemed to take a new hold on life, giving rise to hopes that she would soon recover, but for weeks before her death her physicians had no expectation that she would survive. Her suffering was very great during much of this time, and through it all she was patient and hopeful, and when she was told several weeks ago that she could not live long she calmly disposed of various objects that she had prized to different members of the family and friends.

Mary J. Conger was born in St. Lawrence Co., N.Y., in the year 1837, and was a daughter of the late Mr. Asher Conger of that county, where she grew up to womanhood. In 1861 she came to Dubuque, Iowa, where one of her sisters, Mrs. Conger, resided. Here she became acquainted with Mr. Morse and they were married in 1863, Mr. Morse being then on a furlough from service in the Twenty-first Iowa Reg. Soon after their marriage Mr. Morse returned to his regiment in Louisiana. At the close of the war Mr. and Mrs. Morse went to reside in Chicago, remaining there three years. They then came to Iowa, and lived in Waterloo until 1873 when they came to Grinnell, where their home has been since. Mrs. Morse was fully devoted to her family and to the home life, and made that the center of attraction for her husband and two daughters. In November, 1894, the family moved from their handsome home in south Grinnell into the beautiful mansion built by Mr. Morse at High Street and Fourth Avenue. The poor lady was not long to enjoy this new home in the building of which she took so much interest, for her illness began June 20th, when she took to her bed and was not again able to be about.

Mrs. Morse leaves, besides her husband, her two daughters, Mrs. Mabel Morse Clark and Miss Helen C. Morse, five sisters--Mrs. Jackman of Laurel, Mrs. P.H. Conger of Waterloo, Mrs. Elisha Wilson and Miss Charlotte Conger of St. Lawrence Co., N.Y., and Mrs. H.B. Gifford of this city--and two brothers, one in St. Lawrence Co., N.Y., and one in Minnesota.

The funeral took place at 2:30 p.m. to-day, Rev. Prof. Parker and Rev. G.H. White officiating. A quartette consisting of Mrs. Christian, Mrs. Holyoke, Mr. E.B. Brande and Mr. James Allison sang the hymns selected for the occasion. The pallbearers were Messrs. R.M. Haines, R. MacDonald, E.A. Marsh, W.J. Rapson, H.H. Robbins and J.A. Stone.

Among the relatives and friends here from abroad were Mrs. Conger and daughter of Waterloo and Mr. Rugee of Milwaukee.

Mary J. Conger and Charles R. Morse were married in 1863 in Iowa. Charles R. Morse was born on 14 Oct 1837 in Randolph, Portage Co., OH. He was buried in Apr 1905 in Grinnell, Poweshiek Co., IA, Hazelwood Cemetery. He died on 9 Apr 1905 at the age of 67 in Grinnell, Poweshiek Co., IA. Charles R. Morse

OBITUARY: CHARLES R. MORSE

Hon. Charles R. Morse was born at Randolph, Ohio, October fourteenth, 1837 and died at his home in Grinnell, Iowa, on April 9, 1905, so was in his sixty-eighth year.

When but a boy of about nineteen years he joined the army of emigrants which at that time was pouring like a flood into Iowa from the Buckeye state and made the trip across the prairies to Dubuque, enduring all the hardships which the life of the prairies had to offer to the traveler in those days. He had been there but a short time when Lincoln's call for men was sent out and he was among the early ones to respond to that call. Being a member of the regiment which was the pride of the state, the "Governor's Grays" as they were called, in which regiment his friend and neighbor H.B. Gifford was also enlisted, he went to Missouri where he served under the famous General Siegel till the time of enlistment was up. Receiving an honorable discharge he returned to his country's aid and re-enlisted with a regiment which was sent to New Orleans. Here he contracted a disease which never left him and was sent home to Dubuque where he was ill for some time.

Later he went into the grain business and at different times was concerned in business ventures at Chicago, Dubuque and Waterloo. In the early seventies Mr. Morse moved to Grinnell where he became the senior member of the grain firm of Morse and Whitney. After conducting a successful business and building one of the largest grain elevators in the central part of the state they sold out to Dudley and Cass.

A little later the Merchants National Bank was organized and Mr. Morse was elected its vice president. With the departure of Col. S.F. Cooper to California Mr. Morse became its president in which position he served it well for some years. At the time of his death he was a faithful member of its board of directors.

Since 1882 he has been a member of the banking firm of C.W.H. Beyer and Company and as such his efforts have been marked with the same success that has always attended his business dealings.

While at Dubuque Mr. Morse married Miss Mary J. Conger and to them two daughters, Mrs. Nellie Morse Rugee and Mrs. Mabel Morse Spencer, were born, the latter of whom survives him.

Last winter Mr. Morse had the misfortune to fall and injure his spine. His constitution, impaired by the disease contracted in the army, was not able to withstand the nervous complications which followed and death resulted after months of illness. Funeral services were held from the fine resident on High Street and were conducted by Prof. L.F. Parker. The services were beautifully simple in accord with the preference of the deceased. Beautiful music was furnished by a quartette composed of Mrs. W.A. Heidel, Mrs. A.B. Mack and Messrs. E.E. Brande and O.F. Parish. The remains were laid to rest in Hazelwood cemetery.

The deceased was a man who did not seek public attention and who would himself have desired no fulsome tributes after he had passed away. And indeed the best tribute to his life is in the town which he helped to build and which contains many lasting evidences of his efforts for it. He served his fellow citizens in many positions as councilman, member of the school board and mayor--in each of them he was an honor to himself and his town which he served well. Though not himself a member of the Congregational church he was broad minded enough to serve it faithfully as a member of its board of trustees in former years. The church building itself stands as a monument more lasting than any epitaph to his generous efforts as a member of the building committee. Later he again showed the same interest by acting as a member of the committee which put in the church galleries. that he was a good business man and an honest man goes without saying in this community which has known him so well and so long and which will miss his presence. The college and many other public enterprises will have cause to remember his name long for his benevolences. In his home he was kind and indulgent and the love of children and grand-children are eloquent tributes to his tenderness as a parent. He was always hospitable and cheerful in his home and enjoyed the company of his friends. The sympathy of the whole community, which has lost a prominent and a useful citizen, goes out to those who have lost a beloved relative and a kind friend.

Those present from abroad at the funeral services were: Mr. and Mrs. E.M. Spencer of Mt. Vernon, Indiana, the latter a sister of the deceased and their daughter Mrs. Mary Hart of the same place, Mr. F.P. Rugee of Milwaukee, Mrs. Ezekiel Clark of Des Moines and Miss Pauline Dobson of Kirksville, Mo.

RECOLLECTIONS:

Perrpoint, April 17th 1863

Dear Nephew Lemule,

You may think we have forgotten you but have not. We was out to Mr. Sepher's not long since Mrs. Sepher showed me your letter. We would like to have you come and make us [a] visit. Your relatives would like to see you very much. Your Aunt Diantha is living with your Uncle Samule Conger in the northern part of Wisconsin, Duran town, Pipin County, Wisconsin. They wrote to know where you and your sister Angline was and wanted you to write them. Your Uncle Seneca lives near us.

I would like very much to see [you]. I think you would like to come and see [the] place of your Mother's nativity in childhood and make us a good long visit. Work is not hard to be got. Your Uncle Sephes folks only 6 miles from us. You can come and make them a visit and make us one also.

I have four children, thre[e] boys and one girl. The oldest boys are married. Spencer was married in May, Henry in December, so I am left quite along [sic]. The boy that is left at home is 16 years of age. Mahala is 14 years of age. Your Uncle Jonas often talks of you and would like to see you. Jonas resembles your mother in looks. If you should see him you would know how she looked. I am going to write Angline. I want you to write back as soon as you get this letter so we will know where you are getting along. The times are very hard at present time, but am in hopes it will [be] better soon. Grain is very high, prudence is dear and most every thing.

I do not know exactly where Angline is. Mrs. Sepher told me she was in the Town of Granville, Kent Cko., Michigan. If she lives there now, I would like [to] have you write and let me know where she is now. Direct your letter to Ellsworth, St. Lawrence Co., N. York.

RECOLLECTIONS: Excerpts from a 1 Mar 1963 letter by Bessie (Conger) Johnson Ward, daughter of Albert Marcus Conger and Cyrene Annabel Lee.

My grandfather, Caleb Conger, was a fine Christian gentleman; in fact he was a CONGER, and that always stood for integrity and honor. He was a farmer and stock raiser, made a speciality of sheep and wool. My father told me of his taking a shipment of wool to a warehouse, and his insurance was $1.00 an hour, and when he went home he had $96,000 in a little black bag.

Their farm was some distance from the village of Willsboro, [NY], which used to be spelled, 'Willsborough.' They lived on what was called, 'The Point.' It extended to Lake Chaplaine.

My grandfather went every morning to the village and got the mail, and operated a little post office in his house. He was postmaster for years and years until he died.

My grandmother, Nancy Morehouse, came from Germany. Her folks settled in New York on what was known as the 'Dutch Patent,' which means 'land for public persual,' or a 'claim.' I believe this was in the Mohawk Valley. I never knew her, but from all I ever heard about her she must have been a wonderful kind, patient woman, and a wonderful person to the needy. When she was buried, people came from far and near to pay their respects and tell the family of her kindness to them.

went south and served until his term expired. He subsequently carried on a transportation business on Lake Champlain, and was extensively engaged in the lumber business trade between the Lake and Montreal. He erected the first circular saw mill ever put in the Adirondacks, but a half mile from where unfortunate 'John Brown's body lies mouldering in the grave.'

"Senator Conger was married in the fall of 1863, and had seven children, all natives of the state of New York. In 1879, he buried his beloved wife. He then took his children and came west. They are still with him at his home in Sherman county. He settled in Loup City, March 1, 1883.

"Until the spring of 1885 he followed stock raising and then began the practice of law, real estate, and insurance. He had studied law in New York state, and was admitted in Loup City. In 1885, Senator Conger was a member of the House, representing the 50th district, including Custer and Sherman counties.

"In November 1885, he married his second [sic, third] wife, Mrs. Clemma Frock, of Carroll county, Missouri. She is a very estimable lady, and is connected with some of the best families of that state.

"His senatorial district is the 26th, and embraces Howard, Sherman and Buffalo counties. Senator Conger is a Republican in politics, an active member in his capacity and he will ably represent his district, and honor his position in this body. He was one of Senator Paddock's warmest and most indefatigable supporters, from first to last, in the great senatorial contest of last month."

for some time at the home of an uncle, Daniel Gilmore. It was there that he met, Mrs. Susan Wright Foote who became his 2nd wife. (CFA I, p. 509)

RECOLLECTIONS:

At an early age he shipped from Newbury Port, Massachusetts, on a whaling voyage which took him into the North Atlantic, into the Mediterranean Sea, around Cape Horn touching the Sandwich Islands, the North Pacific Ocean, Japan and back again by the way of the Cape of Good Hope off the south coast of Africa, thence north on the Atlantic to the home port. During this time he was the ship's carpenter, and about seven years was spent on the cruise. [Note: William Conger was married at age 19. If he spent 7 years at sea before then, he was only about 12 years old when he left on the voyage.]

After this he went into business developing old water power, grist mill properties, improving them, operating them for a while and then placing them upon the market.

In his younger days he was a very rugged and hearty man. He was a warm-hearted man, true to his friends, and generous to all.

Early in life William Conger became a licensed exhorter of the Troy, New York Methodist Conference. He was also noted as a baritone singer -- a gift that he retained all his life.

Shortly after marriage to Susan, they settled in the vicinity of Eau Claire, WI, where William owned a large tract of timber. In 1870, this tract was badly damaged by fire, so William decided not to wait until the wood could be cut for timber. In the spring of 1871 he removed to Wells, Minnesota and engaged in bridge building, carpenter work, etc. In the fall of the same year he removed to Northwood, Worth, Iowa, where he engaged in the same line of business and remained there until his death in 1898.

During his residence at Northwood, Iowa he filled many positions of trust and endeared himself to the people by his straight forward blunt and upright manner. No one had more friends and no one one's death was more deeply mourned.

RECOLLECTIONS: Oldest Painting of Tacoma Shown

John Remember Daniel Conger was the name of a man who often appears in the history books of Tacoma, Washington.

He was the deputy city comptroller and deputy city assessor. He was adjutant of the Soldier's Home at Orting. He was adjutant general of the Custer Post, Grand Army of the Republic.

Conger was a major in the Civil War. He lived to tell about some narrow escapes while on expeditions in the South.

The colorful person of Tacoma's past died many years ago at the age of 69. But, just last week, renewed interest in his life has occurred.

It has come to light that Maj. J.R.D. Conger was a painter in addition to all of his other activities which also included being a lime company superintendent and a Lewis County farmer. A painting by the major now hangs in the Washington State Historical Museum during the historical societies showing of the latest additions to its permanent collection.

Not only is the painting artistically appealing, it also happens to be the oldest known painting depicting any site in Tacoma.

Bruce LeRoy, director of the society and museum, said there are a number of sketches of Tacoma predating this painting but no paintings that he knows of that are this old.

The Conger painting depicts the DeLinn Mill in 1869. The mill, said LeRoy, was the first industrial structure in Tacoma. It was built in the 1850s. The present site of the painting is about East 28th Street at the Puyallup River, he said.

Job Conger and Mary Keziah Thorp

The painting was given to the museum by Mrs. Molly Conger, of Tacoma, the major's daughter-in-law.

LeRoy said there may be other Conger paintings that are earlier than this one. However, it might be difficult to tell that these paintings were by Conger. LeRoy said the DeLinn Mill picture was not signed by Conger and the others -- if there are any -- probably don't bear his name either.

BIOGRAPHY:

Joseph Boyd Poindexter was born on April 14, 1869 in Canyon City, Oregon, the son of Thomas Watson Poindexter and Margaret Pitkin. He attended Ohio Wesleyan University in Delaware, Ohio and graduated with an LLB (Bachelor of Laws) degree from Washington University in St. Louis, Missouri in 1892. He was admitted to the Montana Bar Association in 1892 and practiced law in Dillon, MT from 1892 to 1897.

He married Margaret Daisy Conger, the daughter of Judge Everton J. Conger and Emma Kate Boren on April 22, 1897. Two children were born to this union, Everton Gentry (called, George) on 3 Sep 1899 in Dillon, Beaverhead Co., MT and Helen on 27 Feb 1902.

Joseph served as County Attorney for Beaverhead County, MT from 1897 to 1903 and then returned to private law practice in Dillon from 1903 to 1909. He was then appointed District Federal Judge for the 5th Judicial District and served on the bench from 1909 to 1915. He was then elected Montana Attorney General in 1915 and served until appointed U.S. Federal Judge for the District of Hawaii by President Woodrow Wilson on March 16, 1917. He served in this post until he retired to accept the appointment as Territorial Governor of Hawaii by President Franklin D. Roosevelt on January 30, 1934. This posting became effective in March 1934 for a period of four years. Poindexter was appointed to a second four year term as Territorial Governor in March 1938 and it was the latter part of this term that cause him the most mental and physical anguish.

Seventy-two year old Governor Joseph B. Poindexter was at his official residence, Washington Place, in Honolulu when the first Japanese bombs fell on Pearl Harbor on Sunday morning, December 7, 1941. His residence and his nearby office at the Iolani Palace were rocked by explosions on the ground. However, these explosions were not Japanese bombs, but rather U.S. Navy anti-aircraft shells that were mis-fired in haste and fell to the ground and exploded on impact.

At mid-day on December 7th, Lt. General Walter Short, Commanding General, U.S. Army in Hawaii, came to see Governor Poindexter and said the Territory of Hawaii should be placed under martial law. Poindexter then called President Roosevelt by phone to verify this and Roosevelt supported martial law. Nothing like this had been known on American soil since the Civil War and then only in rebellious or captured Confederate states. Governor Poindexter said later that he, "never hated doing anything so much" as imposing martial law on the people of Hawaii.

Governor Poindexter's second four year term expired in March 1942 but he was not replaced until the inauguration on August 24, 1942 of Ingram M. Stainback.

Ex-Governor Poindexter remained in Honolulu for the rest of his life and died on December 3, 1951 at the age of 82. His body was returned to Dillon, MT for final burial.

Joseph B. Poindexter was a life-long Democrat, Episcopalian, 32nd degree Mason, Shriner, and a member of the Bar Association of Hawaii and the American Bar Association. (Written by Robert Guilinger, 11 Nov 1998)

BIOGRAPHY: Joseph Boyd Poindexter, 1869-1951 Though his parents were of Virginia nativity, Joseph Boyd Poindexter was born in 1869 in Grant County, Oregon. While not the first of the clan to come to that Territory, Joseph's family was among the most progressive. His uncle, Philip Poindexter, joined forces with one William Orr, to create a cattle empire known as the P&O Ranch of California and Montana, with private holdings also in Oregon. The P&O Ranch of Montana is today known as the Matador, one of the largest and most famous still-operating cattle ranches.

Meanwhile, Joseph's father Thomas Watson Poindexter pursued a more homely brand of public notice, working as a merchant and serving for a time as Grant County Clerk. Joseph, however, was bound for higher things. When the family moved to Montana, Joseph by one account sometimes rode for his Uncle Philip. Yet his studies led him to a law degree in 1893, and then to the bar, whence he became an accomplished lawyer. He was married in 1897, opened his own law practice, and later served as Montana State Attorney General, finding his political stance with the conservative Democrats.

In 1917, President Wilson appointed Joseph Poindexter U.S. District Judge for the Territory of Hawaii. From the cold cattle ranges of Montana to the Polynesian paradise, Poindexter doubtless had little trouble adapting to his new home. A brutal blow to his happiness must have been the death of his wife in 1918, yet he continued his work with steady purpose. President Franklin D. Roosevelt recognized his administrative acumen, and Joseph B. Poindexter was appointed the first Governor of Hawaii for two full terms, March 1934 through August 1942. He was among the first to advocate Hawaii's statehood, yet that happy endeavor was interrupted by tragedy.

It was his grim fate to be in the Governor's seat one sleepy Sunday morning in December of 1941, when a distant foe visited those tropical shores with fire and death. The Japanese had attacked Pearl Harbor.

Over the years, much has been written, investigations, hearings, accusations, denials, and in today's lexicon, "Who knew what and when did they know it" relative to the attack.

Governor Poindexter had concerns about the vulnerability of Hawaii to foreign aggression. He visited Secretary of Interior Ickes (Department of the Interior was the administrative arm of the U.S. government in Territorial matters) in the summer of 1941 to protest the transfer of some of the Pacific Fleet to the Atlantic. According to Governor Poindexter, Ickes idea was "that our concern out here was with sabotage, that we should guard against the possibility of sabotage." Then and ever after Poindexter felt "very keenly that this attitude was very largely responsible for conditions" in Hawaii. The governor also recalls that Ickes continued with, "Oh, you people need not be alarmed whatever. There is going to be no attack on Hawaii. It is too far away." Time blurred the governor's recollection of all of Ickes' exact words. But this sentence stuck sharply in his mind. "The battle is on the Atlantic."

The attack on Pearl Harbor is documented through words, pictures, and experiences related by those who bore the brunt of the attack.

His voice trembling, the seventy-two year old Governor of Hawaii went on the air from his office via a KGU microphone to read a proclamation of emergency. It was less than necessary, since getting the chaos under control required martial law, which would make General Short military governor (General Short was the top Army commander in Hawaii).

As he was closing, a telephone message was handed to the governor. Short wanted him off the air; another attack was expected, and the Army wanted to shut down Honolulu's radio station to prevent the Japanese from homing in on the broadcast.

Poindexter wept. "We are going off the air for the first time. We have been under attack and the sign of the Rising Sun has been plainly seen on the underside of the planes."

Blotting out Oahu's radio signal was a good idea, but eight hours too late. Still, the governor's aides, panicking that another raid was imminent, hustled him down the stairs as soon as he completed this peroration, pushed him into a car and drove him away.

Bewildered, Poindexter thought he had said something wrong on the air and was being rushed off to house arrest.

Hawaii survived the war with fine fortitude, as did Joseph Poindexter. From 1932 to 1943 he served as president of the American Bar Association, before settling into a quieter life in his island home. Joseph Boyd Poindexter died in Honolulu in 1951. His ashes were returned to the scenes of his youth, and interred at Dillon, Montana. (Source: Howard J. Poindexter's Homepage, Feb 1999)

BIOGRAPHY: Charles Mason Conger

Charles Mason Conger, of Cody [WY], well known in newspaper circles in northwestern Wyoming, was born October 7, 1859, in Plymouth, Ohio, a son of Casper K. and Maryette (Conklin) Conger, their marriage being celebrated in Plymouth, Ohio. The father was ninety years of age on the 5th of May, 1917, and is still hale, hearty and happy.

He has in his possession a family tree showing the Congers are descendants of the Hungerford family and that his family are relatives of Edwin H. Conger of Iowa, who first came into national prominence as the United States minister to Brazil in 1897. He subsequently was appointed United States envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary to the Boxer rebellion and the siege of the foreign legations. He conducted the negotiations for the United States after the military forces of the allied powers had captured the Chinese capital and had relieved the legations. Subsequently Mr. Conger reached the highest rank in the diplomatic service when he was appointed United States ambassador to Mexico, which high office he had to resign on account of illness in 1905, when he retired to Pasadena, California, where he passed away.

Another member of the family is Judge Conger, of Montana, who had charge of the squad that succeeded in capturing J. Wilkes Booth, the assassin of President Lincoln.

Charles M. Conger was a pupil in the schools of South Bend, Indiana, following the removal of the family from Ohio to that state and continued his studies in Tekhama, Nebraska. The realities of life, however, have contained for him many valuable lessons and through the faithful performance of each day's duties he has found inspiration and encouragement for the labors of the succeeding day. Since going to Nebraska in early life he has not been east of the Missouri river has has traveled the plains from the Rocky mountains to the Pacific and the Gulf of Mexico and knows every foot of the west. When his textbooks were put aside he began learning the printing business and in that connection has steadily worked his way upward, being now a well known newspaper man of Wyoming, connected with The Park County Enterprise at Cody [WY].

In 1898, at Neligh, Nebraska, Mr. Conger was united in marriage to Miss Myrtle Catharine McDougal, a daughter of L.A. McDougal [initials of the bride's mother]. She is a lady of rare musical ability and a teacher of voice and piano. Her father was a soldier of the Civil war and participated in many important battles, after which he returned to his family in good health, having never suffered from wounds or injuries. His wife now receives a soldier's widow's pension, as Colonel McDougal departed this life some years ago at Lander, Wyoming.

Mr. and Mrs. Conger have adopted and raised a daughter, Camille.

Mr. Conger's military service came to him through connection with a cavalry company of Nebraska in an early day.

His political allegiance has always been given to the republican party and for eight years he served as postmaster. He has been a member of the town council for six years and is now serving as chairman of that body, rendering important and valuable service to his community. Fraternally he is a Mason and an Odd Fellow. He belongs to the Big Horn Basin Pioneer Associaton and in his religious faith is a Presbyterian. His long residence in Wyoming has made him largely familiar with its history and at all times he has been an active factor in promoting those projects and interests which have been of benefit to the upbuilding of the state.

NOTE: This biography is quite unusual because a good deal of the material is about people other than the subject. For example: Edwin H. Conger was Edwin Hurd Conger. He was a 3rd cousin of Charles Mason Conger. Their common ancestors were Job Conger and his wife, Lydia Coddington. The person he refers to as, Judge Conger, was Everton Judson Conger. Charles Mason Conger and Everton Judson Conger were 1st cousins, 1 generation removed. Their common ancestor was Uzziah Conger. The wife of Charles Mason Conger, Myrtle Catharine McDougal, is listed as a daughter of L.A. McDougal. Those are the initials of her mother, Lucy Arvilla (Coleman) McDougal. Her father was named, George.

BIOGRAPHY: A Canadian Conger Grain Elevator

Ira Conger, Charles B. Sanborn and W.H. Petersmeyer from the Cushing, IA area came [to Canada] by excursion train sponsored by the Luse Land Company of St. Paul, MN. They traveled up the Soo Line Railroad up to Moose Jaw in 1904 and 1905. ... They were attracted to reports of rich soil and the endless flat prairie of the Regina plains. In 1905, they purchased farmland at Rouleau, Drinkwater and Pence. The men correctly assumed that a marketplace for grain would be needed. Conger, Sanborn and Petersmeyer organized a grain and lumber business named Conger and Company, Ltd. with the head office located in Rouleau. In 1905 a grain elevator was constructed in Drinkwater. In 1906 an elevator was constructed in Rouleau and a lumberyard in Drinkwater. In 1907, they constructed a lumberyard in Rouleau. Storage sheds for oats were built in Rouleau in 1905 and 1906. The elevator and lumber yard continued under the original until 1924 when the company was dissolved. ... The elevator operated in Rouleau under the Conger Sanborn name from 1924-1963. It was later demolished. The Congers returned to Iowa in 1924.

HISTORY:

CONGER ARRIVES FROM THE ORIENT
WILL LEAVE IMMEDIATELY FOR MEXICO
TALKS OF NEUTRALITY CASE

Says China Has Always Adhered Strictly to the Requirements of International Law
By Associated Press.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 14 [1905].-

E.H. Conger, formerly American minister to China and who was recently appointed ambassador to Mexico, arrived today on the steamer Siberia from the Orient. Mrs. Conger accompanied him. It is Mr. Conger's intention to proceed almost immediately to the City of Mexico, unless he receives orders to the contrary, but Mrs. Conger will first return to her home at Des Moines, Iowa.

Mr. Conger said that he left diplomatic matters in China in a very satisfactory condition. On the question of China's neutrality in the Russo-Japan-ese war he said:

"China has always been disposed to maintain the strictest neutrality between warring nations and although there has been considerable criticism from both Japanese and Russian sources, I believe that the Chinese government has never shown partiality one way or the other but has always adhered strictly to the requirements of International law."

Mr. Conger was asked concerning the periodic rumors of another boxer uprising and replied:

"There is absolutely no truth in such reports. There is no danger of another boxer outbreak. Of course there are occasional troubles in the interior, but they arise from purely local causes which have no bearing whatever upon the presence of foreigners. There is no organized movement in China against the foreign people. There never has been a time in the history of the country when the government was more ready, or better prepared to put down any incipient organized effort that might be directed against resident foreigners."

PARENTS: Lucien West Conger and Elizabeth Everett Brown

BIOGRAPHY: History of Northeast Missouri - Walter Williams, ED, Vol. II Clarence LaForest Conger, postmaster of Unionville, Putnam county, Missouri, was born on June 16, 1855 in Galesburg, Illinois, and is the son of Lucien W. and Elizabeth (Everett) Conger.

The father was born in 1823 in New York state and is the son of Uzziah Conger of the same place, a man of German ancestry. (This is debatable and inconclusive.) He migrated from his native state of Illinois in 1839, and settled on a farm near Galesburg with his family.

Lucien W. Conger did not establish his home in Unionville until 1873 and in that year he organized the first bank ever established in Putnam county, that institution being named the Putnam County Bank. In recent years it has merged with the Marshall National Bank. Mr. Conger was officially connected with the bank until 1878, when he retired from active business pursuits. He died in 1902.

There were three children born to Lucien Conger and his wife, namely: Emma N.H. of Orange CA; Laura Cordelia, the wife of R.H. Spicer of Viola, IL and Clarence of this brief review.

Lucien W. was reared in the state of Illinois and there married Elizabeth Everett. For a number of years they moved about considerably, before they finally became established in Unionville. For 3 years after their marriage they lived in Peoria, then returned to Galesburg for a year, whereupon they moved to Kewanee, and in 1866 to Chicago. BIOGRAPHY:

John C. Conger, our subject, received a good common education in the district school of Boston, Ohio and learned brickmaking and farming.

He enlisted, aged twenty years, at Peninsula, Boston township, [OH], August 10, 1861, in Capt. George A. Purrington's Company A, Second Ohio Cavalry, for three years, or during the war, and was honorably discharged at Columbus, Ohio on April 8, 1863, for disability and injury to his eyesight. His service was in southern Kansas and in the Indian Territory and on scouting duty in Arkansas, Kansas and southwestern Missouri and Kansas, after the guerilla Quantrell and Gen. Price and in fights at Newtonia, Neosha, Sarcoxie, Lone Jack and in many skirmishes with the guerillas -- all very dangerous service.

The first fight Mr. Conger was in, was at Independence, MO with Quantrill's men, among whom were the notorious James brothers. Mr. Conger was taken sick in the Indian Territory while on the Indian Expedition to re-instate the Union Cherokee. He was on this expedition four months and was in several fights. His eyes began to trouble him, inflammation set in, and he was nearly blind for five months, but remained on duty, and finally, after reaching Ohio, was in the hospital two months, but his sight not returning, he was discharged, and it was nearly two years before he recovered.

In the meantime, he had been promoted, on the organization of his company, to be a quartermaster-sergeant, and served in this capacity until discharged. He was always an active soldier until disabled and was in all the campaigns, marches, battles and skirmishes in which his company was engaged. This service was very severe and wearisome, it being in a new country, very sparsely settled, covered with heavy oak thickets in Missouri, and in Kansas bad water and hard winds prevailing.

Mr. Conger was always prompt and cheerful in the discharge of his duty and was never wounded nor a prisoner. After the war, he returned to Ohio and engaged in farming, and September 17, 1867, he married, in Boston township, on the farm where he now lives, Eunice M. Stillman, born in Potter Hill, R.I., January 23, 1844, daughter of Ephraim and Pamela (Potter) Stillman.

Mr. and Mrs. Conger settled on their present farm of 135 acres, and have erected a tasteful residence and other buildings.

The[ir] children are: Fannie S.; Luen J.; Elmer B.; Pamela P.; Mary G.; John C., Jr.; and Emily. All the children are well educated and are highly respected. Elmer and Pamela are graduates of the Peninsula High School, Elmer of the class of 1894 and Pamela of the class of 1896 and Miss Mary will finish in the class of 1899; also John C. Jr. will graduate in the same class.

In politics, Mr. Conger is a Republican, cast his first presidential vote for Abraham Lincoln, and has served as township trustee and township clerk, has been a member of the school board ten years in succession, and a member of the council at Peninsula ten years. Mr. and Mrs. Conger are Seventh Day Adventists, and members of the city of Akron church. Fraternally he is a Royal Arch Mason of Richfield, Ohio and of Hudson; also of George L. Waterman Post, G.A.R. 272, of which he was a charter member and adjutant many years. Mr. Conger is a man of strict integrity of character and stands high as a citizen and belongs to one of the best families of the county.

BIOGRAPHY:

Arthur Latham Conger was a scion of a sterling old pioneer family of Ohio, born in Boston Twp., Summit County on 19 Feb 1838. His parents, John and Hannah Beals Conger, were natives of the state of Vermont, and both were descended from Revolutionary ancestry. They were honest, hospitable, hard-working people, who came to Summit County in an early day and through their industry and good management became well established.

On the farm home, Arthur Latham Conger spent his boyhood years and received a meager education, in the rural schools of the neighborhood. While still a mere boy he began supporting himself by working in a brick yard for ten cents per day. Though early deprived of the educational facilities that he so ardently desired, he largely made up for this lack by persistent study at home during his leisure moments, thus forming habits of study which remained one of his notable characteristics throughout his life.

So well did he equip himself, that he was qualified to teach school. He also spent two years in canal boating. When the Civil War broke out he evinced his patriotism and loyalty by enlisting in 1862 in Co. G, 115th Reg., Ohio Inf, of which he was elected 2nd Lieutenant. Later he was promoted to 1st Lt., and finally was placed in command of his company. For the years he saw service with the Army of Cumberland, he won the confidence of his men, and the approval of his superior officers. General Thomas, who commanded the great army, recommended him for promotion to the rank of Captain and commissary of subsistence, but the war ended before his appointment could be confirmed.

He served efficiently at Asst. Adj. General and Provost Marshall of Covington, KY and as assistant inspector of railroad defenses under James R. Willett. He received an honorable discharge and returned home, and thereafter gave his attention to civil pursuits.

In 1866, Col. Conger was elected treasurer of Summit County and was re-elected at the expiration of his first term. Desiring to enter upon a business career, he moved to Akron, Ohio, in 1867, and soon became identified with various businesses. In 1870, he became a stock holder and director of the Whiteman and Miles Mfg. Company. At the close of his service as County Treasurer, he became a traveling salesman for the company. In 1876, he was elected vice-president.

In 1877, Whiteman and Miles Co., consolidated with George Barnes and Co. of Syracuse, NY, under the name of Whiteman and Barnes Mfg. Co., and of this concern Mr. Conger was elected vice-president, and later president, which position he held until 1888. In 1890, he became president of the Akron Steam Forge Co., which was afterward moved to Muncie, IN. He was also largely interested in the American Strawboard Co., the Enterprise Mfg. Co., and the Thomas Lumbering and Building Co.

He was also one of the largest stock holders and president of the Diamond Plate Glass Co. of Kokomo, IN; the Elwood Tin Plate Co. of Elwood, IN; and the Hartford Glass Co. Eventually he was one of the organizers of the Plate Glass Trust, into which the Diamond Plate Glass Company was merged, and he became director of the consolidated company.

He was also interested financially in the Zanesville Street Railway Company and was one of the organizers of the American Harvesting Machine Company and served as president of the National Association of Agricultural Implement and Vehicle Manufacturers. He was a director of the Second National Bank of Akron, Ohio and was interested in the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Co., the Akron Woolen and Felt Co., various street railway systems, and most every important industry in Akron, Ohio.

Mr. Conger was one of the promoters of the Pittsburgh and Akron Railroad, a director of the Cleveland, Akron and Columbus Railroad and was associated with the late Senator Calvin S. Brice in the purchase of the Pittsburgh, Akron and Wheeling Railroad, being interested in Mr. Brice's scheme to secure an East and West front-line through Akron.

Arthur Latham Conger was the founder of the S.S. Still College of Osteopathy at Des Moines, Iowa. This, like all of his undertakings, proved to be a great success and he became the editor of the Cosmopolitan Osteopathy.

Col. Conger never relinquished his interest in military matters. He became influential in the work of the Grand Army of the Republic, of which he was a Department Commander in 1886. He was a member of the military order of the Loyal Legion of the United States. He was prominent in the States Militia, and in 1884 was commissioned a Colonel of the 8th Regiment, Ohio National Guard. He was a member of the Masonic Order having attained the Knight Templars Degree, in the York rite, and the 32nd degree in the Scottish rite.

He was a member of the Episcopal Church. For several years he was president of the Akron Charity Association, placing the same on a good financial basis.

Col. Conger was active in political matters, as he was in business. He was one of the National Leaders of the Republican Party, wielding a wide influence in the middle west. His advice was frequently sought by candidates for office, high or low. And his counsel was followed with gratifying results. For a period of twenty years, he was chairman of the Summit County Republican Committee, during which time he was largely responsible for the success of the party. He was chairman of the State Central Committee 1880 and 1882, and was several times chairman of the State Executive Committee.

In 1884, and again in 1888, he was the Ohio member of the Republican National Committee, and had much to do in directing these two important campaigns. He was always a delegate to Republican local, state, and national conventions, and was always a leader, making his influence felt for the good of his party, in all the gatherings which he attended, from county caucuses to the great national conventions.

He enjoyed a close personal friendship with many of the leading men of the nation, such as James B. Blaine, Joseph B. Foraker, William McKinley, J.S. Clarkson, Joseph H. Manley and other leaders in the Republican Party.

He also served as a member of the staff of Gov. Asa Bushnell.

They lived on Fairfield Street, across from St. Mary's Church, where a convent now stands. They moved to the farm in Georgia [VT] when Steve was about 23 years old. The deed is dated December 1869.

When Capt. Conger married his third wife, Catherine, he went to live at the Center in her house. Stephen was given a life lease on the home farm, with the understanding that everything was to be divided among the grandchildren when Stephen died.

Stephen was named after his father, George, and his mother's brother, Stephen Basford. (Source: The Conger Family of America, Vol. I, p. 476 - Maxine Crowell Leonard)

No reason for his action is given other than poor health, relatives stating that he had been in a despondent mood for some time past.

Mr. Conger who was about 64 years of age, had been suffering with a hacking cough and had said to his wife that it was his belief that the cough would kill him. However, yesterday morning he was in his usual health and went to his shop to complete the work of setting up, or stuffing, two ducks. Mr. Conger's occupation being that of taxidermist, for which work he was known throughout the state.

When his wife went to the shop to discuss the noon menu she found this notice on the door: "Dear Clarkie: Don't come in her alone. Send for help. I am going away forever. Don't feel too badly for I shall be at rest. Billy."

The evening before he had written a long letter to her of endearment and consolation -- touched upon personal affairs in a business way, instructions about caring for their poultry, with keys labeled and feed measured out in readiness to be fed as she new

Mrs. Conger, not only the oldest member of the home but also of Marshall county, also has another distinction; she has lived in what is not Marshall county for 90 years, probably longer than any other person.

She was born, Mary Hands, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Hands, March 12th, 1837, near Pittsburgh, PA. When 4 years old she moved with her parents to Ohio and when she was 10 years old they came to this part of Iowa. The family settled on a farm eight miles north of the present city of Marshalltown and that was Mrs. Conger's home until she entered the state institution here Oct. 14, 1930.

At the age of 17, Mary Hands became the wife of W.P. Conger, who served in Co. H, Illinois Infantry, during the Civil War.

They were the parents of 11 children, of whom four are still living. They are: Dave Conger, 302 South First Street; Calvin Conger, 511 West South Street; and Pearl Conger

Mrs. Conger's physical condition is so good that one might easily mistake her for a woman of 70 or less. She does not wear glasses, can hear well and moves around as spryly as any person 40 years her junior. Her mind is bright and alert and she takes a lively interest in all things about her.

OBITUARY: BENJAMIN C. CONGER

Benjamin Cortis Conger was born at Wilkesville, PA. March 17, 1839. He passed away at his home in this city at 4am December 25, 1928. His age was eighty-eight years, ten months and twenty-three days. He was a son of Calvin Conger and Aranda Horton Conger.

While a small boy, he moved with the family to Wyanet, IL., where he grew to manhood. He was married, at Marshalltown, IA., to Miss Altana Hand in 1861. They resided at Wyanet for a few years, then moved to Marshalltown. Some years later, they moved to Jefferson county, Nebraska, where they remained for forty-two years. Most of that time they lived on a farm. The last ten years of that period were spent in Harbine. Ten years ago, they moved to Beatrice and this city has been their home continuously since that time.

He served as a soldier in the Union army during the Civil war, enlisting in 1863 at Wyanet. He had the unusual experience of serving as a guard over the body of Abraham Lincoln when it lay in state at Springfield. He also accompanied the body to its last resting place.

He leaves his aged wife, Mrs. Altana Conger; four children, Mrs. Sarah Sisler of Fairbury, Mrs. Emma Oakes of Beatrice, Mrs. T. C. Rand of Beatrice, and Elmer Conger of Edgar, Nebraska; four brothers and sisters, Mrs. Susan [Moran] and Will Conger of Princeton, IL., Washington Conger of Marshalltown, IA., and Mrs. Mattie Sharp of Waterloo, IA.; nine grandchildren and three great great grandchildren.

Mr. Conger was a life long member of the United Brethren church. He was a good Christian man. He was a kind and loving husband and father, always thoughtful of the welfare of his wife and children. He was especially patient during his long period of illness.

Mr. Conger was a hard working man. He shared the experiences that were common among the pioneers a half century ago. Many friends living in the communities where he was best known, join sympathetically in the sorrow caused by his death. His last illness covered a period of about seven weeks.

The funeral service was held at the home, Thursday afternoon, December 27. Rev. C. O. Stuckenbruck had charge of the service. He was assisted by Rev. C. W. Olewine. Music was furnished by Mrs. H. Baker and Mrs. M. S. Calvin. Interment was in Evergreen Home cemetery.

"A precious one from us has gone,
A voice we loved is stilled;
A place is vacant in our home,
That never can be filled."

RECOLLECTIONS: SISLER HISTORY from 1921 by Mrs. Walter Vernon (Leona) Sisler - Distributed at the Sisler Family reunion, August 7, 1977 at Fairbury, Nebraska

When I met Grandma (Altania) and Grandpa (Benjamin) Conger sometime early in 1921, they were both 85 years old. The loveliest old couple anyone could ever meet. I hoped at that time Walter and I would be able to grow old together like that. Grandpa Conger was a retired farmer, living in Harbine, Nebraska, at that time. Later they moved to Beatrice where he passed away about 1923 at age 87. Grandma Conger then moved to Fairbury and lived to celebrate her 91st birthday. To this union were born four children: SARAH, EMMY, ELMER and DELLA. SARAH ANN, the oldest, we will leave until last as most of us are her descendants.

A daughter EMMY - married Loren Oakes; both deceased and buried in Fairbury cemetery.

Society, Bop 4-EEE, Anchorage, Alaska 99509, from where copies may be obtained for $9.95. Marlene has granted permission to use the picture and excerpts of one of the letters. Her father is (Martin) Clifford Conger.

Horace Samuel Conger, a 34-year old pharmacist from Minnesota, reacted to the exciting news of the Klondike gold discovery in a manner characteristic of thousands of others; he gave up a good position to seek his fortune in the wilderness regions of the Far North.

He was born on a farm in Franklin Co., NY on 20 Jun 1863. When he was 10 his father drowned in the St. Lawrence River, and one year later his mother died. He then went to live with relatives in Elyria, OH and at the age of 16 he was sent to live with a bachelor uncle on a ranch in Utah. He received his education at the California State Normal School at San Jose and then returned to the ranch. After his uncle's death in 1889, Horace went East, visiting his brother, Leonard E. in Mora, MN. [Note: The uncle he lived with was probably his uncle, Horace Conger, whose date of death is listed in CFA as, 5 Nov 1889, with no place specified. His other uncles didn't die in 1889. REH] In 1892 Horace joined Leonard in the pharmaceutical business. Two years later Horace married Elizabeth Blank, a teacher in the Mora Public Schools. The brothers then dissolved the partnership and Leonard opened his own drugstore at Kasota, MN. In early 1898 he sold his business to finance a trip to Alaska. During his 19-month absence, his wife and two children (Lila and Clifford) returned to Mora to be near relatives.

On 10 Apr 1899 he sprained his right ankle. He managed to hobble about a quarter of a mile, but became weak and exhausted and fell by the wayside. A man found him, placed him on a sled and took him into camp nearly frozen to death. His ankle was badly swollen and inflamed. He treated himself with hot water compress.

Since they were moving the camp every three days he had to be hauled on a sled, with the mercury 20 degrees below. He was pulled a distance of over 50 miles.

He wrote, "On account of improper treatment, exposure, and anxiety, scurvy set in and for 3 months I battled with the grim monster. Not on account of remedies, kindness and good care (for I had none) do I attribute my recovery, but to my prayers and faith in Christ Jesus. He alone carried me over the yawning chasm of death and preserved my life. I managed to move around the tent with the use of a cane and crutch. Had to wait on myself. When my leg was black and swollen to bursting above the knee, and shooting pains in the abdomen and back, the most critical stage, my two partners went off prospecting for a week and left me alone, knowing I might die any hour. Such is life in the interior of Alaska. Man becomes a fiend and a wild beast in his base endeavors to grab on to the filthy lucre."

He claimed he did not take more than $20 from the ground all the time he was there. Though he failed to find gold in Alaska, he achieved success later in Minnesota as a businessman and civic leader. He returned to Minnesota on 19 Sep 1899, in broken health and nearly penniless, and found employment in his brother's drugstore until opening his own at Ogilvie in 1902.

RECOLLECTIONS:

Minneota, May the 18th 1885

Dear Niece [written to Ella Lewis]

I got your last letter last friday and your other also. It is true I was not very well and you must excuse me. My health is pretty good now and I hope these few lines will find you all the same. We had snow and frost about the same time you did there. We are having find [sic] pleasant weather now. You think it must be lonely out here. It is a part of wind wears the snow all out and what is left is piled up here and there. I can not describe it so you would know much about it. Sometimes the snow blows so you cannot see where to step. We have no woods here. It is all prairie. You could stand here and see ever so many miles away and see patches of trees set out with a house by it. They look like islands in the ocean. When the grass gets grown, it looks like great meadows and grain fields then it is a beautiful place to see. I will tell you when the lonely comes. It is in a cold winters night when the ground is covered with snow and the sky looks white like the snow. It looks as though we were entirely covered with snow. There is not much fruit a growing here yet and there is no wildberries growing near enough for me to gather. We have a few strawberries and apple trees commencing to bear and currant bushes. We have black and red raspberries bushes set out and goose berry bushes. They have not had any berries on them yet. We have plenty of wild geese and ducks here in the Spring, and some in the Summer time and a Creek full of Fish. We do not have much four-footed game here. These have been frightened away.

I had quite a family of Brothers and Sisters. The oldest was a girl named Charlotte. Is dead. Married and had 2 children. Next a boy named Seneca. Was married and had 2 children. Is not living in York State with his Daughter. Is 83 years old. Is well. The next 3 were boys. Died young. Next a girl, Sarah, She was your Grandmother, your father's mother. Next, a boy named, Jonas. Was married [and] had 4 Children. Is dead. He also lived in York State. Next was Ruth. Was married. Had 4 children. Her oldest is dead. Her name was Clarrisa, then Aaron and next Sarah. Both married. The youngest is Charlotte. She married a man by the name of Adams. I am living with her.

I am your ever loving Aunt Diantha.

RELATIONSHIP: Letter writer, Miss Diantha Bancroft, sister of Ruth (Bancroft) Conger (wife of Samuel), was living with her niece, Charlotte (Conger) Adams, on 18 May 1885 when she wrote this letter to nephew Lemuel Lewis, b. 18 Sep 1840, the son of her sister, Sara [Sarah] Bancroft and brother-in-law, Lemuel Lewis. The second paragraph of the letter corrects an error in "The Conger Family of America," when she clearly states that the mother of her niece, Charlotte, was named, Ruth. Diantha's sister, Sarah Bancroft, married Lemuel Lewis.

BIOGRAPHY:

Albert Marcus Conger attended Fort Edward College. One day while at home he was working in the garden. He stopped, leaned on his hoe, and decided to enlist. The records show, Albert M. Conger, Private of Co. F, 118th Inf. Regt., New York Volunteers, enlisted 11 Aug 1862; honorably discharged and mustered out 14 June 1865.

He knew the pangs of hunger and thirst in the dismal swamp; the weakness of dysentery, the shelter of a snow drift; suffered from sun stroke and left on the field for dead.

On Sunday morning, May 16th, the battle of Drury's Bluff was fought. They misunderstood orders; the two flanks retreated. The Cavalry closed in around the center and he was wounded and captured. He went through many trials.

He was put in a pen with no roof, then to what they called "Castle Thunder," which was an old cellar where the wounded lay on boards with sticks in their hands to fight off the rats. Finally he was taken to Libby Prison, where he was a prisoner for three months. Libby Prison was an old tobacco warehouse. They used to soak tobacco in water to mop a space on the floor, lay down for a rest ahead of the vermin.

Smallpox broke out, and many died. Their rations were mostly small pieces of corn bread, often with whole kernels of corn in it. He often shared his with some that were ravenous for food, and said many times he had closed the eyes of boys whose last words were asking for food.

When he was released he went through the main street of Baltimore clad in an old undershirt with sleeves partly torn off, and the old under-drawers with legs torn off, one above the knee. He was never bitter. He said, "The South could not give what they did not have."

He was later a guard at the White House, and said that Mr. Lincoln used to come out often in the middle of the night. He would pace back and forth, and would stop and ask if they were getting enough food.

RESEARCHER:

Charles Leslie Conger, born on 17 Jan 1869 in Eau Clair, Eau Clair county, WI, compiled the bulk of the Conger material now existing. It appears that he spent thousands of dollars to have research done, and it is said he died a poor man, although he had been a banker. He died in 1934 when the country was still feeling the effects of the 1929 "Crash". His only son, William Lloyd Conger, had but one child, Jean, who died unmarried.

Charles L. Conger wrote a letter dated, 23 Feb 1932, to Clement Ellis Conger in which he said he intended to place his records with the New Jersey Historical Society. He added, "I have not done much to add to the records in the past twenty years and there are other sources of information that I would like to tap, but I guess it is out of the question. Among my other so-called troubles is my eyesight that is failing me so much that I can hardly see to read large print (can not read newspapers, except the headlines) and glasses will not help. However, I am not kicking. My race is nearly over and I have had a very good time on this earth until recently." He died two years later on 2 Jun 1934 at McIntosh, Polk county, MN at the age of 65.

Another letter to Clement Conger, dated 20 Mar 1932, reads, in part, "I wish the first time that you go to The Congressional Library in Washington that you would ascertain for me whether or not they would be interested in unpublished manuscripts such as I have, regarding the Conger family. I have three copies of my work, one which I have always wanted to place with The Historical Society of New Jersey, one copy in the Newbury Library in Chicago and if there is a genealogical department in the Congressional Library at Washington I should like to place a copy there. I have a large amount of data all classified and in fairly good condition."

Clement E. Conger adds a note of humor to this as he wrote on 26 May 1970, "It would amuse you to know that when I took the Conger genealogy book to the head of the Genealogy Section of the Library of Congress many years ago, he asked me how many Congers were in the book. I made a trivial remark that we Congers were like rabbits because in ten generations there were 25,000 people in the book. The head of the Genealogy Department replied the Congers had not done their duty. In ten generations the average American family is 35,000 people. He was so delighted with all this work that the book was placed in the Rare Book Section where, I presume, it may be consulted at any time.

Charles L. [Leslie] Conger

Charles L. Conger, cashier of the Citizens State bank at McIntosh, [Minnesota,] was born at Eau Claire, Wisconsin, January 17, 1869, the son of William and Susan (Wright) Conger. He is the descendant of revolutionary and colonial stock, the Congers having been soldiers and patriots since the settling of the colonies by England, the residence of the family dating from 1640. In 1667 a John Conger located on land in New Jersey, near Woodbridge, and about a century later, in 1770, Gershom Conger, the great-grandfather of Charles L. Conger, removed from that state to Vermont. He was one of the followers of the Quaker faith who by their sturdy qualities played such an important part in the building of the nation, but despite his religious beliefs gave valiant service during the war for independence and died in Vermont in 1835.

His son, Asher Conger, was born in Danby, Vermont, in 1799 and his death occurred in 1852, in his native town, which was also the birthplace of his son, William Conger, who was born November 10, 1819. The latter went to Wisconsin in 1867, two years before the birth of his son, Charles Conger, and later removed to Northwood, Iowa, where he died on August 16, 1898. He is survived by his wife, a native of Utica, New York, born May 19, 1835. She now makes her home with J.P. Foote of Crookston, who is her son by a previous marriage.

Charles L. Conger was two years of age when the family removed to Northwood, Iowa, and was reared and educated in that place. In September, 1891, he came to Crookston, where his half-brother, Mr. Foote, resided, and in the same month secured the position of assistant cashier in the Citizens State bank of McIntosh, of which Mr. Foote is president.

Mr. Conger has since devoted his business career to the able discharge of his duties as cashier, his successful association with this institution winning him recognition in the financial circles of this section.

The position of assistant cashier of the Citizens State bank has fitted a number of the influential bankers of the state for more important positions; among the former occupants of these positions are, Alfred Hoel, now vice president of the First National bank at Gilbert; First National of Biwabik, Minnesota, and State Bank of Arura, Minnesota; Charles Hoel, cashier of the Miner's National bank at Eveleth; A.J. Hoel, assistant cashier of the First National bank at Cass Lake; A.I. Solberg, cashier of the Farmers State bank at Winger, and T.A. Thompson, who was the first assistant cashier appointed in the McIntosh bank and has held the office of registrar of deeds of Polk county for ten years.

Mr. Conger is further identified with the business interests of the county as a landowner and farmer and is the proprietor of two farms, of 240 and 160 acres, and several tracts of land in St. Louis and farm lands in Pennington counties. He takes great interest in the management and the direction of the work of improvement of his farms, which are occupied by tenants. He is a member of the Democratic party and is widely known for his services in the political field and is active in conventions and in the direction of party affairs, he has never sought the honors of office, but has served as mayor for the past seven years and as treasurer for the past fourteen years, and has also served on the school board. He was appointed by Governor Hammond to the board of visitors to the state institutions but recently resigned from his membership in that body.

Mr. Conger's favorite recreation is a good game of the national diversion of baseball, which he enjoys from the standpoint of a former player, and he has given his support and influence to the encouragement of local enthusiasm and the home team.

In fraternal circles he was one of the organizers of the local lodge of the Knights of Pythias and is Past Chancellor and a member of the Grand Lodge. He is a Royal Arch Mason and a member of the Elks lodge at Crookston.

Mr. Conger was married at Litchfield, to Leona Halverson, and her death occurred on September 14, 1902. His second marriage was solemnized with Louise A. Heiser of Albert Lea, Minnesota, December 8, 1903. He has one child, William L. Conger, who was born in 1901 and is a student in the junior year of the McIntosh high school.

Mr. Conger is a member of the board of managers of the Minnesota Society of the Sons of the Revolution. He is also a member of the executive council of the State Bankers association from the Ninth congressional district, and has served as president of the Ninth district group of bankers. He also served as vice president and director of the Northern Minnesota Development association and as president of the Commercial club.

[Note: Paragraph breaks added by researcher, Richard E. Henthorn on 24 July 2013. Mr. Henthorn makes the observation that the paragraph listing the other assistant cashiers of the Citizens State bank is very unusual in this type of biographical sketch.]

RECOLLECTIONS: In 1977, he wrote:

Recently, I was on a trip which involved a couple of free days in Salt Lake City. While there I spent most of my time studying in the LDS library. While the Mormons might have been a bit surprised to learn who this strange old fat and bald headed man was, for me it was a pretty exciting experience to trace my roots back to John Belconger. My most interesting discovery was in the microfilmed records of the family where I ran across a letter written around 1902, or so, by a Great aunt Zilpha (sister of my grandfather, John Remember Daniel Conger). It was the first news I had that I even had a great aunt Zilpha.

As you might suspect, I have only recently become interested in the history of our family. While my father told me various legends about our Huguenot origins, I am beginning to realize that these well meaning stories were perhaps more fiction than fact. It was both surprising and gratifying to discover at this late date how much work has already been done in researching our family's origins.

In your kind letter you mentioned my grandfather's painting of a pioneer scene in Tacoma. I remember this painting very well. Throughout my boyhood it used to hang in the front hallway of our family home. After the death of my parents it was given to my Uncle George and after his death to the Washington State Historical Museum.

I was raised in Fircrest, a suburb of Tacoma, and graduated from Stadium High in 1939. About a year before graduation, entirely alone, I became a convert to the Catholic Church. I then had four years of college and four years of theology at St. Edward's Seminary, Kenmore, WA, and was ordained to the priesthood on May 31, 1947.

My more than thirty years as a priest have been happy years. I have served in several parishes here in the Archdiocese of Seattle (western Washington) and for the past eight years or so have been pastor of Our Lady Star of the Sea Church, Bremerton, Washington.

BIOGRAPHY: Miss Conger's Style Still Steals Show After 33 Years
Anybody who thought Miss Maybelle Conger would be speechless Saturday at her retirement party didn't know her very well.

In the "Miss Conger" style known to two generations of Oklahoma City students, she stole the show as 200 of those former students feted her.

Seated in a canvas-backed director's chair on the stage of the small auditorium in Oklahoma City University's Fine Arts Center, Miss Conger accepted gifts and kind words while calling loud hellos to the friends who surrounded her.

She graduated from Central High School (then, Oklahoma High School) and in 1937, returned there as a teacher of speech and drama.

"Miss Conger remains the hell raising-est teacher that ever stormed the halls of Central High School," declared Gene Dillehay, the master of ceremonies, and the audience cheered its agreement.

Job Conger and Mary Keziah Thorp

25 November 2016

"Which, I might add, is what it took to teach anything to the likes of you and me," he added, and was met with a new round of cheers.

"Today," he continued, "we do the talking and Miss Conger does the listening."

"You wanta bet?" asked Miss Conger in a voice that steamrolled through the room.

Miss Conger had known that some of her students would go far, and the home towns of those attending the party proved it.

Newcomb S. Hayes, class of '46, was there from Anchorage, Alaska, and others had come from Texas and Colorado, Louisiana and Pennsylvania, Ohio and a dozen cities in Oklahoma.

Jim Johnson, director of secondary education for the public schools, read a proclamation from Mayor Norick naming Saturday "Maybelle Conger Day."

Dr. Dolphus Whitten, president of OCU, cited her with a distinguished alumnus award, noting that she had made "a significant contribution to the youth of Oklahoma City."

He said "those who have been proteges of Maybelle are a little bit different," paused while Miss Conger's proteges laughed, then noted seriously that he was sorry he had not had their advantage.

Curt Schwartz, former head of the Oklahoma Arts and Humanities Council, engineered the party and kept it rolling full-speed ahead -- the style to which Miss Conger had made them all accustomed.

As former students stood to be recognized (or not recognized after so many years) as the actors and actresses from near-forgotten senior and junior class plays, Miss Conger called nearly everyone by name.

A special alumni was David Black, now a successful celebrity accompanist in California, who flew back especially for the event.

25 November 2016

While the program was underway, students who hadn't seen one another since graduation day, 1938 or '48 or '58 were enjoying the reunion.

There was nothing formal or stuffy about the party.

As one smiling alum noted, "I got kissed by some girls today that didn't kiss me in high school."

PUBLIC_SERVICE: 1969 Birthday Greeting Honors Henderson House and Lucile Bailey Conger Fellowship Fund.

25 November 2016

The Alumnae Council is celebrating the University's 152nd birthday this month. The 1969 Birthday Greeting asks all University of Michigan alumnae to contribute a penny for each year. The gift will honor the late Lucile Bailey Conger in whose name the fellowship fund has been established.

Lucile Bailey Conger was the Alumnae Secretary for 15 years. She retired in 1947. Under her dynamic leadership, the alumnae were united into the Alumnae Council and a new respect was created for their activities in service to the University. Many new alumnae clubs were organized, two of which bear her name -- one is in Ann Arbor, and the second in Owosso. Of all the alumnae projects which benefited from her vital interest and active involvement, Henderson House may have benefited more than any other. This cooperative residence for women is pictured on the cover of the 1969 greeting.

In 1917, the Michigan alumnae established an on-campus home for girls who chose to live and work together, thereby making it financially possible for some young women of demonstrated scholastic ability to attend the University. This early effort to have women's housing was called, Alumnae House, which was followed by Mary Markley House. In 1945, under the guidance of Mrs. Conger, money was raised by the alumnae to purchase the Huber residence at 1330 Hill Street, which, ultimately became the Mary Bartron Henderson House, a residence for 30 girls.

AKA: He was probably called, George.

OCCUPATION: Broker

RECOLLECTIONS: Poindexter Collection Heads to Denver Art Museum Nothing new about this story: Businessman falls in love with art. Decides to become artist. Takes lessons. Hears his teacher say: "Why don't you buy art, live with it and learn about it, instead of trying to make it?" The recipient of that advice did not give up his day job, as they say. Instead, Montana-born George Poindexter remained a successful broker and a dogged collector of abstract art in the late 1950s and early 1960s. It was a pursuit that complimented his wife Elinor's role as owner of an influential gallery in New York.

Eventually, George Poindexter gave more than 100 paintings to the Montana Historical Society in Helena, an institution that could manage the storage, if not the curatorial duties required of works by Willem de Kooning, Jackson Pollack, Al Held and Franz Kline. (George Poindexter died in 1975, Elaine in 1994.)

Although the collection is known in Montana, its existence now is being noted in Colorado in an exhibition organized by former Denver Art Museum curator Nancy Tieken. A few years ago, when she went to Great Falls to jury a competition, she heard about the Poindexter works. Eventually, she visited the Historical Society.

"They were in the basement, with a single light bulb and a key," she recalled recently during a tour of the DAM's Close Range Gallery. She contacted surviving artists and spouses trying to learn more about how the works found their way to the Poindexters; she perused George Poindexter's correspondence for a clue to his motives.

Other Poindexter pieces also went to the Yellowstone Art Center. Many works traveled years ago, but that practice ended because paintings wound up in such homey spots as a grocery store window, Tieken said.

Tieken has no illusion that "The Poindexter Collection of Modern American Artists" is the least bit encyclopedic. "This is a time capsule of what was available in New York from the early 1950s to the early 1960s." she said. The work has a New York center, although artists included also hail from the West Coast and Chicago.

Mainly, though, the work has presence. It offers a quick course in learning about a generation of artists that loved to experiment with paint -- dripping and pulling it, puddling and piling it up with a knife. Paint appears to cascade down the green center of a canvas by Emerson Woelffer, for instance, while Bay Area artist Sonia Gechtoff churned the oil of "Painting No. 1" into a veritable blizzard of feathers.

Artists also appear to be working out technique and style issues. A 1943 untitled Jackson Pollack ink and watercolor piece looks like a sketch pad, with figures, impromptu drawings and one empty corner just begging for drips. Richard Diebenkorn's 1958 "Portrait" certainly is a human figure, but a good chunk of the body lacks definition -- until Diebenkorn gets to a hand that bursts with detail. It is very much a painter's tool.

An early de Kooning "Woman" looks overpowering, but really is about the size of a legal pad. (It is one of four from the painter in the show, a treat in a museum that in February 1996 auctioned its only de Kooning through Christie's. The take was $47,150, for the museum's acquisition fund.)

What also is apparent is that Tieken enjoyed playing detective. When she wrote to Jules Olitski concerning the bright color-field painting "Singular Delight," he responded, she said, "Please send a slide. I forgot I did it." Which wouldn't be too hard to do, with a piece tucked away in the middle of Montana. Now the Poindexter passion for getting -- not making -- is on public walls, a view into an era of experimentation and excitement.

The Poindexter Collection of Modern American Artists, from the Montana Historical Society, curated by Nancy Tieken will be on display at the Denver Art Museum's Close Range Gallery, 100 W. 14th Ave. Parkway from October 18, 1998 through January 10, 1999. RECOLLECTIONS: Hidden Treasure

"The Poindexter Collection of Modern American Masters," on display at the Denver Art Museum from October 1998 through May 16, 1999, in the Close Range Gallery was the brainchild of Montana - born New York commodities broker named George Poindexter. How it wound up at the Montana Historical Society, of all places, and the shameful way it's been treated since make for a ripping yarn.

Poindexter was born in 1900 in Butte, Montana, into a prominent family; his father was a respected lawyer and later a federal judge. He grew up in Montana, moved to New York to attend Columbia University, graduated in 1922 and founded his own business, Commodity Brokers, Inc. Poindexter was a whiz in the commercial world, but he had an interest in painting as well. This was perhaps inspired by his wife, Elinor, who had studied art history at New York's prestigious Finch College.

After World War II, Poindexter took some time off from his business to learn to become an artist. He went to study in Paris with Elinor, but according to show curator, Nancy Tieken, "he was terrible at it." Back in New York, he took a class from abstract artist Jack Tworikov, whom he had known since his college days. "Tworikov suggested that instead of trying to make art, Poindexter should buy it. Nobody was collecting wildly experimental paintings when George started in 1956. This kind of work was available at the time for a small price and right from the source," the curator said.

Though Elinor Poindexter had opened the Poindexter Gallery in 1955 (the year before George started collecting), the curator established through research and interviews that the Poindexter Collection was George's individual creation. Elinor put together her own modernist painting collection, which she donated to the Yellowstone Arts Center in Billings, Montana.

In 1960, George began to cede his collection to the Montana Historical Society, giving an abstract painting in memory of his father. (The gift caused some consternation for his relatives, who had little affection for abstraction.) By 1963, the 100 plus piece collection was ensconced in the historical society in Helena, Montana then Montana's only museum of any kind. Prior to its current appearance at the DAM, it was displayed only twice -- once on the occasion of the gift in 1963 when it traveled statewide, and again in 1965 at the then new Yellowstone Arts Center, the second museum to open in Montana. In the more than thirty intervening years, the Poindexter Collection has been put away -- and that's what makes this current show such a rare, exciting treat.

Poindexter was an adventurous collector, and his choices "provide a snapshot of art on the cusp from the late Fifties and early Sixties," the curator said.

After he gave the collection to the Montana Historical Society in 1963, Poindexter apparently lost interest in it, since correspondence in the files after that time remains unopened. It's unclear why Poindexter suddenly dropped his hobby.

On Jun 1, 1905, in Plains, Montana, by father was born. He was the first-born of my grandparent's five children, and he was named, Judson Weldon Conger.

His early years were spent in Plains, Sidney and for the longest period, in Lewiston, Montana, small towns in which my grandfather worked as a newspaperman. My father likes to say that he was born in the backroom of a newspaper printshop, hinting that this early exposure to the roar of the presses influenced his own choice of work as a grown man. Whether or not early environment was the causative factor, both my father and one of his brothers, Everton, pursued journalistic careers. (My sister and I carried this family passion into a third generation, in a small way, by editing our high school and college newspapers in California.)

Jud, as my father was, and still is called, entered the University of Montana at Missoula as a freshman in 1923. A shortage of funds curtailed his academic pursuits, a fact he still laments, and after a single year at the university, he went to work, first in lead mines in Idaho for an interval, then, as soon as he could land a spot, in a newspaper office.

During that brief academic interlude he met and determined to marry Winnifred Alice Gibson of Livingston, Montana, daughter of a prominent Montana attorney. Although this young woman did eventually become his wife and my mother, Alice had other ideas for her own life which kept her out of matrimony until 1931. She continued her education at the University of Montana and later at the University of Oregon, graduating from the latter with a major in Spanish and a minor in mathematics. She returned to her hometown to teach in the high school, traveled in the summers to Mexico and to Cuba, did additional study, and eventually was wed to the young newspaperman, my dad.

Judson W. Conger was by then a news reporter, ambitious and enthusiastic, on the Bozeman Daily Chronicle. It was in Bozeman, Montana, just 26 miles from my mother's hometown of Livingston, that they began their life together. My life began there too. I was their first child, born in September of 1933, and my sister, Marion (named for my father's mother) was their second and last child, born in May 1936.

I don't know if red hair is a widespread trait among Congers, but among our particular branch it is. As it's probably a rare genetic feature, I mention this. Also, we are proud of it. My father's hair was auburn, and he is freckled and brown-eyed. One of his sisters has gold-red hair and hazel eyes; both my sister and I have reddish hair and blue eyes; and now my sister has two small red-haired daughters of her own.

At some time in my early childhood, possibly around 1937, my father became the editor of the Chronicle. From that time, until the second World War altered our lives, he spent what I'm sure were among the happiest years of his life -- creative, productive, busy and full years. He became deeply and widely acquainted with the life of the community, and the newspaper reflected his awareness and concern. His "JWC" editorials had an appreciat[ive] and responsive readership. Even as a child I saw evidence of widespread respect for his integrity. Had I been a little older during those "editor-years," or a little more precocious, I would recall now specific battles he waged for and in the community, precisely what causes he espoused or decried.

All I remember with clarity is his great vitality and energy during those years, the purposefulness with which he lived. His spirit was bouyant. And despite the fact the he was at his office much or our waking hours and some of our sleeping hours, he always seemed a close and loving "Daddy." When he was with us he was 100% with us, and his humor, his play, his instruction, and his listening ear enriched our childhood immeasurably. He has joked that my mother married him "for my wealth, looks and social position," none of which he has ever had in any noticeable amount. But what he does have, as a person, as a friend, as a husband and father, was then and is now abundantly evident.

In 1942 my father decided that simply saving tin cans and riding his bicycle to work to conserve gasoline was not sufficient effort against our country's enemies. He enlisted in the Army. He went into the Infantry as a buck private at the age of 37. Crazy though it might have appeared, it was clearly a decision of conscience. My mother accepted it as such and went to work as a teacher of Spanish at Montana State College in Bozeman.

Just prior to VE-Day my father, with the rank of Corporal, was honorably discharged from the Army by virtue of having turned 40 years old. He returned from the war in Europe to changes in Bozeman and at the Chronicle. The Chronicle had new owners and, his thoughts already turned in other directions by his service experience, JWC looked around for some new work, a new place.

He found new opportunity on a newspaper in Fresno, California, and the family moved there in 1947. I was just entering high school, my sister the 6th grade. On the Fresno Bee, the only daily paper in that city, my father has been a general assignment reporter on the City Desk, police reporter, reviewer or various civic events and of books. Currently he is Assistant City Editor, a job he says he took chiefly "for the money" it could bring toward his imminent retirement; general reporting remains his favorite kind of newspaper work.

BIOGRAPHY: A Biographical Sketch of the Conger Family - Bi-Centennial History of Bethany, Harrison County, Missouri.

The Conger family has been in the newspaper profession in Missouri, Illinois and Oklahoma for five generations. The family now operates the "Republican-Clipper," in Bethany, MO.

In the middle part of the 19th Century, Lucien W. Conger operated a newspaper in Oneida, Illinois, located a short distance from Galesburg. Lucien and his wife, Elizabeth Brown, became parents of a son Clarence in 1885.

Clarence, who becamed associated with his father in the Oneida newspaper, married Frances Vincent, formerly of New York State, about the year 1880. They became the parents of Erwin Cook Conger who later followed in the path of his father and grandfather as the publisher of a newspaper.

in 1886, Clarence and Frances Conger moved from Oneida to Unionville, MO with their two year old son, Erwin, and began publishing the "Unionville Republican." They became the parents of another son and daughter, Lucien and Bertha.

Erwin became a "printer's devil" in his father's newspaper shop learning the business from top to bottom, or more appropriately from bottom to top. He was educated in the Unionville school system where he became a top-flight brass horn player. For a time Erwin entertained the thought of using his musical talent to join the Ringling Brothers Circus, but eventually decided to stay in the newspaper business.

Erwin married Nett Niday, who grew up on a farm at St. John, MO. They became the parents of a daughter, Dorothy, and two sons, Vincent and Clarence. The family left Unionville in 1916 for Newkirk, Oklahoma where they published the "Newkirk Rep-Journal" for many years. The family then moved to Bethany, [MO] in 1925 when they acquired the "Bethany Clipper" which was consolidated with "The Republican" in 1929.

Vincent joined his father in publishing the "Republican-Clipper" until Erwin's death in 1951. Both served as president of the Northwest Missouri Press Assn, as did Vincent's son, Phillip.

Erwin's son, Clarence, died in the mid-1930's as the result of an accident. His wife, Nett, died in 1945. Dorothy Conger married Ray Weightman, an attorney at Maryville who later became a circuit judge. They became parents of Conger Weightman, now a school principle [sic] in Denver.

Both sons served as "printer's devils" under Vincent and Phillip later became managing editor of the paper while Michael joined the law profession in Kansas City. Phillip married Katheryn Fay Stroup of Fredericktown, MO and they became the parents of a daughter, Rachel Lynn, in 1973. Michael married Holly Hollaway on 24 Jan 1976.

Frances Mabel (Conger) Mendenhall, my grandmother. The best description of her is she was a "Lady", she always wore dresses and aprons. If she went to town or church, she wore gloves and a hat. She was a very religious person. She belonged to the "Seventh Day Adventist Church", and strictly followed their teachings.

She was an excellent cook and always had homemade donuts for the grandchildren. She had a beautiful yard and fantastic flowers of all kinds. She raised all kinds of berries, Blackberries, Raspberries, Boysenberries, gooseberries, strawberries and grapes. She raised chickens and sold the eggs. I don't know what kind of education she had, but was a very intelligent, loving and understanding. She was an important part of my life even though I only saw her once a year until I was 12 years old.

OBITUARY: Ilda Pearl Mendenhall

Ilda Pearl Mendenhall, second child of Ira Frank and Mollie Rankin Conger, was born Oct. 18, 1889 on a farm southwest of Beloit, Kansas. The family lived in the Beloit area and she attended school at "Round Top," until they moved to Jewell County in 1903. She received the rest of her schooling in county schools mostly in the Ionia area. As a young lady, Pearl worked as a practical nurse under the guidance of Dr. Poppin of Ionia. She cared for the sick in their homes, and assisted in bringing a new generation into the world.

On Dec. 28, 1910, Pearl became the bride of George C. Mendenhall and went to live on a farm just a few miles south of Esbon, Kansas. Two sons were born to this union, and before Pearl and George left this farm two daughters-in-law had been added to the family and three grandsons. They celebrated their 50th Wedding Anniversary there in Dec. 1960.

Due to the failing health of her mate, they moved to Mankato, Kansas in August of 1963 where they resided until his passing on May 21, 1970. At that time she decided she wanted to be closer to one of the family, so on Oct. 1, 1970, Pearl moved to Sunny Slope Manor at Beloit, Kansas. She lived there until her health began to fail. On Oct. 25, 1979, she moved into the home of her son, Verl and his wife, and remained there until Sept. 14 of this year when she entered Hilltop Lodge so she could have constant care, and be kept as comfortable as possible. She departed this life on Oct. 24, [1983], after a span of 94 years and 6 days.

Pearl was the last surviving member of her generation of the Mendenhalls. She was one of eight children of her own family of which only one brother remains. Those preceding her in death were a baby sister, Bessie, Elva Henningsen, Mabel Mendenhall, Jim, Cliff, and Bill, and a half-brother, Coad Conger, who lived at Moose Jaw, Canada.

She leaves to mourn her passing -- two sons, Floyd and wife, Beulah, of Superior, Nebr., and Verl and wife, Eva, of Beloit, Kansas. Three grandsons, Arnold and wife, Agnes, of Huron, South Dakota; David and wife, Carol, of Sterling, New York; and Arden and wife, Karen, of Logan, New Mexico. Six great grandsons -- Scott and Brian of Huron; David Jr., and Chad of Sterling; Brandon and Nathan of Logan; and one great granddaughter, Heidi Ann of Logan, who arrived after Pearl's 90th birthday. The first girl in three generations of this family. Pearl was so thrilled to be able to hold her and rock her to sleep on several occasions.

Also among the survivors is the remaining brother, Elmer and wife Anna, of Delta, Colo., and two sisters-in-law, Verna of Fairfield, Ia., and Zelma of Kahoka, Mo.; many nieces, nephews, first cousins, friends and old neighbors. All -- made up a part of her life.

Pallbearers were her three grandsons -- Arnold, David and Arden Mendenhall, and three nephews -- Dale and Rex Henningsen, and Bernard Blair. The funeral was held at the Kramer Funeral Home in Mankato with Rev. Appleton presiding. Songs were sung by Newell and Merlin Alexander; burial was in the Esbon Cemetery.

Sunset and evening star

And one clear call for me!

And may there be no moaning of the bar

When I put out to sea.

But such a tide as moving seems asleep,

Too full for sound or foam,

When that which drew from out the boundless deep

Turns again home.

Twilight and evening bell,

And after that the dark!

And may there be no sadness of farewell
When I embark.

For though from out our borne of time and place
The flood may bear me far,
I hope to see my pilot face to face
When I have crossed the bar.

OBITUARY: Anna Christina Marquardt Conger - Jan. 10, 1906 - March 18, 2000 Anna Conger a resident of Valley Manor Care Center of Montrose, [CO] for over two years died there on Saturday, March 18, 2000 at the age of 94.

Anna was born in Trenton, Nebraska on Jan. 10, 1906 to Emil and Minnie (Hedky) Marquardt, on the family homestead. She spent her childhood and attended a country school near Trenton. She was the 10th child in a family of 16 children; 4 brothers and 11 sisters.

When Anna wasn't helping care for the younger children, she was busy helping her dad in the fields, driving a team of horses and doing many things. Her big joy was when her dad gave her a mouth harp. She spent many hours playing the harp and singing to herself.

Anna met her husband, Elmer Conger, in the fall of 1924, when Elmer came to Trenton and found harvest work at the Marquardt farm. Anna and Elmer started dating and were married October 4, 1924 at Atwood, Kansas. Anna's dad sold them a section of ground. They moved an old grain[er]y on the property, fixed it up for a house, had a well drilled and started housekeeping. It was here where their two children were born, Gale and Twila. A dust storm wiped them out in the 1930's, so the family packed up and moved to Cedaredge, Colorado. Both Anna and Elmer worked at many jobs. Anna worked in the fruit sheds, restaurants and wherever else she could find work.

In December of 1943 they moved to Kahoka, MO, to help Elmer's brother run his farm. The couple moved back to Delta, Colorado in 1946, and Anna went back to work at the restaurants until she retired.

Elmer died of cancer on November 15, 1989 at Delta, CO. Anna lived in the family home until December of 1997, when she fell and was taken to Colorow Care Center for two months. She then moved into the home of her daughter, Twila Hillis, in Montrose. Suffering from congestive heart failure, she was taken to Valley Manor Care Center for two years.

Anna enjoyed fishing, playing her harp, dancing and traveling. Other survivors include her son and daughter-in-law, Gale and Jessica Conger of Delta, a daughter and son-in-law, Twila and Jim Hillis, of Montrose; a brother, Harold and a wife, Alice Marquardt of Hebrén, NE; a brother-in-law, Chuck Seybold of Benkleman, NE; seven grandchildren and spouses, Ken and Gwen Hillis of Cedaredge; Jerry and Ann Hillis of Winlock, WA; Don and Sharon Hillis of Whale Pass, Alaska; Cindy and Doug Herbison and Linda Rull, Glen and Joyce Conger, Gene and Shana Conger all of Delta; 22 great-grandchildren; and six great great grandchildren; ... many niece and nephews survive.

Eleven sisters: Rose, Bertha, Amanda, Ella, Lyda, Minnie, Martha, Elsa, Ester, Florence and Jessie, three brothers: Emil, Leo and Oscar, and three great grandsons are deceased.

Funeral services to celebrate the life of Anna Conger will be Thursday, March 23, 2000, at 1 p.m. at the Taylor Funeral Service Chapel in Delta with Howard Cowan officiating. Interment will follow in the Cedaredge Cemetery. Visitation will be held Wednesday, March 22, 2000 from 1:00 p.m. to 5:00 p.m. at the Taylor Funeral Service, Delata, CO. BIOGRAPHY: From the "Beacon Journal" of Peninsula, Ohio, 1933

"Shrewd, with a salty wit, and a supreb sense of the ridiculous, Elmer Conger, long time mayor of Peninsula, and faithful correspondent of the Beacon Journal editor, is in this dull age, that rare thing, an individual.

"Conger is a product of rural America, although he has seen Peninsula gradually become the haven of the city gentleman farmer. A lifetime of politics, far from making him stubborn and dull, has served to sharpen his tongue. His conversation actually [warrants] the comment: 'Pithy.' He has been the pride and joy of whole processions of reporters and the envelope bearing his name in the Beacon Journal's reference department, is stuffed with stories about his weather prophecies, his 'store teeth,' and his knowledge of flowers and politics.

"He was the first mayor of Peninsula in 1901, and has served, with a few interruptions, for 28 years in that position until defeated by C.B. Chisholm, my a majority of seven votes, in 1929.

"I got out the whole Conger family, too, but it didn't help, he says with a grin. The whole Conger family is 18 votes strong and no small factor in Peninsula elections.

"Conger was not only mayor but justice of the peace for Boston township and baliff of Judge E.H. Boylan's common pleas court. It was in this last position that he first gained attention in local newspapers. When times were dull, he was a godsend to court reporters, and both Conger and the newspapermen thrived on the arrangement.

"Abruptly retired from politics by the voice of the people, Conger has been designated 'Sage of Peninsula' by copy desk men. Undisturbed by the collapse of his political fortunes, Conger spends his time hunting, raising dogs, identifying flowers, running for title of 'biggest liar in Peninsula,' and building up his reputation for the great come-back.

"He lives on Boston township road, two houses from the residence he was born in, and on a single hill live five different branches of the Conger family. The children run into large numbers, with Elmer contributing six.

"You really can't see the landscape for Conger children and Conger dogs," he remarks dreamily, staring at the 'oracle.'

"The Oracle' is the hill opposite the Conger house. Begun as a simple joke, it has developed into one of those things that bewilder strangers and convulse those who know the secret.

"Conger, who has a taste for classic Greek mythology, once darkly referred to the 'oracle' as the source of his weather prophecies. He finds it very convenient, for he admits 'if the prophecy failed all I had to say was that the blamed Oracle must have been off his feed the day I asked him about it.'

"Conger's letters are like his conversation -- pungent, to the point, witty, with no punches pulled. He is an admirer of the Beacon Journal editorial policy, talks darkly of Woodrow Wilson, has numerous jokes to tell on the 'democrats,' and looks proud when identified as Peninsula's republican committeeman."

Theosophical Topics in Depth - Material by and about A. L. Conger and James A. Long

Arthur L. Conger -- humanitarian, scholar, musician, and military officer -- was Leader of The Theosophical Society from 1945-1951. Those who worked with him remember particularly his kindness, perception, and strength of character; for many, he was truly a spiritual mentor and friend. Joining the Theosophical Society under William Q. Judge in 1892, Colonel Conger actively participated in the administrations of Katherine Tingley and G. de Purucker. Three years after Dr. de Purucker's death, he was elected Leader of the TS. Although confined to a wheelchair by Parkinson's disease, he revitalized the Society's public activities and supervised a vigorous publishing program, stressing that the TS "must be turned from the receiving end of theosophy to the giving end."

James A. Long was Leader of The Theosophical Society from 1951-1971. He was born August 27, 1898, at York, Pennsylvania. Following a career in private business, he worked during WWII as a management consultant in the office of the Quartermaster General in Washington, DC, and was later transferred to the Department of State where he assisted in the change over to peacetime responsibilities. While there he was sent as an Advisor to the US Delegation to the United Nations at the opening of the Second Session in 1946. Mr. Long joined the Theosophical Society in 1935 and was appointed business manager of its American Section in 1939. Upon retirement from government service in 1947, he moved to the Society's headquarters in California where he continued to work closely with Colonel Arthur L. Conger, whom he succeeded as international head in 1951. That same year he founded Sunrise magazine as a vehicle for better understanding among all peoples.

Adventuring in Brotherhood By Arthur L. Conger

How are we to make practical use of our faith in universal brotherhood? One answer is by adventuring in brotherhood. Perhaps you object: "I have no time to practice idealism in daily life -- I have a family to provide for!" Or, "The people I come in contact with have no interest in spiritual human values -- I should be laughed at were I to broach the subject of brotherhood!"

These points of view, valid though they appear at first blush, make us wonder if those who offer them have not missed something, a vital something. In fact, the chances are that one who so holds is like the man who builds his house on shifting sands, without a substantial foundation. Before we can safely enter upon our adventures in brotherhood we must begin by being a brother.

Unless we base our quest on the solid rock of self-understanding, and have learned to restrain by the higher self the selfish impulses of the lower mind, we may as well expect disappointment.

Let us then make our first brotherhood adventure an inquiry into the basic spirit underlying our enterprise. A simple method of doing this is to ask "to how large a circle of family, friends and acquaintances, am I really brother-minded?" We may find that there are very many degrees of brotherly feeling, from the "greater love" that no man can exceed to the mere tolerance with which we contemplate our fellowmen. Then there is the type of character known as the good hater because of his strong antipathies to persons or groups who have incurred his displeasure.

In the former case we discover at once that the easy method to apply is systematically to enlarge our sympathies with the ever-broadening circles of our human brotherhood. In case we find ourselves afflicted with hatreds, be they "good" ones or otherwise, each must be cured by sowing the seeds of love in our own minds: for hatred, love is the one and only positive cure.

25 November 2016

We have now considered in outline the intensity and extent of our spirit of brotherhood; there remains to be brought under the spotlight its quality. To pass muster our brotherliness must be free from the taint of selfishness. If we hope for a return for our brotherly acts, whether it be in financial or other material terms, or merely in human applause, and whether we are aware or not in our conscious thinking that such a wish for self-benefit exists in our minds, we cannot expect to adventure far.

The cure for selfishness is to seek those objectives only which are pleasing to the higher self -- duty, truth, love!

But long before the purifying of our motives has been completed, the higher self will begin to act through the lower, impelling us to venture forth upon some quest. We shall then view the world and its creatures in a new light. The higher self in us will sound its clarion call to invoke the higher self in our brother. To the spirit in man conventionalities seem as trivial as do gradations of rank in a democracy. Despite all obstacles "Deep will call unto deep," be it in the office or in the home, in the marketplace or on a streetcar.

Once the spirit of adventure has taken hold of a man he will not for long have to wait for the next brother who needs help to appear. And as he learns to understand and to be able to assist others, so in turn does this strengthen his knowledge of his own inner being and make him more truly a worker for the sacred cause of universal brotherhood. Colonel Arthur L. Conger by Alan E. Donant, Theosophical University Press, Pasadena, 1999; ISBN 1-55700-139-1, 32-page booklet, $5.00.

This concise biography is a highly recommended addition to the history of the theosophical movement that throws new light on the man who became the fifth leader of the Theosophical Society. Arthur Conger, Jr., was born in 1872 in Akron, Ohio, to well-to-do parents, eminent citizens ambitious for this second son. It was during his years at Harvard University that he found theosophy, which gave him a lifetime desire to study, live, and spread its teachings. He attended theosophical meetings in Boston and Cambridge where he met Margaret Loring Guild, his future wife, who later became known for her chronology of the Mahatma and Blavatsky letters to A. P. Sinnett. He made many friends who shared his interest in Oriental religions, good books, and music -- he was an accomplished organist.

After graduation Conger announced his determination to work for theosophy, and his parents were devastated. Both had visualized him as a Christian minister, and to pacify them he dutifully enrolled in a seminary. While there he continued his musical studies with composer Edward McDowell, who treated him like a son, including him in a family trip to Switzerland in 1895. During his second year, however, school authorities discovered he was active in theosophic circles and ordered him to stop. Instead, he resigned and went to work at the Theosophical Society's headquarters in New York City in 1896. He stayed at the headquarters for two years and formed a friendship with Katherine Tingley that deepened through the years.

His parents' displeasure with his devotion to theosophy ultimately led him to choose a military career, as they cut him off financially in April 1898. He joined the army during the Spanish-American War and served with distinction in World War I in the Department of Intelligence. General George C. Marshall later referred to him as one of the "best minds in the army," and his Harvard 50th Anniversary Class Report described him as:

Our foremost army officer, with a training based on a study of the Classics and of oriental religions and practice in musical composition; military historian; adept in the acts of friendship and foreign diplomacy; well-deserving servant of our country.

The major portion of the biography deals with the period beginning in the 1920s when Colonel Conger reconnected actively with theosophy, while serving in the army both in the United States and in Europe. After his retirement from the army in 1928, he and his wife lived in Takoma Park, Maryland, near Washington, DC, where they held study groups and welcomed all seekers and inquirers to their home. Katherine Tingley died in 1929, and her successor, G. de Purucker, asked his old friend Conger to run for president of the American Section in 1932, which he did with success. However, he had developed a severe case of Parkinson's disease for which there was then no adequate treatment, so he was forced to resign in 1933. When his health improved, he was reelected in 1939 and held the presidency of the American Section till his election as Leader.

Several years before Dr. de Purucker's sudden and unexpected death in 1942, he had given instructions to the members of his Cabinet about choosing a new Leader without relying on preconceived ideas or plans. Should no Leader appear in three years, they must elect one. Only after three years did Colonel Conger come forward. The days surrounding his election were emotional and chaotic, as Donant documents. I remember well when Colonel Conger came to the Covina headquarters in 1945. My younger sister and I were students at Theosophical University and very new theosophists. We were confused and astonished at the furor his candidacy aroused in some of the staff, most of whom we knew well, though it was easy to see why they doubted. Here was an elderly man, wheelchair bound, and his speech affected by advanced Parkinson's, a complete contrast to their former eloquent and physically dynamic leader. However, when we learned of the vile accusations his opponents were making against Colonel Conger and of their efforts to influence negatively as many members as they could, we joined those who supported him. A passage in The Mahatma Letters states that the greatest weakness of most Westerners is their habit of judging everything by appearance and adds that the pulp of an orange is inside the rind, and that within the homely, encrusted shell of an oyster lies the pearl.

The storm eventually subsided, and the public work and publishing program received particular emphasis in Colonel Conger's efforts to turn the Society "from the receiving end to the giving end of theosophy." He issued a three-volume set containing the minutes of Purucker's meetings with esoteric students, The Dialogues of G. de Purucker, and shortly before his death closed down the Esoteric Section of the Theosophical Society. Sometimes it is difficult to let go of the familiar status quo, yet invariably decay sets in without the inflow of fresh impulses. Colonel Conger ushered in new attitudes and methods, thereby permitting needed change.

Reading Alan Donant's booklet brought to mind many personal recollections of Colonel Conger. A few months after my marriage in 1946, my husband and his brother were sent to do theosophical work in New York City without financial backing. I had a small income from a stock investment and sent most of it to them. One day a dear friend told me she had unintentionally run up a large bill and asked me to help her out, which I did. It left me penniless, and that night I lay awake a long time worrying about how I could earn some money. The next morning when I picked up my mail, I found a card from Colonel Conger. It purported to be congratulations on my marriage (although he had been our best man) as well as a belated wedding gift. Enclosed was a $100 check, a lot of money in those days! On several other occasions he also seemed attuned to my thoughts and feelings.

In his last year he began moving the headquarters in stages from Covina to the Pasadena area, where it remains and where his guidelines hold fast. In October 1950, Colonel Conger and his immediate staff moved to the Pasadena headquarters, my husband and myself among them. On February 21 we all knew Colonel was dying, and household members gathered by his bedside. I chose to sit in a nearby room, listening to the softly playing music on the classical radio station. Shortly after midnight, suddenly -- whoosh -- a strong current came from Colonel's room. As it passed over my head it paused and dipped, a final blessing, before sweeping out the north window. I lost ever after all fear of death, for I had felt the vibrant joy of his soul as it sped to its inner home. I also sensed the reality of entities and spheres invisible to our mortal eyes and incomprehensible to our mundane minds.

Colonel Conger's fervent hope, like Blavatsky's, was that the 21st century would allow the ancient wisdom to spread widely and awaken the hidden spiritual qualities in increasing numbers of people, for only the effort and will of enlightened individuals can help loosen materialism's tenacious hold. We therefore salute Colonel Conger and all like him who devote their lives to the welfare of humanity, an arduous choice but spiritually supreme.

Suffolk Co., MA. Margaret Loring Guild

PROBLEM: CFA I, p. 29, lists her birth date as 23 Sep 1888 and the date of marriage as 8 Feb 1902. Is this correct? She would have been only about 13 1/2 years old at the time of the marriage and he would have been 30 years old. Perhaps there is a typo in the year of her birth. A date of 1878, would make more sense in light of the fact that Arthur was born in 1872.

1328. Latham Hubbard Conger (Arthur Latham-6, John-5, Potter-4, Job-3, Enoch-2, Job-1) was born on 29 Apr 1878 in Akron, Summit Co., OH. He died on 21 Oct 1948 at the age of 70 in Akron, Summit Co., OH. Latham Hubbard Conger

OBITUARY:

Latham H. Conger, 70, member of an historic Akron [OH] family, died Thursday night at his home, 191 Harcourt Drive. He had been ill for many months.

Mr. Conger was the son of the late Col. A.L. Conger, early Akron industrialist, and builder of the famed "Conger Mansion" at 196 Ash Street.

Born in Akron on E. Mill street, Mr. Conger saw the sleepy village of his boyhood become a roaring industrial metropolis. He played a role in its growth -- and in the growth of the rubber industry.

Mr. Conger finished college at Kenyon where he played fullback on a team that defeated Ohio State in 1899. He went into railroading after college and served several systems, including the New York Central.

In 1910, he returned to Akron to take a position with the Diamond Rubber Co. He later associated with the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co. and the B.F. Goodrich Co. in executive positions.

Attracted by opportunities in the booming automobile field, Mr. Conger left the rubber business in 1924 to organize the Overland - Akron Company. He served as its president until retirement.

At various times, Mr. Conger was active in Republican politics. He was a member of Masonic groups, including the Knights Templar. Mr. Conger belonged to the Akron City Club. He served for many years as a vestryman at St. Paul's Church.

Only a day before, he had attended a family reunion at the home of his son, Edward J. Conger, in Kingston, NY.

As a native of Poughkeepsie, he was educated in schools there, receiving a law degree in 1904 from New York Law School. He practiced law with the late Frank B. Lown until 1908, when he was appointed an Assistant District Attorney under John E. Mack as Dutchess County District Attorney in 1913 and served until 1918, when he was named a City Judge to complete an unfinished term. Afterward, he practiced law with Mr. Mack.

In 1938, President Roosevelt, a Dutchess County neighbor, appointed Mr. Conger to the Federal bench of Manhattan's Southern District, which embraces the counties of the Bronx, New York, Columbia, Dutchess, Greene, Orange, Putnam, Rockland, Sullivan, Ulster and Westchester. He was president of the Dutchess County Bar Association at the time.

On the bench, Judge Conger presided over many important cases, including one involving a contempt citation against Frank Costello, the underworld figure, Communist subversives, and many anti-trust proceedings. In one of his most publicised cases, Judge Conger ruled against three baseball players who had been suspended for five years by Baseball Commissioner A.B. (Happy) Chandler for jumping to the Mexican League. The three -- Danny Gardella, Giant outfielder, and Max Lanier and Fred Martin, pitchers for the Cardinals -- lost an appeal too. Among the important trials at which Judge Conger presided was the bankruptcy case involving the New York, Ontario & Western Railroad, which dragged on for years.

In 1954, he wrote to President Eisenhower, asking for permission to retire, since he was 72 -- two years beyond the normal retirement age. In reply, the President expressed his appreciation of Judge Conger's 'splendid service.'

Judge Conger began to take an interest in politics early in his legal career, and rose to become a power in Dutchess County Democratic circles. In 1937, he ran unsuccessfully for Surrogate.

He also was active in community affairs, having been a member of the board of trustees of St. Francis Hospital and the Barnard Library, a director of the Community Chest, president of the Cardinal Lay Committee for Boy Scouts, a member of the nominations committee of the New York State Bar Association, the Charter Committee of the Ninth Judicial District, the Knights of Columbus, the Elks and the Dutchess Golf and Country Club.

Surviving besides his son and sister, are two daughters, Mrs. Catherine Hayes and Mrs. Anne Elizabeth McCluskey, and 20 grandchildren.

BIOGRAPHY: Of her father, Marion (Conger) Barton wrote:

"Since Dad's retirement he has given much time to manual labor for the church and parsonage repairs. He also makes it a point to visit his children and help them with their building projects. Recently he spent his 81st birthday helping put [up] a garage for his grandson, Richard.

"Dad (George) was born the year a storm took over the East -- The Great Blizzard of '88. One of the few adults who really enjoyed the blizzard was a buyer for a New York department store who, 12 days earlier, had taken a chance on purchasing a whole carload of unclaimed snow shovels.

"At age 16 Dad worked for 6 weeks in the R.R. Depot restaurant. He went on to passenger trains with trays of sandwiches and coffee. Once he got carried to Swanton before he could get the cups collected. His mother didn't much care for his job because the older son, Charles, had been killed working for the railroad that very year, so rather than worry her he found other employment.

"He worked on a farm caring for cattle and stable for four winter months in 1902. At age 18 he took over the home farm entirely to stay home and look after his parents, giving up plans to become a jeweler's apprentice.

"Dad was named after his grandfather, at that gentleman's request."

BIOGRAPHY: In a book written about Quebec, it states, that two families (Boomhower and Wallbridge) settled in the Mystic near Bedford. They were Loyalists from the States, given a grant of land in Canada by England after persecution in the States. They lived in a sheep shack all summer until about December when their home, a log cabin, was ready. It is thought that Grace Boomhower's great-grandfather came with his parent's when he was about eleven years old. Riley Boomhower's half-brother, John Grove, of Boston, bought and sent race mares to Riley in Canada to raise colts. The colts were returned to Boston for training and racking. Granddaughter, Marion Grace Conger, spent many summers on that farm playing with and riding these horses and colts.

QUESTION-BIRTH: Was he really born and died in Pittsburg, Allegheny Co., PA as listed in CFA II, p. 390? Or is it more likely that he was born in Pittsburg, Crawford Co., KS which is just to the south of Fort Scott, Bourbon Co. KS where he was married? At one time the abbreviation for Kansas was "KA" so it would be quite easy for a researcher to read "Pittsburg, KA" as Pittsburg, PA. Note also that the Pittsburg of Kansas doesn't end with an "h" while the one in Pennsylvania, does.

RECOLLECTIONS:

Your compiler, Maxine Leonard, tried searching around Minneapolis for Charles Conger's son, William Lloyd Conger, but to no avail. Only by chance in sending form letters to the telephone book contacts, was his widow found in San Francisco, California. Her letter, dated 13 Oct 1969, reads:

"Dear Mrs. Leonard -- forgive for needing your 'last call' to get the form filled in on this last branch of the Congers.

"I'm sure Mr. Conger's dad would have scolded me, too, for not getting this final information off to you sooner -- as you know, he spent many hours in this research work. Maybe there is where Jean [her daughter] got her patience in all the research work she had to do for her published articles and then finally her book. It all had to be so accurate, so I should appreciate what your are going through.

I spent three weeks in June in Minneapolis and even carried your form with me, hoping to get it done there. But everyone was too kind to me and kept me on the run, as they were all admirers of Bill and Jean. Even though they have both gone on, I feel I must be grateful for having shared those years with a wonderful husband and daughter.

"If this 'last call' had not arrived today, I would have felt it was too late to send this form on. By best wishes to you in your completion of this big task!" Signed
(Mrs. W.L.) Dagny Conger

(Source: The Conger Family of America, Vol. I, 41a - Maxine Crowell Leonard)

RECOLLECTIONS: Of her daughter, Jean Conger, Dagny Conger wrote: "Jean was a graduate of Mount Holyoke College of South Hadley, Mass., Class of '52. We were especially proud of her because in her senior year of high school (1946) she underwent surgery at Mayo's in Rochester which left her without hearing. She was determined to graduate from an Eastern college and learned lip-reading, and was the first deaf student to graduate from Mount Holyoke.

"Jean became a free-lance writer, having over thirty articles published in various magazines (American Mercury, Parent's Magazine, etc.) Her first book, "The Velvet Paw," (Ivan Obolensky, Publisher) came out the latter part of July 1963. The sad part, she didn't get to see it in published form although [she] knew it was under publication. It is not a children's book but for cat lovers -- 'A History of Cats in Life, Art and Mythology' -- although she said this was just a 'practice' book before she would start on a dog book, her real love."

25 November 2016

People study the stars without ever getting into a rocket and traveling to them. And you don't have to fight in a war to be an expert on military history.

So it's not all that unusual that Job Conger IV, one of Springfield's foremost authorities on aviation, can't fly an airplane.

"I've always wanted to learn," Conger says, "but I've never had the time or money."

Nevertheless, he probably knows more about airplanes than many pilots do. Conger's two-story home is crammed with aviation information, most of it filed on thousands of index cards he painstakingly wrote out by hand. There are files on every aircraft imaginable, complete with photos and diagrams.

There's the aircraft name file, the magazine index file, the aircraft data file and the "point in time" file. The point in time file tells what happened on a particular day in aviation history.

"Pick a date." Job says.

"May 10."

"Let's see, May 10. Here it is. On May 10, 1911, the first Army officer was killed in an aircraft. On this day in 1929 was the first flight of the Boeing XP-12A. In 1942, the Mustang's first combat sortie was flown for the Royal Air Force against German occupied France."

There's more. Much, much more.

An upstairs closet contains 5,000 model aircraft kits, dating back to the early 1930s. Some are constructed, others are still in their boxes. Every era is represented, from the space shuttle to the World War I - vintage Sopwith Camel.

The next room has piles of files. And there's yet another room beyond that, containing aviation magazines, more files, photos, facts and figures about anything that flies, flew or falls from the sky.

There are more models in Job's basement, including one of Han Solo's Millennium Falcon ship from the "Star Wars" movie trilogy. Other models are just figments of Job's imagination and sense of humor - like the one in which he grafted a World War II bomber's nose gunner turret onto the modern B-1 bomber.

All of the models and information are part of Job's "AIRCHIVE" project. AIRCHIVE is a library for anyone who needs information on aircraft. Job says he gets four or five requests a month, some from foreign countries.

"We're known in Venice, Italy, we're known in Prague, Czechoslovakia," Job says. "But we're very little known in Springfield, [IL] -- and those who do know about us are not inclined to support us."

Job's dream is someday to take all of his AIRCHIVE files and models out of his house and put them on display somewhere, like a museum or an airport. Last year, he had some of his collection on display at the Sangamon County Fair. He has done slide shows and speeches for local organizations to promote his idea. But, so far, it remains just a dream.

"Only one person from the airport authority board has even visited and that was for about 10 minutes," Job says, "even though they've been invited several times."

Maintaining the AIRCHIVE library is what Job calls a "labor - intensive operation." Some days he spends up to 10 hours putting information into his files.

"It's easier for me because I don't punch a clock," he says. "Not that I wouldn't want to."

Job supports himself by doing freelance writing, including a weekly aviation column. For three years, he put together the souvenir program for Air Rendezvous. Most of the material he collects, such as aviation magazines, is donated to him.

Financially, it's a losing proposition. But if a guy's got a dream...

"This is what I'd like to do with my life if I could just find a way to support it," Job says.

Job, 39, developed his aviation fascination early in life.

"When I was 4, I could draw a picture of an F-86 Saber faster than any kid on the block," he says. "The first time I remember enjoying a plane ride was in the 9th grade."

Naturally, Air Rendezvous is just about Job's favorite time of the year. He burns up film that weekend like a fighter burns up fuel.

Job took his favorite plane ride at Air Rendezvous in 1985. He went up in a B-25 bomber to shoot photographs of Rudy Frasca's P-40 in flight. He had the run of the bomber as he scrambled about to get different photographic angles of Frasca's plane.

The article that he eventually wrote about the P-40 was published in "Air Show Journal," along with one of his photographs.

Even moving to a different house didn't dent Job's dream. He moved every pound of his files with him and then issued an "AIRCHIVE Update" press release, announcing the move. At the end of the update he says: "The saga continues at AIRCHIVE. The dream is undiminished. The horizon is blue."

Job Conger and Mary Keziah Thorp

POETRY:

Freelance writer/photographer Job Conger wrote his first poem in sixth grade and is still at it at age 58, going on 25. He considers himself a journalist because he wants to be and a poet because he must be. Job's articles and visual arts column "Art Seen" appear regularly in Illinois Times, a Springfield-based news weekly. He has published three books of his poetry and a compendium of poetry, biography and more about his favorite native-son poet Vachel Lindsay. He shares Lindsay's life story and recites his favorite poetry (Lindsay's and his own) for schools and organizations in central Illinois and hopes to expand his "territory" via Illinois State Poetry Society. A past president of Poets & Writers Literary Forum of Springfield, Illinois, and first secretary of the international Tanka Society of America, Job's poetry has been published in several "small magazines," and regularly appears at his own Web site at <http://www.aeroknow.com/poemsofjob.htm>

RECOLLECTIONS:

In response to submitting his data for the book (CFA I), Omar Dwight Conger, III wrote, "You might be interested in an odd bit of information: On the way to Okinawa (March 1945) I met a man named, Lester Raymond Conger. He was mildly surprised at my name and said that his brother bore the same name. He also mentioned that his brother looked strongly Indian; so much so that he would feel at home on any reservation. He stated that their home was Lapeer, Michigan. Some years later when I entered a subscription to the "Desert Magazine," my subscription was first listed as a re-newal for an, Omar D. Conger, in Fenton, Michigan. They are perhaps the same person.

[Note: Omar Dwight Conger's recollection of his meeting with Lester Raymond Conger is not quite correct. The brother of Lester Raymond Conger of Lapeer Co., MI was, Omar David Conger. He was born in July of 1925, the same year as Omar Dwight Conger. They were 7th cousins, with their common ancestor being, John Belconger.

The Omar D. Conger who subscribed to the same magazine as, Omar Dwight, might have been Omar David Conger, born 3 Apr 1881, who was born and died at Davison, Genesee Co., MI. Fenton, MI is in Genesee county Michigan.

Written by Richard E. Henthorn, 24 May 2000.]

"My father bore distinct Indian characteristics. Although my aged aunts scoff at the suggestion, I am fairly sure that we have Indian blood in the family and it seems to have brought along some highly dominate characteristics. I'm not sure where it entered the line but I suspect that my great grandfather, who was known in the Senate as, "The Indian," had more than just a speaking relationship with one of the old Indians around the area where he grew up. Anyhow, it's a good theory. There is also Indian blood on my wife's mother's side of the family. It shows up rather strongly in our young son, Ian."

Job Conger and Mary Keziah Thorp

25 November 2016

If there is "Indian Blood" in these two lines, it would have to go back to John Belconger's 2nd wife, Mary Cawood. Omar Dwight, b. 1925, is descended from Job, b. 1694 and Omar David, b. 1925, is from Joseph, b. 1692. [This paragraph was probably written by Maxine Leonard. Notice that she correctly identified the brother of Lester Raymond Conger as Omar David, b. 1925. REH]

OBITUARY: The New York Times, Jan. 6, 1969

Beach Conger, for 30 years a reporter, foreign correspondent and editor with the New York Herald Tribune, died today at the headquarters of the Reader's Digest, where he was a book editor. He was 56 years old.

Mr. Conger, who had suffered from a heart ailment for several years, collapsed in an elevator and was taken to the magazine's medical office where he was pronounced dead. He joined the magazine in 1966 as editorial manager of the general books division and was an editor of its major books. His home was at, 31 Clark Street, Pleasantville, [NY].

Seymour Beach Conger 3d, who did not use his first name, was born March 1, 1912 in Berlin. His father was chief of the Associated Press bureau there, and his early schooling was in Germany. He went to high school in Michigan and was graduated cum laude from the University of Michigan in 1932.

Mr. Conger joined World Letters Inc., which prepared material for use in geography and social sciences classes, in 1933 and in three years with the organization visited 89 countries on six continents.

He joined The Herald Tribune as a reporter-rewrite man and became a foreign correspondent in 1939. In November of that year, he was forced by the Nazis to leave Germany because he telephoned a dispatch that said the German Army High Command was resisting Hitler's demands that certain neutral countries be invaded.

After making Paris his headquarters, Mr. Conger was caught in Amsterdam on May 10, 1940, when the Germans invaded the Low Countries and was prevented from leaving the Netherlands for two months.

In a dispatch filed the day of the invasion, Mr. Conger vividly described his unsuccessful attempt to drive from Amsterdam to The Hague, in which he got caught in the crossfire between the Dutch defenders of Amsterdam and the Nazi invaders.

In 1932, I was fortunate to visit Washington, DC in the spring and spent several days with Charles Leslie Conger, who I recall had retired from the Smithsonian Institute and was living in the same house with several other relatives. Then Aunt Amy who lived within a block of our family home knew and wrote many relatives and I hope you have their history in what must be your vast files."

RECOLLECTIONS: On 4 Feb 1973, Fred Lauren Conger wrote to Maxine Leonard. The editor of our local paper recently sent me a copy of the account of the Conger picnic in Janesville. It was most interesting. I have passed it along to the remaining members of our family who also enjoyed it.

Obviously, there are at least a few Congers that you have missed. To the best of my knowledge, there are only two families in Kansas. We have never met together, although my father knew them before his death in 1962. They live on a dairy farm and the town is Iola, Kansas. (See Carl Clarence Conger)

I am the last Conger in our family as we have no boys to carry on the name, only two daughters. My mother, Mrs. Lauren E. Conger, is presently living in Yates Center but will soon move to a retirement home in Hutchinson.

My grandfather, Fred H. Conger, moved to Yates Center in the early 1900's and operated a lumber business until his death. He moved from Illinois to Missouri and then on to Kansas. I know he had some relatives in the Chicago area as I recall visiting them during the World's Fair in 1934. His nephew (my father's cousin) was a doctor and lived in Oak Park, IL. (Dr. Guy Parke Conger)

BIOGRAPHY:

I am down the line from Dr. James Westfall Conger, Ira Frank Conger, Elva May (Conger) Hinningson (my mother).

I married John Elden Menhusen in Kansas. We moved to Colorado in 1962. We lived up in the mountains over the Continental Divide. We ranched. Then Elden worked for a heavy equipment company. He ran the backhoe and other machinery. He passed away in Jan 1991.

I've been down in Lakewood, CO, a part of Denver, since 1996.

My oldest daughter and family live at Salome, AZ for 9 months of the year. They have several R.V. parks - for all the snow birds that go south for winter.

My other daughter lives in Alaska, down on the peninsula below Anchorage, along the Cooks Inlet. I like to spend summers up there. This time I will come home through Truax, Canada for the Conger reunion at my half-cousins. I've been there several times. They are great people.

Mrs. Bender had many civic interests. She was a local Girl Scout leader, a founder of the Peninsula Library, a president of the Peninsula Garden Club, and a council person for the Village of Peninsula. Mrs. Bender was often referred to as the "Bridge Lady". Her love of flowers and the community inspired her to plant and maintain flower boxes on the town bridge over the Cuyahoga River.

In 1969 she and her husband restored the Conger Family Homestead, an American Gothic house, constructed in 1844. The house was originally built from bricks fired from the Conger family brickyard.

Mrs. Bender was preceded in death after 49 years of marriage, by her husband, Henry G. Bender, co-founder of Bender & Loudon Motor Frieght & Jaite Packaging, Inc.

She is survived by daughters, Jean Preston, Gail McLean and her son, Robert Bender.

She was preceded in death by her brother, Robert Conger, and is survived by brothers, Elmer, Charles, George and Arthur Conger. She is also survived by 11 grandchildren; and one great- grandchild.

product development. This flux created one of the greatest personnel problems in the history of the national economy. Industry was desperate for talent, experienced executives, industrial managers, and professional personnel were available but, returning from service, were in need of counseling, guidance and direction to help them be considered for appropriate career opportunities.

A group of far - seeing executives from business, industry and research immediately recognized this problem and did something about it. They organized a personnel service enterprise -- today known as NESIC -- dedicated to the task of matching this available talent with industrial requirements and offering the needed direction to both corporate enterprise and the individual.

NESINC now has offices in New York City, Chicago, Philadelphia, Los Angeles, Houston, Cleveland, San Francisco, Atlanta and Washington, DC. Clients come from all 50 states and some foreign countries.

BIOGRAPHY: "Akron Beacon Journal," 12 Sep 1965

Hustle, whiz, rush, dart ... there are more than 60 words synonymous with speed. Every one of them could apply to the world of Peninsula's Charles Henry Conger.

As president of the Akron Trucking Association and sales vice president for Bender and Loudon Motor Freight in West Richfield, his life is dominated by speed. He deals in freight ... the business of moving material from one point to another as quickly as possible.

Wiry and prematurely gray, Charley Conger is at home in a world of fast deadlines and rapid deliveries. Shortly after five each morning, he whirls out of bed and hurtles into the indoor swimming pool adjoining the master bedroom of his home at 1570 Stine Road in Peninsula, [OH]. While the rest of his family sleeps, he swims 40 laps, then shaves, dresses, eats and rips off to his office. He is at his desk by 7:30, ready to answer a customer's frantic question about a badly needed shipment, or scurry off on a sales trip to Detroit.

"I hate to wait for anything," says Charley Conger. His friends will tell you he isn't kidding. It would seem that the only thing Charley ever waited for was the stork.

He was not the first son of Mr. and Mrs. E.B. Conger of Peninsula. He was the fourth in a family of five boys and one girl. Born on May 4, 1917, Charley looks back on his younger years in the easy village of Peninsula as rich and rewarding ones.

"The chance to grow up and live in a small town was one of the most valuable things of my life," he said. "It gave me a different outlook. In a small town, you do things yourself. You don't wait around for someone else to help you with your problems."

It was only natural that he made a home for his own family only a short distance from the original Conger homestead. While there was the usual swimming, fishing, running barefoot and berry picking, Charley never adopted the ambling pace of rural life.

When he was six years old he began delivering the Beacon Journal and another area newspaper. He continued this until he finished his college career.

In 1935, during the lean years of the Depression, Charley was graduated from high school. "There wasn't any money for college then," he said. "At the time, we had seven small gardens going just to raise food for the family."

Charley went to work with Bender and Loudon as a night billing clerk. During the day, he attended Hammel-Actual Business College. The next year, after completing the program at Hammel, he entered Kent State University. He would work from 6 p.m. until 2 a.m. at Bender and Loudon ... banging away on the billing machine. The next morning he would be in the classroom at Kent State at 8 a.m. He attended school on a year-round basis. "There wasn't much time for a social life," Charley recalls. "It was work, study, sleep, eat and that was it."

But somehow he managed to meet and marry the former Velma Early of Akron during his years of academic bedlam. They honeymooned between the Summer and Fall sessions of 1938. Two years later, Charley was graduated from Kent State. He was one of the top 10 of his class. While working full time, he had managed to complete four years of college in three and earn high honors doing it.

A fellow worker at Bender and Loudon recalls Charley's years as a combination night billing clerk, husband and student. "He'd come in at 6 and we'd hear the billing machine going like mad in the next room. Pretty soon it would start to slow down. Then it would stop. Somebody would go in and wake him up and the machine would start roaring again. Frankly, 'said the fellow-employee,' I don't know how he did it. He used to average three or four hours sleep a night seven days a week."

After graduation, Charley was appointed Cleveland terminal manager for the trucking firm. At 22, he was the youngest terminal manager in the business. This was in 1940.

One year later, Charley fell in love. "Greasepaint and footlights got me," he said. And so, he became one of the charter members of the now well-known Peninsula Players.

The first production was a theatrical unknown called, "The Spooky Tavern." It was presented in 1941 for the benefit of the local PTA. Charley was in it. He has been in countless productions since then ... ranging from lead roles to bit parts.

In 1963, he played the lead part of "Wingergreen" in the musical "Of Thee I Sing." He did sing, too. In fact, he sang so hard that he strained his voice and was forced to stay off the stage of the barn on Rt. 303 during the 1964 season and this year.

Charley lost more than his voice in "Of Thee I Sing." He also lost his gray hair. The part called for a younger man, and while Charley is only 48 years old, his snowy hair made him look much older on stage. The mistress of theater is a demanding one and Charley ended up with brown hair. Consequently, a great many purchasing agents, traffic managers and other business friends were surprised to see a new version of Charley Conger enter their offices while "Of Thee I Sing" was being presented.

A member of Peninsula Players says of his love of community theater, "it was never a question of "where's Charley?" He was always there. "Whenever he was in a show, we knew it would probably be a good one. He approaches each role like a professional. He is always one of the first to learn his lines. It rubs off on the rest of the cast."

There are about 625 people living in Peninsula. Nearly all of them know Charley. "The phrase 'community leader' has become awfully trite," says one resident. "But it's the best way to describe Charley."

He was one of the leaders of a drive to turn a dangerous, water-filled quarry into a new safe and lovely swimming facility in Peninsula. Charley was also one of the residents who went to Washington and convinced governmental highway planners that Peninsula should not be served by a major, interstate highway.

"Charley really loves this place," said a neighbor. It's not surprising. His father E.B. Conger, was Mayor of Peninsula for 27 years.

"We've got something valuable out here," Charley says. "It's beautiful country and there's less and less of that in our world. We have a way of life that's good, too. Living out here, you get to do things that you might not do in a big city. There's the PTA, the Boy Scouts, your church, the community theater and a lot of other things. In a big town, you might not find the time for these things. And you'd be less of a person because of it."

Charley Conger is a proud man. He is proud of his community. He loves his home, which sprawls under a thick woods. He and his wife built a good part of it. Business friends were not surprised when many of Charley's customers at Bender and Loudon came out to the house to help saw and paint in the woods.

He speaks warmly of his family. He and his wife, Velma, adopted three children during the early years of their marriage. Son Don, 18, will enter Michigan State University this fall. Their 17 year old twin daughters, Jane and Janet, will complete high school this year. And of course, he is proud of the pace he keeps. "I guess I am just the impatient type," he says. "I've got to be doing things. I'm not interested in slow people or the easy life."

You could say that Charley Conger has come a long way since those younger days in the little village of Peninsula. But he's less than a mile from where he started. True, he's vice-president in charge of sales for a major Ohio trucking company. He was appointed to the position in 1959. But, as he might tell you while racing for the door, "I'm still a small town guy having a lot of fun in life." His friends report this description is most accurate.

APPEARANCE-TRAITS: Charley Conger's description of himself, for the Conger book was, "Actor, Whiskey Tenor, whistler, 'Mouth Organist,' chorister, salesman, employed at Bender and Loudon Motor Freight continuously since 1935 in clerical, terminal management, sales management, presently Executive Vice-President."

BIOGRAPHY: From the "Akron Beacon Journal," 8 Jun 1965 - WASP Commanded by Native of Akron.

A native Akronite played a good-sized role in the history making Gemini 4 Space Shot. Capt. James W. Conger, a West High School graduate, commanded the aircraft carrier WASP which picked up the Astronauts.

Conger is the son of the later Latham Hubbard Conger, and the grandson of Akron pioneers, Colonel and Mrs. A.L. Conger. His mother, Mrs. Latham Conger, now lives in Weston, Mass., with her daughter, Mrs. Arthur Nichols.

Conger was graduated from West High in 1937. He spent the next year at Bullis School, Silver Spring, Maryland, preparing for the Naval Academy. He was appointed to Annapolis in 1938 by Congressman-at-Large, Harold G. Mosier of Cleveland.

For two years he held the Ohio high school 220 yard free style swimming championship and the State YMCA title for the same event. He was graduated in 1942 from the Naval Academy. After World War II he was stationed at Norfolk, VA, as executive officer of an aircraft squadron on the carrier Franklin D. Roosevelt. Since then he has served in several assignments. He has been in command of the WASP about a year.

BIOGRAPHY: From the New York Herald Tribune, 8 Jun 1965.

In speaking of the Gemini team: "They said very little except they were very damned glad to be aboard," said Admiral William W. McCormack, recover - operation commander. He and WASP Capt. James W. Conger were the first persons on the ship to welcome the spacemen aboard the carrier, which will be their home for the next three days.

Admiral McCormack and Capt. Conger escorted the astronauts between a double line of Marine Honor Guards and down a red carpet to a door leading below. The space twins walked with their arms slung around each other's shoulders and smiled as they left the deck.

(Source: The Conger Family of America, Vol. I, p. 263 - Maxine Crowell Leonard).

RECOLLECTIONS: When asked about his part in this event, Jim wrote on 30 Jun 1970: "The carrier was WASP and it was the first manned recovery of The Gemini, or Twin Series (known as G-74). As a result we received almost as much publicity as the first trip around the moon. It was the longest mission in space at that time and at at time when doctors weren't very sure whether man could survive weightlessness. It was also the mission when we had the 'space walk,' a first, by Ed White."

In his letter he mentioned that he had not seen Ned (Clayton Ned Conger, also a Naval Officer) since about 1960.

RESIDENCES: 1825 Osaukie Road; Owosso, MI 48867; still there as of Dec 2001.

RECOLLECTIONS:

Ivan Albert Conger wrote on 23 Aug 1969: I was the one who gathered all the information for the first copy of our Conger History -- Descendants of Job A. Conger. It was published in March of 1959 after about two years of gathering information. Some of the chapters were written by members of that particular branch and then I put them all together and had them published. Seven of us advanced the money for printing and then we got our money back as they were sold. We still have approximately 30 copies left and with the proceeds from these we plan on getting a family tree made up for distribution.

Genealogy is very interesting and can also be very nerve - racking, due to the many sources of information and the many different dates for one single part. I enjoy it very much but do not have much time for it. I am especially interested because I now am the president of our Shiawassee County Historical Society. This all ties very closely with genealogy. I think it is just wonderful that there have been so many members of the family over the years who have had so much of an interest in getting this information all put together."

On 28 October 1970 he reported that, the descendants of Job Conger and Harriet Jewell met at his house in June for the 8th year in a row. He wrote, "The first year (1963) we had 20 people present -- an increase of 8 over 1962. We had 76 this year, an increase of 20 over last year. I had put in a swimming pool. We had many new ones for the first time and many who hadn't been to a reunion for a good many years. I was just overjoyed!

They all love to come here to our home. We have a large back yard and plenty of shade. Have a park right behind me if some want to go play there. Everyone really has a ball and says, 'they didn't know what they were missing but will be back again.' Each year they vote to come back without even asking if they can. They just insist! We love it even if it is a lot of work. Besides, with results like that -- 20 to 76 -- how could we ever think of refusing?"

BIRTH-QUESTION: In what county did the birth occur?

BIRTH-NAME: Born, Graydon Conger, he changed his name to Richard Conger.

MARRIAGE: Krista Conger reports that Richard Wright Conger was married twice before he married Esther Joy Sprecher. There were probably 6 children from these two marriages.

DIVORCE: The marriage of Richard Wright Conger and Esther Joy Sprecher ended in divorce in 1981.

MARRIAGE-NO_ISSUE: Richard Conger married 3 or 4 times after he was married to Esther Joy Sprecher. There was no issue of these relationships.

CREMATION: Richard Wright Conger was cremated at the Crystal Rose Funeral Home in Phoenix, AZ on 22 Aug 1995. As of April 2000 the ashes are in the possession of his son, Barry. Eventually, Barry plans to spread the ashes on Mt. McKinley in Alaska in accordance with his father's wishes.

RECOLLECTIONS:

Richard Conger had a very interesting life. There are many family stories that his ex-wife, Esther, tells that are almost unbelievable. When his children, Barry and Toni, were little the family would drive from Phoenix to Alaska each summer in a converted school bus. Richard would do construction work on the Alaska highway. They would return to Arizona in the fall so the kids could attend school.

In Arizona he was a member of the musician's union and played saxophone in local clubs.

For at least a couple of years, Esther home-school the children in the bus and they spent the whole year driving around the country (at speeds never exceeding 20 mph, to hear Barry tell it).

Richard was a self-taught photographer and some of his photos of the Alaskan landscape and wildlife can still be seen on postcards available along the Alaska highway.

He also worked as an animal handler for Walt Disney during the filming of "Nanuck, Wild Dog of the North."

RECOLLECTIONS:

When the Depression hit, Daddy lost his position at the Minneapolis Moline so we went to Missouri to join his parents who had left Minneapolis earlier. Grandpa Van Doren was alone when Grandma had died that year. Daddy and Grandpa McDanel farmed together 9 years. When the war approached in 1941, Daddy was called back to work as a crane man. We sold everything we had and went back to the city. Grandpa Van Doren had died. After the sale of all our goods, inside and outside, we cleared $500. I had just graduated from high school, Doris was a senior and Donal was a freshman.

OBITUARY: Tex Conger

Tex Conger, born 9 September, 1938, passed away at age 62, at his home December 20, 2000. He is survived by his wife, Jeannette, and his four children, his sixteen grandchildren, mother, three brothers and four sisters.

Tex was a native of Tacoma, WA where he and his wife raised their four children. An extraordinary achiever, he studied for and passed his Certified Public Accountants exam in one attempt at age 20. He is one of the few people in Washington state history to ever have done so. Tex was a well-recognized landmark in Tacoma's business landscape. He established and ran his own accounting firm for over 35 years. In recent years, he also offered financial planning and investment services as a registered investment advisor. He was honored as one of the top producers in the nation for his company on an almost annual basis.

As a faithful member of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, Tex devoted much of his life to serving others. The members of his youth Sunday School class, now grown and with children of their own, look back with fond memories on the times they spent with him and the lessons he taught them. Tex served in many roles through the years while working in the church's lay clergy. He was a well-loved bishop in the Key Center area. Many have benefitted by his constant concern for those around him.

His final day was spent with his wife, helping give a Christmas party for inmates at the Women's Correctional Facility in Purdy, WA.

Funeral services will be held on Tuesday, December 26, 2000 at 11 a.m. at the LDS

In Memoriam - William Albrecht Beasley 1936-2001

Conventional wisdom has it that we have gathered together this afternoon, not to acknowledge a death, but to celebrate a life. If this is true, the life we have chosen to honor is distinguished not so much by its ordinary aspects as by the varying degrees of uniqueness it contained. No one played it to the hilt with quite the gusto as Bill Beasley. No one burned his candles at both ends with such dazzling brilliance. A fitting epitaph might read, "He Did As He Damned Pleased."

Most of us in our daily lives are regulated by a censoring device that bleeps a frantic warning signal the moment we're tempted to speak too candidly or indulge ourselves too excessively. Bill Beasley was not subject to such inhibiting restraints. As soon as a thought appeared in his head, he uttered it, with little regard for the consequences. There was no mediating device between thought and execution, no filter to screen out the rough edges, the harsh tone. He thought, he spoke, the words emerged as words should honestly and directly, as simple and emphatic as a hammer blow.

I always imagined him as some great primal being, a sloth or woolly mammoth, traversing a vast and powerful landscape, looking for food, water, perhaps another creature to couple with. He lived a highly charged existence on the level of the animal senses, which all too often disguised the workings of a keen and subtle intelligence. He was enormously gifted, and while he may have squandered many of those gifts, he managed to blend what was left into the tapestry of a totally original personality. If there is one word that conveys the impact of who he was, it is that. Bill Beasley was a bonafide American original. He was unique. He was inimitable. He stuck out on the threadbare carpet of everyday life like a bright, thorny, colorful plant.

Those of us closest to him - his sons and friends - were privileged to experience the full effect of his flamboyant character. When he was on, sitting at a bar, relaxed, puffing his pipe, sipping a glass of wine, there was no one more congenial or appealing. He had the genius for friendship, which people sensed and sought out. He radiated a glow, a personal magnetism, I daresay a kind of glamour, that at times seemed larger than life. To be with him during the blissful shank of an autumn afternoon, with the leaves twirling down and the images of football players flickering across a TV screen, was to partake of a pleasure that seemed to have no beginning or middle or end, but to go on and on in endless succession of delightful sensations.

He seemingly did not wish to be understood, only appreciated and enjoyed. I remember our mother warning me at an early age, "Now don't laugh at him," she would say, "you'll only encourage him."

But I couldn't help it. No one could make me laugh like Bill Beasley. The stories he could tell! The jokes he could crack! They tumbled forth from his whirring brain in rapid-fire succession. He could think quicker on his feet than anyone I ever knew; what a writer he might have been! Endlessly inventive, outrageously obscene, fearlessly imaginative, tossing off joke after joke with the supreme nonchalance of the born entertainer.

Billy, you were complex to a degree that no one, least of all yourself, could possibly understand. Under that brash, defiant exterior beat the heart of a vulnerable human being, which now and then we glimpsed, but only for a moment before the tide of rhetoric reasserted itself, obscuring that other, secret part we all yearned to know more about. You contained within the excesses of your bravura personality the seeds of true greatness - generosity and compassion, insight, understanding, humor and enchantment. Every time I thought I had you pegged, that I could pin down with a word or descriptive phrase, you confounded me and sent me spinning off into space wondering what new bag of tricks you'd come up with next. You were protean, a true life force, tough and rudimentary, cranky and assertive, tender and mesmeric. No doubt Arduus and Conger, and yes, our beloved Sylvester Bell, have welcomed you back into their old, and even as we speak I know that somewhere you are flashing that radiant smile cracking joke after joke.

So long Billy. You were the last of the Wildwood boys, a direct descendant of the bushwhackers who stormed the Missouri border during the days of the Civil War. You asked no quarter, and gave none. You were a law unto yourself, and you rode like a demon through the moon-drenched night, crackling and shouting at the top of your lungs. So long, my dear brother, and may the spirits that smiled upon you in your short lie here on earth watch over you in the afterlife with the loving devotion you so richly deserve.

(Eulogy given by his brother - furnished by Marc Conger Beasley)

William Albrecht Beasley passed away early on the morning of September 4, 2001, after a lengthy illness. He was born on May 21, 1936, in St. Joseph, Missouri. He went to Noyes School and Central High School, where he graduated in the class of 1954. He then attended the University of Oklahoma and the University of Colorado and finally Washington University in St. Louis.

He served in the United States Army from 1956 to 1960. Returning to St. Joseph, he worked at the family business of Pearl NuWay Laundry and Dry Cleaning.

In 1970 he moved to Northern Arkansas, where he eventually settled in as a trout fishing guide on the White River. He was a talented river man, with a gift for reading the vagaries of the shifting water and even a greater gift for enticing fish to hook themselves on his line. It was a simple life, strenuous and energetic, and he thrived on it.

It was at this time that he discovered the delight of white-water rafting, and he went on numerous rafting and kayaking trips on the rivers of the American Southwest, particularly the Colorado, San Juan, and Green.

He also worked as a wrangler for Red Mountain Outfitters in Alamosa, Colorado, participating in elk-hunting parties in the San Juan Mountains. It was rough work, harsh and demanding at high altitudes, but he thrived on it as well.

He left Arkansas in the late 1980's to look after his ailing father who resided in Colorado and Southern California. When his father died in 1997, he returned to St. Joseph, where he lived until the time of his own demise.

He leaves three sons, eight grandchildren, one brother, and a big clattery Ford diesel truck, which he drove all over the U.S. in search of adventure. If there were a bridge across the Pacific Ocean to Japan, he would have driven it.

He loved being outdoors. He loved fish and wildlife of every sort. He was one tough hombre who never complained no matter how foul the weather, elusive the game, or tasteless the food.

He was deeply loved by everyone who knew him.

RECOLLECTIONS:

My grandmother was Nanette Maud Conger, born 1875, daughter of Job Clifton Conger, born 1845 and Emeline Hines.

She was the town belle, and had fallen in love with a young doctor who was already married. He refused to divorce his wife, who was dying of tuberculosis, and he asked Nanette to wait until nature took its course. Piqued, she married the "next young man who asked," who happened to be Mr. Samuel Blosier. Their first child was a stillborn girl. The second, named Bonnie Lee, was born 26 Jan 1902 in Macon, GA. On 26 Nov 1904, Nanette Maud Conger divorced Samuel Blosier in Keytesville, MO.

Later she married John Lewis (Lou) Keefe and had daughters Emily Frances and Lou (named for her father. John Lewis loved Bonnie dearly and treated her as his own, although he never legally adopted her. It is not known if she used the name Blosier or Keefe in school. About 1919, John Lewis Keefe and family moved to San Antonio, TX where he became sales manager for the Hoffman Water Heater Company.

After school, Bonnie, who was extremely pretty, went to New York and found work in vaudeville. She used BONNIE LEE as a stage name. She danced in the Ziegfield Follies, had bit parts in several movies, and went on the road with the show BOMBO.

Then history repeated itself. Bonnie fell in love with a married man named Edward Harbeck. But, on 20 Apr 1925 she married another man, Charles Cohen, whom she apparently did not love. She lived with Cohen for a time in New York City, but on 8 Sep 1930 in San Antonio, TX she had a child, named, Nanette. The birth was supposedly two months premature, but the doctor assured the anxious Mr. Cohen that the child was "perfectly normal." A divorce was granted on 10 Dec 1931.

Edward Harbeck did divorce his wife, he remarried almost immediately to another woman, not Bonnie.

Bonnie then went by the name of Keefe, the surname of her step-father. John Lewis Keefe died in 1933, leaving many debts. Bonnie went to work to support her mother (Nanette Maud) and her own baby, Nanette.

In 1936, when time came for baby Nanette to begin school, there was a question of a last name. Bonnie did not want to use the name "Cohen" because of anti-Semitism (and it wasn't true). On the other hand she had no claim to "Harbeck", so it was decided to use the name "Keefe." This created another "Nanette Keefe," same as my grandmother. This lengthy tale is necessary to explain why my maiden name appears as, Nannetee Keefe, everywhere, (all certificates) and yet I am not a "Keefe."

Until Ed Harbeck died in 1952, he wandered in and out of our lives, never leaving, but never making any commitment. I saw him three times in my life. The first time he and mother met on the mezzanine of the Gunter Hotel. I was so small that I remember sitting on the floor and looking down through the balcony railings. The second time was in the lobby of the St. Anthony's Hotel, under the painting of the eagle on the cliff. The third time he came to dinner on Hammond Avenue -- and instructed my mother that roast should always be cut across the grain. I was a teenage then, and embarrassed mother by giggling too much.

Ed Harbeck was a career Air Force officer, and always wore his uniform. During WWII he was stationed in the Aleutians and volunteered for extra missions as Squadron Leader, for which he was handsomely paid. This money, unknown to his current wife, bought war bonds in my name - $10,000 worth. He also sent me a beautiful necklace made of Alaskan gold nuggets, now very valuable, but priceless to me for its value as acknowledgment.

When he retired he settled in Boerne, a small town near San Antonio. He rented a post office box in San Antonio, just across the street from the building in which my mother had worked for 20 years. This was so she could contact him. I was told to call him, "Uncle Ed," a euphemism which fooled nobody.

In 1953, after Ed's death, Bonnie finally remarried, John Nugent Scoggins. However, she remained "Mrs. Bonnie Lee Keefe" in all business transactions, until her death in 1974.

As for the bonds, I was grown and married when they reached maturity. Ed's widow put in a claim for half of the money. I didn't need it, so relinquished all of it to her. (Written by Nanette Keefe Reichert)

NAME: Clarence Eugene Conger, 1927, is one member of the family who took the time to look in the dictionary for the name CONGER. He wrote, "It's a species of marine eel, 'Leptocephalis conger.' Being a marine animal, and since submarines are named after such, there is a submarine named CONGER. My friend in the reserves has even seen it in his convoy. He said it has a distinguished WWII record."

He continued, "Various eels have their peculiar traits, etc. The one thing differing a Conger from the Moray or Electric eels is it cough. An article on eel fishing pointed that out with no further description. Whether others have a cough or not was not mentioned."

(Source: The Conger Family of America, Vol. I, p. 39a - Maxine Crowell Leonard)

BIOGRAPHY: Clarence Eugene Conger wrote to Beach Conger on 29 Oct 1968, saying, "I'm a member of the Toledo International Institute and a board member also. I participate in its International Festivals every year. I wear a German costume and I folk dance one or two nights per week. My wife has two costumes, plus one on loan, and my son has a costume. In fact, we've had an enlargement of a family picture painted in oil showing us all in costume.

"This gives you some idea as to how I'm interested in the genealogical research and other related subjects. I feel that we'd have less delinquency if people (young and old) felt they had some roots and a 'place' in our fluid society. Our culture is so mobile that there's little time or place which can afford any ties. For sure we have a young nation, but ties go back further. This fact could bring about a stabilizing young girl I learned to tap dance, ballet and to do acrobats. We returned to Colorado in the early 1950's. I attended two years of high school at Gunnison, Colorado. Then we moved to Delta Colorado where I graduated in 1958. In the fall of 1958 I went to Denver to go to Parks Business College. Upon completion I returned to Delta but was unable to find work so my girl friend and I joined the US Marine Corps. I went through boot camp at Parris Island, SC. While home on boot camp leave I met and married my husband Tom Shipley on June 21, 1959 at Delta Co. I returned to SC and worked in a Civil Service office until my discharge in March of 1960.

We own our home and 12 acres. I do crafts of all kinds, sewing, and gardening. I have made over 50 porcelain dolls from start to finish. I design their clothes for the most part. I have won two blue ribbons but have only entered for judging twice. Tom and I both like to travel even though we don't get to much. We fish a great deal. We have a motorhome and we each have a 4 wheeler.

We have a pond that we grow all kinds of water plants especially water lilies and have all sizes of Gold Fish, this is one of our delights. We also have 11 peacocks, they are such beautiful birds.

We enjoy our children and grandchildren.

Tom and I will have been married 43 years in June of 2002.

MILITARY: Career military man with the U.S. Army

RECOLLECTIONS:

Our oldest son, Roger Dean Shipley, was born Aug 10, 1960 at Gunnison, Colorado. We then moved to Nucla, Colorado where Tom worked in the uranium mines, after his mine caved in, we decided to return to the military, Tom had been in the Marine Corps before I married him. He rejoined the US Army and was sent to Maine. Shortly, I followed and there our second son, William Harrison, was born Jan 28, 1962 at Van Buren, Maine. In January 1963 we transferred to Anchorage, Alaska, where, on June 18, 1964, our first daughter, Darla Shawn, was born. We lived in Alaska for 5 years. Next, we lived on Sandy Hook, NJ for three and one half years. Then we moved to Utah for one year. When Tom went overseas to Korea, I returned to Colorado. When he returned we moved to Topsfield, Mass. We were there for 6 months, then transferred to Fort Carson, Colorado where our second daughter, Letitia Elaine, was born on Jan 22, 1975. Tom was then transferred to Germany so I moved to Olathe, Colorado in Nov 1975. The older kids were going into high school so we remained here.

While moving in the military I worked as a cook or waitress in both NCO and Officer

Clubs. When Tom was in Germany I worked at Russell Stover Candies for 3 1/2 years then worked for my dad at the bowling alley for 15 years. I gave up working in 1993 because I am almost deaf and it made it very hard to work in public.

Tom retired from the Army in Sept 1979. After retiring Tom milked cows for Webbs Dairy here in Olathe for 5 years. Then he went to work for Louisiana Pacific, where they make waferwood. He ran heavy equipment, his main job was to unload logs off the logging trucks. He worked there over 13 years. He left LP in May of 2000. As of Feb 2002 he works part time construction running heavy equipment. Basically retired now, he loves to hunt and fish.

EDUCATION: B.A. Biochemistry, 1990; Ph.D. Cancer Biology, 1999

BIOGRAPHY: So, what's a girl to do with her time? In my quest to remain a perpetual student, I have spent the last 12 years hopping around from school-to-school in the San Francisco Bay Area. I guess you could say that I'm a slug-loving bear up a tree. I started as a science-happy undergraduate at UC Berkeley, transisted into the prototypical work-aholic graduate student at Stanford, and after six years fled research science to become a science journalist.

I was aided in my career switch by the really excellent Science Communication Program at UC Santa Cruz, where I had the good fortune to make some great friends while being taught by some fabulous working journalists.

I have since been supporting myself (kind of) by writing for the Stanford Medical Center News Bureau's weekly paper, the Stanford Report. Links to on-line writing samples can be found on my webpage. While a lot of work went into those articles, I am by far the most proud of my most recent production--our daughter Annabel. Being a connected kind of Valley girl (that's Silicon Valley for you non-Californians!), she has her own web page and fan club.
